RULES OF THE CONFERENCE

ARTICLE I. — Name

This body shall be called The Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

ARTICLE II. — Object

Its object is to promote (a) intercourse and fellowship between Congregational ministers and churches of the Commonwealth; (b) the cooperation of the churches with one another for their mutual comfort and development, and for the religious care of the home field; (c) the presentation and discussion of matters vital to our faith, and the interests of our denomination; and (d) the cooperation of this body with other ecclesiastical bodies for the general increase of Christian union and spiritual efficiency, and the advancement of Christ's kingdom in the earth.

ARTICLE III. — Doctrinal Basis

This Conference approves the Declaration of Faith adopted by the National Council of Congregational Churches in the year 1865, and the subsequent Declaration of the Commission of 1883; the system of belief therein set forth being understood by us to be a summary of the Historic Doctrines held by the churches of New England as the teachings of the Gospel.

ARTICLE IV. — Denominational Basis

Being based exclusively upon Congregational principles, this Conference shall, under no circumstances, exercise ecclesiastical authority over churches or individuals, or interfere with the government or discipline of the churches, or consent to hear appeals, or give advice in ecclesiastical causes of any kind.

ARTICLE V. — Members

1. Each evangelical Congregational Church, Conference, and Association in this Commonwealth may choose one delegate, and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of this body, two delegates from the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, and one from Andover Theological Seminary, shall constitute the Conference.

2. Delegates from corresponding bodies, ministers appointed to preach before the Conference, and chairmen of committees who attend to present reports, together with such other persons as the Conference may vote to admit, shall be honorary members, with the privilege of speaking, but without vote.

ARTICLE VI. — Officers

1. The officers shall be a Moderator, a Vice-Moderator, a Secretary, a Registrar, an Assistant Registrar, and a Treasurer. All members of Congregational churches in this Commonwealth shall be eligible to any of these offices. The officers shall be elected by ballot, the Moderator and Vice-Moderator each to serve one year, the other officers each to serve three years and until the election of their successors. The terms of all officers, save when chosen to fill vacancies, shall begin at the close of the meeting at which they are elected.

2. The officers, together with three delegates annually chosen by ballot for this purpose, shall constitute an Executive Committee.

3. The Moderator, or in his absence, the Vice-Moderator, shall preside over all the meetings of the Conference and shall be chairman of the Executive Committee.

4. (a) The Secretary shall conduct the correspondence of the Conference, collect and publish in connection with the annual "Minutes" the statistics of ministers and churches, distribute the publications of the Conference, copies of which he shall preserve for permanent use, give suitable notice to the churches of the time and place of each annual meeting, notify officers and committees of their election or appointment, and fulfill such other functions as the Conference may from time to time direct.

(b) The Secretary shall receive a salary of seven hundred and fifty dollars, and by the authority and under the direction of the Executive Committee, he may, when necessary, employ an assistant, at a compensation to be fixed by the Executive Committee.

5. The Registrar shall keep a full record of each meeting, which he shall preserve as the permanent property of the Conference, and he shall also keep the minutes of the Executive Committee.

6. The Assistant Registrar shall aid the Registrar in making the records; shall take his place during his absence; and, in the event of a vacancy in the Registrar's office, shall act as Registrar until the office shall be filled by the Executive Committee or by a regular election.

7. The Treasurer shall receive all money raised for the use of the Conference, disburse the same as directed by the Executive Committee and shall make an annual report, to be audited as the Conference may direct.

8. The Executive Committee shall have charge of all the interests and business of the Conference between the annual meetings, shall fill all vacancies occurring during the interim, and shall make an annual report to the Conference.

9. The traveling expenses of the Secretary, Registrar, Assistant Registrar and Treasurer, in attending the annual meetings, shall be paid by the Conference.

ARTICLE VII. — Trustees

1. A board of five Trustees shall also be elected, two to serve three years, two to serve two years, and one to serve one year; and on each election succeeding the first, the successors of those whose terms expire shall be chosen for three years and until others are appointed in their stead by ballot; and all members of Congregational churches in this state shall be eligible thereto.

2. The Board of Trustees shall hold and manage trust funds for the benefit of the Conference and perform such duties as may be prescribed by vote of the Conference for their government, making an annual report to the Conference. The Trustees may receive such property, real and personal, as may be given to the Conference or to the Board of Trustees to be invested, used, and managed in such manner as the Conference shall from time to time direct; and in the absence of such vote of the Conference, in such manner as a majority of the Trustees shall by vote determine at any regular or special meeting of the Board of Trustees, for the use and benefit of the objects of the Conference.

ARTICLE VIII. — Annual Meeting

1. The annual meeting shall be held at the appointed place on the third Tuesday of May at two o'clock P.M., or at such other hour as the Executive Committee may find expedient.

ARTICLE X. — Committees

1. Immediately after the opening of the annual meeting the Moderator shall appoint: —

(a) A Committee on Credentials, to which all credentials shall be referred.

All matters of business presented by any member of the Conference shall be referred to the Business Committee unless ordered to some other committee by the Conference. All matters of business referred to any committee shall be reported for action before the final adjournment of the annual meeting.

2. At each annual meeting there shall be elected by viva voce vote:

(a) A Program Committee of eight members, of which the Secretary of the Conference and the pastor of the Church which is to entertain the next annual meeting shall be members ex-officiis, the other members to be elected two for three years, two for two years, and two for one year, subsequent elections to be for three years each. This committee shall prepare the program for the next annual meeting, selecting the preacher of the annual sermon, and the various speakers for each session.

(b) A Committee of two, to be elected for one year, to audit the Treasurer's report.

(c) A Nominating Committee of five, to be elected for one year, which shall nominate all the officers of the Conference, and all committees not otherwise provided for in these Rules.

(d) Such other committees as the Conference may vote to elect. Members of these committees shall be elected for such terms as the Conference shall determine. The Executive Committee shall present at each annual meeting a list of the committees the appointment of which it recommends.

3. The reports of all committees that are to be presented to the Conference shall be furnished to the Secretary on or before April 1 of each year and shall be printed and distributed to the churches not less than two weeks before the annual meeting.

The Business Committee made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That the Massachusetts Congregational Conference in annual meeting assembled approves the Child Labor Bill, known as the Keating-Owen Bill, and requests our representatives in the United States Senate, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge and Hon. John W. Weeks, to do all that is possible to hasten its consideration and enactment.

That a committee of fifteen be appointed, said committee to serve until the campaign is completed, to carry into effect the following resolutions on Ministerial Relief:

Whereas, the National Council of Congregational Churches at the meeting in New Haven declared that " the supreme duty of the years in which we approach the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrims is the securing of a Fund of not less than $3,000,000, of which $1,000,000 shall be devoted to Ministerial Relief and $2,000,000 to the Annuity Fund ";

And, Whereas, our churches should make provision for protecting their ministers in old age or disability, both as a moral obligation dictated by every fraternal consideration and also as an imperative need, if the historic spirit and power of the Congregational Churches is to be conserved;

And, Whereas, the Congregational Churches of Massachusetts have most obvious historic reasons for enlisting in an enterprise which seeks at once to honor the Pilgrim and to extend the gracious influences of a Pilgrim ministry;

Therefore Be It Resolved by the Massachusetts Congregational Conference in its One Hundred and Fourteenth Meeting assembled:

First: That the above declaration of the National Council is accepted by this body as the plain path of duty.

Second: That a committee to be known as The Massachusetts Annuity Fund and Ministerial Relief Campaign Committee be appointed by this body to seek, in cooperation with such representatives of the National Council as may be charged with kindred forms of service, with the Board of Ministerial Relief, the Massachusetts Board of Ministerial Aid and the Congregational churches of the State, to make this declaration of the National Council effective in Massachusetts.

Third: That the Congregational churches of the State are hereby urged to make early provision to have this most worthy cause presented to their people and that they invite the cooperation of the committee.

The following telegram was received from the New Hampshire Congregational Conference;

"The General Conference of Congregational churches of New Hampshire in session at Milford in its 107th annual meeting sends you heartiest fraternal greetings and commends you in your work for the coming year under the leadership of our Master."

It was voted that the Business Committee send a reply.

The time for taking up the regular program having arrived, it was voted that the time for business be extended.

The following recommendations of the Business Committee were adopted:

We heartily endorse the important work of the Lord's Day League of New England and commend it to our churches. We recommend, as is now the practice of some denominations and individual churches, that the churches of this body put the Lord's Day League upon their budgets or make provision for annual offerings to the League in such a way as they may prefer.

We respectfully petition the proper authorities to refuse license or permission to military companies or cadets to use Sunday for military drills and maneuvers; and we earnestly call upon the officials of institutions of learning throughout the state to restrain the student military bodies from using the Lord's Day for military marching and maneuvers.

That Whereas: Present world conditions call for — A clearer recognition of the Christian principles of the brotherhood of men,

The practice of righteousness and goodwill between nations as between individuals,

The substitution of judicial processes for war in the settlement of international disputes, and

The embodiment of these principles in national policies and laws, not merely as an abstract ideal, but as a practical conviction for whose development the Christian Churches have special Responsibility,

Therefore, Be It Resolved: That this Massachusetts Conference of Congregational Churches welcomes the invitation of the American Council of the World Alliance for Promoting International Friendship through the Churches, to cooperate in this great work, that this body herewith establishes a Commission for this purpose, to consist of five members, to be elected by the Conference, and that we endorse the invitation of the American Council of the World Alliance to our congregations to establish local Committees to cooperate with the Executive Committee of the Council.

That we refer to the Committee on Revision of Rules the question of the advisability of changing the time of the opening of the Conference meeting to Monday, evening when the Conference sermon shall be preached; and the time of closing to Wednesday noon or evening, this change to be tested by experiment before permanent adoption.

That the following message be sent to President Wilson:

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference, assembled at Cambridge, Mass., in its one hundred and fourteenth annual meeting, urges upon you, and upon Congress through you, the desirability of taking steps immediately toward the forming of a Union of all States of all America, for the purpose of maintaining the present status quo territorially of the several nations, and of securing and maintaining peace and order between the nations and also in the domestic affairs of the several nations.

The recommendation presented by Samuel Usher, for the Committee on Ministers' Salaries, was adopted:

That the further consideration of the question of ministers serving churches within the Commonwealth and not now receiving the minimum salary, be committed to the Home Missionary Society; and that said Society be instructed to make the salary in all such cases equal the minimum, where the condition of full service to the church and the community exists; provided however that such action has the approval of the church.

The following nominations by the Committee on Nominations were confirmed:

The following resolution regarding the date for holding the National Council was adopted:

The Conference does not feel that a change of the date of the National Council to May is advisable on account of the numerous state meetings now held in that month. This action, however, does not imply a fixed preference for October, support for other months, especially September, having appeared in our discussion.

The Budget Committee made the following report, which was adopted:

The Budget Committee desire to renew the recommendation of the committee of last year that the Treasurer of the Conference hereafter meet with the Committee to explain, advise and recommend concerning matters of Conference finance. The committee finds that the burden of raising the apportionment of our churches for the support of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches by private subscriptions, should be lessened, and in view of the work being done by the Federation, it recommends that the $600 requested by the Committee on Federation be granted by the Conference. The vote of the Conference that one delegate from each Home Missionary Church should have railroad expenses paid by the Conference makes necessary a grant of $325. We find that the decreased expenses of the Board of Pastoral Supply will make possible these grants without an increase of the assessment, which we recommend to be 7½ cents per member, as last year. The budget is as follows:

National Council (130,380 members, 4 cents)		$5,215.20
Board of Pastoral Supply (1½ cents per member)		1,955.70
Massachusetts Federation of Churches		600.00
Secretary's Salary		750.00
Secretary's Expenses		150.00
Printing		600.00
Committees:
Missionary	$100.00
Education	75.00
Men's Work	25.00
Rural work	50.00
Social Welfare	75.00
Evangelistic	25.00
		350.00
Contingent		200.00
R. R. expenses of delegates from Home Mission Churches		325.00
Speakers' expenses		50.00
		$10,195.90

To meet these liabilities the committee recommends an assessment of 7½ cents per member, netting $9,778.50, and that the remainder be made up from unexpended funds now in the hands of the treasurer.

At 10.30 the Conference listened to an address by Prof. W. E. Hocking, of Cambridge, on "The Christian Attitude Toward War." On account of lack of time, Rev. F. W. Hodgdon, who was to speak on "The Campaign to Protect the Minister in Old Age or Disability," gave place to Rev. E. M. Noyes, of Newton Center, who spoke on the subject "America's Obligation for Service after the War."

The Business Committee recommended the following resolutions, which were adopted:

At the close of this one hundred and fourteenth annual meeting of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference we desire to put on record our appreciation of its service to us personally and to the churches we represent. We express our thanks to the Committee, for their wisdom and efficiency in securing so effective speakers on such timely subjects, to the speakers, especially the Rev. G. Glenn Atkins, of Providence, R. I., Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Talcott Williams of New York City, Pres. A. Lawrence Lowell and Prof. Wm. Ernest Hocking, of Harvard University, for their notable addresses. We are grateful to the First Congregational Church and its pastor for their cordial and ample hospitality, to the sisterhood of churches in the city with their pastors, and to Andover Seminary for their faithful cooperation; to Andover Seminary for the courtesy of its gymnasium for the men's banquet, to the Epworth Church for the use of its chapel and church, to the Episcopal Theological School for the use of class rooms, to Harvard University for the use of the Phillips Brooks House, to the Boy Scouts who anticipated our needs and ran our errands, and to all others who bore any part in making this meeting memorable for good cheer, wisdom, and inspiration.

The report of the Credentials Committee was presented by Rev. G. L. Parker, of Somerville, and was accepted:

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

For the first time in the one hundred and fourteen years of this body, we meet in Cambridge. Nor have we met before with the Suffolk North Association except for two visits to Chelsea in 1848 and 1877. Yet we recall that Cambridge was on the ecclesiastical map in early colonial days, though its famous "platform" is not in tangible evidence today like Plymouth Rock. Massachusetts Congregationalism has progressed wonderfully since those days, from the statistician's point of view. The Year Book credits us with having, on January 1, 604 churches with a membership in excess of 130,000; Trinity of North Attleboro disbanded in October, but the Swedish church of Beverly and the new Finnish church of Worcester have come into our fellowship. Since January, two new churches have been organized, in Dedham and Worcester, and will be counted in next year.

The roll of pastors has been broken five times by death, twice tragically, when George Wolcott Brooks, just beginning at South Sudbury after twenty-five years at the Village church, Dorchester, dropped in a moment, and when Arthur Howe Pingree, thirteen years at Norwood, died in the waves in a heroic attempt to save the life of a young parishioner. George S. Rollins of Springfield Hope and Edward P. Root of the two Becket churches died after brief illness, as did Henry E. Warren, not ordained, serving at New Boston. Elisha G. Cobb of Florence and Perley B. Davis of Hyde Park were emeritus pastors. George H. Flint had but just left his Dorchester church under compulsion of fatal illness. Four men in our associations were holding pastorates in other states: Harry C. Adams, killed by a locomotive, had just gone to Lake Alfred, Florida; Alford B. Penniman was at Calumet, Michigan; Rufus S. Underwood at Tuckahoe, New York, and George Y. Washburn at Grafton, Vermont. Besides these were nine veterans retired from active service, whose ministerial life had averaged forty-seven years: John Dooly, Sereno D. Gammell, James H. Laird, Sylvester S. Nickerson, Theodore P. Prudden, William S. Smith, Herbert W. Stebbins, John L. R. Trask, and Joshua W. Wellman. Of this full score of men we say tenderly and truly, "They rest from their labors and their works do follow them."

The gathering of statistics does not grow easier from year to year. This time it dragged wearily, and yet at the last the copy sent to the Year Book included every church; usually a few ultra-slow ones get in only in the proofreading. The statistics reveal a year of aggressive work. Church membership stands at 130,380, with 42,110 men and 88,270 women. Additions were 5,750 on confession and 3,545 by letter, a total of 9,295.

Losses were 2,071 by death, 2,841 by letter, and 1,754 by revision, a total of 6,666. There were 2,546 adult baptisms, and 3,191 of little children. The Sunday school enrolment is 129,957; that of young people's societies, 26,795; of men's clubs, 18,856; and of boys, 4,376. Church membership gained 2,629, only four times exceeded in available records; 48 per cent. of this gain is of men. Additions on confession are the largest on record, 5,750, just ahead of 5,734 six years ago and of 5,698 in 1877. A comparison of the rival records of 1909 and 1915, as regards additions on confession and net gain, shows that this year the growth is state wide and not chiefly metropolitan. Eighteen of our associations report more converts now than then, and of the other seven only the three Suffolks and Woburn show large decrease, because of their abnormal growth after the Chapman campaign. The same is true of the total membership. Of the gain of 3,047 in 1909, two-thirds were credited to these four associations, and there were nine in the state that showed a loss. This year only three have lost in membership, Woburn 3, Worcester North 22, and Andover 156, due to wholesale roll revision in Lawrence and Lowell. Hampden association with Chapman gained 408 in 1909; this year 634 with no evangelist. In the former year 185 churches had no converts, and 209 churches the next year; in 1915 the list held only 151, the smallest number that I know. And yet there are 20 churches that in my eight years as secretary have never reported a convert, and 14 of them are in worse plight, one having received none on confession in 22 years and another for 24 years. However, there were 74 churches that added ten per cent. or more last year on confession, and 76 made a net gain of ten per cent., 53 being on both lists. The most remarkable report comes from New Marlboro, where a church of 24 members, half of them absent, added 17 on confession, with a net gain of 23, about 96 per cent. Dracut First with 71 members added 46 on confession with net gain of 49; and West Boxford with 56 members added 22 on confession and gained 26 net. Thirteen added 50 or more on confession, Holyoke Grace leading with 137, and Leominster next with 117. Eight had total additions of 100, Dorchester Second leading with 154, and the two halves of the double Holyoke church, Grace and Second, following with 148 and 138.

New records are made in additions by letter also, and the totals, and in removals by letter. Adult baptisms were only exceeded in 1877, and infant baptisms, whose record-breaking has become chronic, jumped 360 above last year's high mark. Sunday schools, too, are in the game, and their score is 2,159 better than the high mark of the previous year. So, too, are the men's organizations with a gain of 1,339 and the young people's societies gaining 1,254.

Benevolence does not share in the general advance. Apportionment has for six years published the receipts of the society treasurers reported to the Year Book. The American Board receipts are steadily smaller each year, and the Woman's Board totals grow steadily larger, but without balancing the deficit of the other. The American Missionary Association and the Sunday School Society have had the poorest year of the six. Slight gains for the Education and Church Building Societies fail to stem the downward trend, and the total of apportionment benevolence, $293,435, is $7,200 below the previous year. There were also other Congregational gifts to the amount of $100,554, and miscellaneous charities of $90,510, making a total of $484,499, the smallest in 33 years. The editor of the Year Book will also report Massachusetts gifts to some of the societies aggregating $1,600. They belong outside our conference statistics, but if admitted would not alter the comparison.

Property values keep increasing as equipment is added or old buildings are replaced by costlier ones. Endowments keep pace with the property, and debt, with similar aggregate gain, shows a relative increase of 20 per cent. Some of this I know, and most of it I believe, to be due to enlargement, a sign of health and not of disease. Salary figures in theYear Book this year may be misleading. Clerks were instructed, in the case of a double parish, to report from each the total amount of salary the pastor received. Some clerks did so, and some reported only the individual quota. The apparent average salary is $1,321, but if sins of omission and commission were reckoned in the problem, the average would be a little different.

On one point there is need of enlightening some of our churches. While the blanks sent out to be returned as soon as possible after January 1, 1916, were for the figures of 1915, let it be understood that names of officers should be of the new officials if change has been made. The Year Book and the Conference Minutes are books of reference for a year, and a book published in the early summer of 1916 ought to have the names of 1916 clerks and pastors, etc., and not those of preceding years. Long delay was occasioned this year by the secretary's futile attempts to get statistics from the 1914 clerk of a large church. He went out of office January 1, 1915, and moved to California, but his name stood in the last Year Book as the proper agency of communication with his church. The case is mentioned because it is typical. Please remember to use old figures and new names (if necessary) for the Year Book.

For some time the secretary has had in mind a memorial volume for the tercentenary of 1920, a history of the Massachusetts Congregational Churches of 300 years. It would include all churches extant or extinct, with dates and lists of pastors and such other data as might be available and desirable; an outline history of the church and ministerial associations; a study of ecclesiastical movements and denominational progress; and such other material as the limits of the volume might allow. If the idea appeals to the imagination of present-day Congregationalists sufficiently to endorse the idea, the secretary is willing to undertake the compilation and publication. It has met with approval from individuals; it is referred to the Conference for advice as to the desirability and feasibility of the plan.

REPORT OF THE CONGREGATIONAL BOARD OF PASTORAL SUPPLY

REV. ARTHUR J. COVELL, SECRETARY
CONGREGATIONAL HOUSE, BOSTON

Boston, Mass., April 1, 1916.

The Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply respectfully presents to the Congregational Conferences of Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont its first report. The Board was established January 1, 1916, and therefore is but a few months old. Since, however, this agency is the lineal descendant of the Board of Pastoral Supply founded in 1894 by the Massachusetts Conference, and maintained by it until this present year, we may properly consider this the twenty-second annual report. Twenty-one previous reports have been rendered to the Massachusetts Conference, but this year the report is presented to the Conferences of the five New England states that now constitute the Board.

In last year's report an account was given of the steps leading up to the recommendation of the "Committee of Six on Federation of Pastoral Supply Work for New England" to each of the state Conferences of New England. Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Vermont, in the order named, adopted the plan, ordered the assessment made and provided for the election of Directors. New Hampshire deferred action until the meeting of May, 1916. Rhode Island voted that when two-thirds of the churches of the state voted favorably the assessment should be made and the plan should become operative. This action was completed, and the Secretary received notification on March 31 that the requisite two-thirds had voted affirmatively.

On November 29, 1915, the designated Directors from Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, and Vermont met in Boston, organized, and declared themselves ready to assume, on January 1, 1916, the responsibilities for which they were elected. Rev. Watson L. Phillips, D.D., of New Haven, Conn., was made Chairman of the new Board, Sylvanus G. Morse of Boston was selected for Treasurer, Rev. Arthur J. Covell of Boston was elected Secretary, and an Executive Committee, composed of one Director from each State, together with the Chairman and Treasurer, was appointed. The Board of fifteen Directors was made up as follows: Four from Connecticut — Rev. Edward N. Packard, D.D. of Stratford, Mr. Oscar A. Phelps of Hartford, Rev. Watson L. Phillips, D.D. of New Haven, Mr. Frederick G. Platt of New Britain: Two from Maine — Rev. Prof. Calvin M. Clark, D.D. of Bangor, Rev. W. B. Tuthill of Portland: Seven from Massachusetts—Rev. Frederick E. Emrich, D.D. of Brighton, Mr. George F. Kendall of Cambridge, Rev. Frank W. Merrick, D.D. of Danvers, Mr. Sylvanus G. Morse of Boston, Rev. D. Augustine Newton, D.D. of Reading, Mr. Irwin W. Tapley of Haverhill, Mr. Appleton P. Williams of West Upton: Two from Vermont—Rev. George S. Mills of Bennington, Mr. W. J. Van Patten of Burlington.

On December 6, 1915 the Directors of the Massachusetts Board met and authorized the Executive Committee to transfer to the new Board on January 1, 1916, all documents and property in its possession, together with the good-will of the business. This formal transfer was duly made. Thus the pioneer Congregational agency for bringing ministers and churches together, born to meet a crying need, and having demonstrated its vitality in a fruitful history of twenty-two years, was merged in the larger organization. And Massachusetts has been content to ask no special privileges, but is satisfied to have wrought a good work in the past, and to share fully, in cooperation with her sister New England states, in the maintenance of the work for the future.

The following By-Laws were adopted at the time of the organization of the Board:

1. Name

The name of this organization shall be The Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply.

2. Object

The primary object of this Board is to secure for the Congregational Churches the most effective pastoral service.

3. Membership

Membership in the Board shall consist of one member from each constituent state, with an additional representative for each 20,000 church members or major fraction thereof, these representatives to be elected by the several State Conferences.

4. Officers

The officers of this Board shall be a Chairman, a Secretary, who shall also be Clerk, a Treasurer and an Executive Committee, consisting of one Director from each constituent state. The Chairman and Treasurer shall be ex-officio members of the Executive Committee. There shall be such assistants to the Secretary as the Board of Directors shall approve.

5. Meetings

The meetings of the Board shall be semi-annually in June and December. The June meeting shall be the Annual Meeting. Special meetings may be called by the Executive Committee.

6. Executive Committee

The Executive Committee shall meet at least three times each year; two of which meetings shall be held in connection with the regular meetings of the Board.

7. Quorum

A quorum for the Board of Directors shall be seven, representing a majority of the constituent states.

The name adopted is identical with that of the former Board.

The primary object of the Board as here stated differentiates it from Ministerial Bureaus, or from agencies whose leading aim is to advocate particular men, or particular classes of men.

The basis of membership gives advantage to the states with the smaller Congregational constituencies. This is in harmony with excellent precedents, but the generosity of the larger Congregational states deserves special mention.

There was some reason to assume that the last annual report might indicate the high water mark statistically for some time to come. But the enlargement of the work has not ceased, and the last year has been the best, so far as figures tell the story.

In response to official request, directly made, we have rendered service to 310 churches. Of these 235 were in New England and 75 outside. These churches were distributed as follows: 131 in Massachusetts; 29 in Maine; 27 in Vermont; 22 in Connecticut; 22 in New Hampshire; 4 in Rhode Island; 7 in Pennsylvania; 6 in Ohio; 6 in Michigan; 6 in South Dakota; 5 in New York; 4 in Iowa; 3 in Indiana; 3 in Illinois; 3 in Minnesota; 3 in Foreign Territory; 2 in New Jersey; 2 in the District of Columbia; 2 in Wisconsin; 2 in Missouri; 2 in Oklahoma; 2 in Arizona; 2 in New Mexico; 2 in Oregon; 1 in Alaska; 1 in Hawaii; and 1 in each of the following states: viz. Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Texas, North Dakota, Colorado and California.

The enumeration here given does not include the furnishing of occasional or temporary supplies, nor the successful commendations to teaching or executive positions. The number of churches served is 26 more than last year, and more than 44% larger than for any year preceding the last.

The number of pastoral settlements in which the Board had an important part was 100. A year ago the number reported was 82, and the largest number previously reported was 75.

Of the churches conferring with the Board during the year concerning pastoral settlements, 144 had less than 100 members; 98 had a membership ranging from 100 to 300 members; while 68 had more than 300 members. Of these same churches 45 paid a salary of more than $2,000; 164 paid a salary of from $1,000 to $2,000; while 101 paid a salary of less than $1,000. The value of the parsonage rental is included. There is an increase of about 33% over last year in the number of churches with the largest membership conferring with the Board, and about the same increase in those paying the largest salaries. The increase in the number paying from $1,000 to $2,000 is also very nearly 33%. The number of small churches paying the smallest salaries is somewhat less this year. Perhaps there are fewer such churches.

Opportunities for preaching have been given this past year to 274 men, and of these 156 were candidates for settlement. With many of these candidates the opportunities for preaching were several times repeated. The number of candidates sent out is considerably larger than ever before. The whole number of occasional supplies sent out during the year was 463, a smaller number than last year, but a larger number than for any other year.

The total number of letters sent out during the year was 6,085. This is more than 600 more than for the last year, and nearly double the number for any previous year.

The amount received from preaching by the Secretary is the largest ever reported. The office fees show a decline, and another year will show a still further decline, doubtless, due to the waiving of candidating and settlement fees in the cooperating states. The traveling expenses of the Secretary have increased and will increase materially in the coming years.

The Treasurer of the Board, Sylvanus G. Morse, reports the following receipts and disbursements for the three months of his term of office:

Receipts

Received from E. L. Miller, Treasurer of Massachusetts Congregational Conference	$638.76
Received of I. A. Burnap, Treasurer of Connecticut Congregational Conference	300.00
Received from A. J. Covell, Secretary, amount of office receipts (included also in preceding quarterly and yearly account)	285.10
	$1,223.86

Expenditures

Paid A. J. Covell, Secretary, for office expenses	$1,087.98
Leaving balance on hand, April 1, 1916	135.88

On April 5, after the above account was closed, there was received from F. W. Baldwin, Treasurer of the Vermont Congregational Conference, $100.

Since this is the last report having to do with the original Massachusetts Board, it may be of interest to turn back to the report of the committee on Ministerial Bureau made to the General Association of Massachusetts at its meeting in Boston in May, 1893. The report reads: "The number of pastorless churches, one hundred, and churchless pastors, three hundred, is large. Great waste results from present methods of transfer from pulpit to pulpit. Private and union agencies pre-empt the field of vacancies and supplies. Candidates from folds non-Pilgrim and non-Puritan come into too free connection with our congregations. Committees of local churches are not promptly and authoritatively acquainted with the names of suitable pastors without charge. Tribute is asked where bounty is needed. . . . The laity, habituated to method, energy, cooperation and dispatch, are astonished and ashamed that no general Superintendent has been chosen to evoke order out of chaos. The educated pastorate and vital Congregationalism are suffering." In important ways the Board has been able to remedy the situation of 1893. Rarely since the Board was fairly in operation has the number of vacant churches in Massachusetts numbered two-thirds of a hundred. Usually it has been less than fifty. It was an interesting coincidence that at the last meeting of the Massachusetts Board the number of vacant churches in Massachusetts was but twenty-three, the smallest number of which we have record. The Board aided 93% of the vacant churches last year in their search for a pastor, and of the settlements actually made this past year in the State of Massachusetts, the Board had a direct share in 76%. By utilizing the investigations already made churches can save valuable time and reach wiser conclusions. While preparing this report the secretary received word from one of the leading churches that their search for a pastor had ended in a hearty and unanimous call, and the committee wished to express their gratitude to the Board for the very great help rendered. They felt they had been saved valuable time, and had been able to secure the right man with the minimum loss of pastoral service. Such testimonies are by no means infrequent.

That the Board has been under responsible denominational control, with all important correspondence open to official inspection, has added to the effectiveness of the work, and given increased confidence to churches and ministers.

A certain standardizing of the work and a help to escape from troublesome provincialism and individualism has been inevitable. Fruitful have been the intimations about supply fees, salaries of ministers, treatment of candidates, hindrances to effectiveness on the part of ministers; and while these have not infringed upon church autonomy or individual liberty, they have been of real value to both churches and ministers. Sometimes the Secretary has wondered whether these by-products of the work might not prove of as much value as the direct results of the work. The churches have been protected in some measure from adventurers and unworthy men. A constant effort has been made to help modest men, and to give substantial men the help their real worth merited.

The files of the Board are being constantly increased and already contain discriminating reports concerning a large majority of all the Congregational ministers in the United States, and of many outside of this country. We have also in our outfiles reports of many men of other denominations who have had some connection with our churches, or have thought of gaining admittance to Congregational fellowship. During the first nineteen years of its life the Board had the good fortune to have as Secretary a very wise, judicially minded, yet sympathetic man, and acquaintance with the records will bring realization of their value. The present Secretary doubts whether this part of the work could have been done better, and is sure that there is little to be undone.

The report this year comes before four new state conferences. Of what value is the work likely to be to the churches of these states?

This is a fair question. The Pope has, since the great European war began, issued a request to the belligerents "to arrange their aspirations." The effectiveness of the work of the Board will depend partly on how well both churches and ministers "arrange their aspirations." The Board can not revolutionize present conditions. It can only work alongside existing agencies to remedy difficult conditions. New England has not been wont to specialize in revolutions. She has rather emphasized education, and believed in a steady evolution towards better conditions. The Board can neither remove all difficulties attending pastoral transfer, nor be held responsible for the persistence of some longstanding burdens in our form of polity. Time will be required to make known the purposes and methods of the work.

The exact value of the work for each specific part of New England can not be precisely measured, since we are "members one of another." If one state suffers then all New England suffers with her. And if one state be exalted for preeminent efficiency, then all New England may well rejoice with her. In the conference leading up to the organization of the present Board it was recognized that the work was of vital importance, but that no State outside of Massachusetts was a large enough unit to maintain the work effectively It was believed that the motto "each for all and all for each" applied to the question of pastoral supply in New England.

Another consideration should be taken into account: The question of nationalizing the Board has been raised. The matter has been before the Executive Committee of the National Council. Conferences have been held and the matter discussed. An affiliated relation for a temporary purpose was established for a year with western Superintendents and Secretaries. The Directors have needed to consider the matter and to define their attitude, and it has seemed to them that for purposes of pastoral supply New England is a natural unit. They have felt that to nationalize the Board would take away the element of personal knowledge and personal contact that has given the work its greatest value. And, therefore, your Directors favor the policy of other Boards as needed, established outside of New England in friendly cooperation with this one. Your Directors believe that the present plan will be more effective for New England.

The following are some of the advantages to the states that are just coming into the work of Pastoral Supply through this Board:

The fee system for candidating and settlement outside of Massachusetts, adopted in order to partly equalize the expenses to the Massachusetts churches, is abolished, and there is no candidating fee for ministers in the cooperating states for preaching as candidates within such states, nor is there any settlement fee for ministers from any state who may settle in the cooperating states. (The fees for the so-called occasional supplies continue in force.)

The Conferences of Connecticut, Maine, Rhode Island and Vermont will have their full share in shaping the policy of the Board. The remedy for the Board's limitations will be in the hands of the State Conferences.

Through the closer and more responsible connection with the Board, there will be greater protection to the New England States from unworthy men, and greater help in securing more efficient men.

The Board will endeavor to cooperate with every legitimate Congregational agency. It does not consider itself in a competitive relation with any agency which may be established within a state. It will endeavor to aid, so far as it may, the home missionary agencies of the states, and proposes to consider itself subordinate to home missionary officials when dealing with home missionary churches. It will count it a privilege to aid the students from each of the Theological Seminaries to find settlement. It will endeavor to cooperate with committees of local associations and state conferences in the matter of pastoral supply, if associations of churches and state conferences so desire and plan. It has no purpose to supplant, but rather to cooperate.

Each association of churches will have an opportunity to appoint a local adviser, who will be privileged, not only to furnish information to the Board, but to transmit suggestions for the more effective conduct of the work. In connection with the meeting of the state conference, a meeting of the Directors and advisers of each state for conference would be held. For acquaintance sake the Secretary of the Board would hope to have opportunity to speak at the various associations of churches.

Each individual church, upon becoming vacant, will, so far as the Board knows of such vacancy, receive a personal letter from the Secretary, offering help in securing a pastor, and stating some of the things which the Board can probably do for the church.

The following recommendations are respectfully submitted:

Since in order to meet adequately the needs for the enlarged work, one and one-half cents per church member is needed, we therefore recommend that this amount be appropriated for the ensuing year.

In order to give sufficient stability to the Board we recommend that Directors be elected for a term of two or three years.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MISSIONARY WORK

Your committee has to report some discouragement as well as some encouragements. The figures of the State Secretary show a falling off of about $7,000 in missionary donations in the state during 1915. This is somewhat surprising considering the quite general acceptance of the Apportionment Plan and the adoption of the Every-Member Canvass. We are inclined to the opinion that this decrease is only one of those fluctuations inevitable in a group of churches as large as that of our state. We are confident that another year will show an increase.

We are happy to report more encouragements than discouragements. First, the meeting of Associational committees last Autumn when we met to confer upon the situation was larger and more enthusiastic than for many years. We are grateful for more cordial support and energetic effort in the Associations than for several years. This is a good omen, for these committees have it in their power to do much within the Associational bounds to inaugurate a new missionary era in our churches. It devolves upon them to awaken the pastors and churches.

Secondly, the reports indicate a decided increase in the number of churches that have accepted the Apportionment and the Every-member canvass. In those Associations from which we have been able to secure detailed information, about seventy per cent of the churches have accepted the apportionment as a goal at least, and approximately fifty per cent have made use of the individual canvass in some practical form. From all these centers we get the most cheering reports. Some are even hilarious in their expressions of satisfaction. Everywhere the results justify the system. By the Every-Member canvass some of our strongest churches have greatly increased their missionary offerings. These larger, stronger churches have been slower to make use of this plan than the smaller organizations. We believe, therefore, that the plan has passed the experimental stage, and is well adapted to nearly all communities and churches great or small.

Thirdly, it is pleasant to report that the churches that were fortunate enough to fall within the periphery of either of the meetings of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, were greatly stimulated in missionary interest and giving.

At last year's meeting of this Conference your committee was requested to make an investigation of the gifts from our churches to "Other Than Congregational Benevolences." This is a delicate task, yet it has been performed as far as is practicable at this time, and the result of this study is embodied in this report.

We feel impelled to repeat certain suggestions, which, while they are not new are, nevertheless as urgent as ever: (1) Upon every pastor we urge the importance of systematic missionary education. The adoption of the Apportionment and the individual canvass has eliminated the special pre-collection missionary sermon, and the danger is in neglecting the impartation of the information that makes giving intelligent and enthusiastic. The Boards provide freely such an abundance of attractive missionary literature and lantern slides that there is no excuse for ignorance upon this great task. Nothing but indifference or indolence on the part of the minister stands in the way of progress here. A series of illustrated sermons, systematic missionary instruction in the Sunday School, mission study classes among the young people, regular missionary prayer meetings, a live church missionary committee, are among the approved methods of educating and inspiring the local church concerning its duty and privilege.

At the last Conference your committee was instructed to make a study of gifts made by Congregational churches to organizations outside of the body. A letter was sent to some forty-three churches credited with having given $500 or more to causes "undenominational" in the year 1914. They were asked to state the objects for which the money had been contributed, whether these organizations were likely to present a permanent demand upon the churches, and whether the money thus contributed diminished the sum that would otherwise flow to Congregational societies?

Return letters show that the causes are largely local organizations such as the Y.M.C.A., the Associated Charities, Hospitals, City missions and the like, which the church is bound to support. The organization for which a special contribution is taken is usually recommended by a duly authorized committee, and accepted by a vote of the church. In these churches, at least, there is no opportunity for a raid upon the sympathies and pocket-books of an unsuspecting congregation. As far as these letters indicate, there is little ground for the feeling that the column marked "undenominational" is growing at the expense of our regular societies. On the contrary, it was intimated that the Apportionment Plan was inflicting a hardship on some worthy objects of philanthropy.

An appeal was made for a closer definition of the column under consideration. Some church treasurers evidently report all benevolent gifts of which they have obtained any information; others report only the sums actually passing through the treasury of the church. Some uniformity in this matter is extremely desirable.

In closing we venture to make the following suggestions and ask for the approval of the Conference regarding them:

1. Brethren, put more laymen upon the missionary committees in both church and Association. Seek them out and you will be most happily surprised with the results.

2. We renew our suggestion for the approval of the Apportionment Plan and the Every-member Canvass by the Associations and by all the churches.

3. We ask the Conference to appropriate $100 for the work of this committee, especially that its members may be more free to go about among the churches and Associations upon this great business of the church. Some of our members have done more or less of this visitation work at their own charges, but this cannot be expected.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MORAL AND SOCIAL WELFARE

At the beginning of our work we recognized the numerous and varied problems that come legitimately within the province of this committee. We therefore appointed sub-committees to make investigations and recommendations along the lines of temperance, civic betterment, rural possibilities, industrial relations and racial justice. Some specific reports on several of these problems will be presented at the committee conference to which you are invited. What follows in this report has been considered and approved by the committee as a body.

As to legislation while we have had no occasion to visit the State House we have kept informed as to proposed measures through the co-operation of members of the House and Senate. Many of these legislators are church men. As such we have found them courteous and responsive to our appeals on behalf of social and moral interests. We would urge all our pastors and laymen to cultivate a personal acquaintance with their local representatives. Then when a moral issue is involved in proposed laws a state wide appeal can be made directly to the men whose votes will determine the issue. Such a method, if faithfully used, might prove more effective than attendance upon committee hearings.

In accordance with the vote of the last conference we have given fuller expression to already existing temperance sentiment. We discovered some rivalry and even antagonism among organized temperance bodies. We gave a hearing to representatives of the Anti-Saloon League and the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society. We took up a number of criticisms that had been reported and insisted that the indorsement of this conference entitled our churches to the best efforts of the ablest men. With this understanding we indorsed the two societies named. Prior to the city elections we circularized the pastors in the interest of an increased no-license vote. The reception of this circular and the reports of activity were most gratifying. There is a healthy sentiment in our churches and many able leaders. What is now needed is a permanent bureau of effective organizers and speakers. We could make use of many workers during no-license campaigns on the basis of pulpit exchange or paid expenses.

The moral and social problems of the cities change but little. American administration breaks down in the city. Too frequently municipal politics are a bargain between the ambition and graft of the office holders and the commercialized lawlessness of the evil-doers. However slow the progress of the Christian elements in correcting these conditions we note with satisfaction the men in our midst who dare to call a spade a spade despite the alarm of the timid or the arrogance of the politician who believes that religion has no place in politics.

The rural situation is one of fascinating interest. Thorough-going success of a number of our pastors convinces us that many of the country parishes offer inspiring opportunities for a virtual rehabitation of the educational, social and moral life of the people. How can the appeal of these country churches be brought home to the hearts of the young men who will be the ministers of tomorrow? In our state Andover Seminary is doing most commendable work in this direction but how are the students in the academies and colleges to be reached? There are rural pastors of proven ability, keen insight, and practical sense in constructive work. They should be invited to the pulpits and conferences of the schools and colleges. We hope that this state conference will strongly support the committee in its efforts to secure the broadest consideration of the claims of the country church upon Christian students.

No new industrial legislation has enlisted our active interest. The labor agitation waxes and wanes as business is prosperous or depressed. Employers and employees emphasize their rights; they put the soft pedal on their duties. They seem in endless disagreement as to what share of the income belongs to invested capital that assumes risks, constructs buildings, installs machinery, furnishes raw material, superintends production and markets the product and labor that gives its all of time, strength, skill, intelligence, and faithful performance. The church is neither a partisan nor a divider of property. It is the champion of justice. Your committee will try to voice that principle of justice to both parties in their contentions. Our pastors and churches can promote clearer understanding and better feeling by giving frequent audience to sane exponents of each side.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FEDERATION

For a number of years the state Conference has maintained a standing committee of ministers and laymen to serve as a link between the Conference and the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, and to represent and promote the interest of Congregational churches in that movement.

Our last report voiced the conviction that the great sphere of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches is not comity, nor even co-operation, but concerted action. The developments of the year have been in this direction.

In the line of the new committee on Peace then reported, a fruitful visit of Dr. Gulick of the Federal Council to Boston, Lowell, and Somerville was arranged in February.

No step has ever met with more general and hearty approval than the appointment last June of a committee on Evangelism with Dr. Neil McPherson, pastor of First Congregational Church, Springfield, as chairman. It has stimulated the efforts of each denomination by bringing out the fact that every denomination independently was turning as never before to evangelism. While recognizing that its suggestions for a year of concerted evangelism, issued in September, were too late to produce their full effect this season, the committee made them in order to prepare for more definite effort in 1916–17, and has been gratified by the immediate and fruitful response in many communities.

The still more recently added committees on Religious Education and Temperance at once found a place in bringing denominational leaders into touch with each other and with experts in these lines. The former has concentrated its investigations on week-day religious instruction; and already feels justified in recommending that the churches in each community take steps to provide such instruction for two-hour-periods, considering the Gary Plan, of an understanding with the public schools, as a possible means to provide the time. The Committee on Temperance stands ready to aid the churches in providing systematic education and publicity and advises the study of the results of Prohibition at home and abroad.

These steps, as well as the increasing service of older committees, cannot fail to give the churches a new conception of the function of the Massachusetts Federation. It is becoming a clearing-house of information and inspiration to the churches in every line of their work. It concerns itself with the life of every church, rural and urban, the largest as well as the smaller. Its work is not to be done for the churches, but by the churches. As the Bishop's Committee of the Diocese of Massachusetts wrote to all its parishes: "The Massachusetts Federation is what we, its members, make it!" This being so, it is vitally important that every church shall hear its work presented, before the largest audience possible, by the Field Secretary or some member of the Executive Committee; for no others know the work as a whole and its significance. Wherever presented, the message is a surprise and an inspiration. As strongly as we can, we would emphasize the importance of inviting such pulpit presentation.

This many-sided service to the churches does not mean less, but more, of the original work of promoting "consolidations where needed and co-operation everywhere." If the Federation is regarded simply as an agency to bring competing churches together, those who do not face, or do not recognize such need, will think that it has no relation to them; and those who know that they ought to unite, will regard it with distrust. Just in proportion as the Federation is recognized as the joint-bureau of all the churches, sympathetically promoting their efficiency in every respect, it will have the confidence of the churches when it comes to the delicate questions of re-adjustments. And this is proving to be the case. The union church, the federated church, the denominational exchange of fields, and the interdenominational circuit now stand as methods demonstrated both feasible and effective. While only one new federated church, the Congregational-Methodist of Ayer, is reported this year, there are consultations about other places in Massachusetts, and inquiries from distant points in the United States and Canada now come every week. It is increasingly apparent that a veritable Protestant Re-adjustment is impending.

The Massachusetts Federation has committed these problems to an enlarged committee, including an official and a layman from every denomination, constituting a Home Missions Council, and has furnished the facilities of its office and the experience of its Field Secretary to a New England Home Missions Council, in making a survey of work in languages other than English. Facts and recommendations from that body will be presented to this Conference. Recognizing that the most effective promotion of public sentiment in favor of the impending re-adjustments will be that attempted within the denomination, your committee has named as a sub-committee, Dr. Emrich and Mr. Samuel Usher, the Congregational members of the Massachusetts Home Missions Council, to express, in that organization in all proper ways, the sentiment of this Conference. It is no honor to Congregationalism that some of the worst cases of "overlapping" are between churches of our own denomination, or that Congregational churches sometimes refuse to enter into needed interdenominational adjustments. Our polity, of course, recognizes no ecclesiastical authority; but let us do our utmost to "keep the facts before the churches, until the churches change the facts!"

In the same way we have appointed Rev. George W. Owen, chairman of the Federation's Committee on Local Federations, to express our sentiment where it may promote community co-operation. His committee is especially interested in the Co-operative Parish Plan, as the fundamental method. The interest in it is increasingly manifested; and we urge our churches to study its possibilities and to test it practically. New federations were formed during the year in Everett, Northampton and Roxbury. Local movements cannot fail to be stimulated by the step just taken, of selecting, as demonstration communities, Fall River, a manufacturing city; Ipswich, a manufacturing town; Stoneham, as a suburban town; Pepperell, as a small town; and a one-church town to be named. This plan, involving a definite program and close consultation with the experts furnished by the committees of the Massachusetts Federation, has been heartily adopted by the federations in the four places named, in all of which Congregationalists have an honorable share.

We urge the importance of a full attendance of our delegation at the annual meeting of the Federation, Nov. 14, and to this end recommend that those be appointed who can and will reserve that date, and that the chairman be authorized to appoint proxies for those who find themselves unable at the last moment to attend.

The annual appropriation of $300, at the rate of 50 cents a church, made by this Conference, was fixed when that sum represented the proportionate share of Congregationalists in the expense of the Federation and when the field secretary Mr. Root gave only one-third of his time. The work has grown to demand the full time of a field secretary, with a Boston office, and the budget has necessarily increased. The amount now asked of each denomination is at the rate of two dollars per church; and the obligation to raise that amount is generally being assumed. For example, the Committee of the New England Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church guarantees the full pro rata amount. The Diocese of Massachusetts pays its quota monthly. The New Jerusalem and Unitarian Associations have appropriated the full amount, and have given additional contributions toward the deficit. Your delegation, like the Baptist, has had to supplement the original appropriation by raising the balance from churches or individuals. But for two years we have lacked nearly $200 of the full amount. We, therefore, recommend that your appropriation be raised to $500 or if possible to $600; we feel confident that we can make up the remainder of the $1,204 asked of Congregationalists.

For the committee,

HOWARD A. BRIDGMAN.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISTIC WORK

Your Committee met in Boston soon after its appointment and mapped out work for the year. We issued a letter last September suggesting methods whereby the spiritual work of the churches might be more effectively emphasized. The Chairman of your Committee met twice in Boston for conference with the Chairmen of the Denominational State Committees on Evangelism. The meetings were quite helpful. We believe that more good in future will result from this co-operative method. From these conferences we learned that the Protestant Churches of this state are giving much systematic attention to Evangelism. The church of today is striking the redemptive note. They are feeling more than ever that the business of the church is to be about the business of Christ. The method of redemption adopted by Christ was the personal method. He won his disciples one by one. The ministers of this state are giving much attention to personal Evangelism with the result that more new members have been received this year into the Congregational churches of this state than in any previous year. The statistical report will show that 5,750 persons have been received on confession of faith. This is an increase of 760 over last year. This means that 1915–1916 will be our banner year. In 1909 when Dr. Wilbur Chapman was in Boston and Springfield, 5,734 persons were received on confession of faith, and in 1877 when Dwight L. Moody worked at many centers in this state, 5,698 persons were received on confession of faith. We believe that it is not too much to expect a five per cent increase of new members on confession of faith every year. This means that we ought to receive 6,325 new members on confession of faith next year. The ministers of the Universalist church hold a "Retreat" every year with great spiritual benefit at the "Wayside Inn." We suggest to the incoming committee on Evangelism the advisability of holding a similar "Retreat." Let us work and pray that Jesus Christ may have the pre-eminence in all things. May 1916–17 be very fruitful in the redemption of men and women from sin and selfishness through Jesus Christ, our Lord.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RURAL CONDITIONS

Your committee has accepted as a program for the rural church the ideals embodied in the report of the Commission on Church and Country Life appointed by the Federal Council of Churches and presented to the Conference on Church and Country Life, at Columbus, Ohio, December, 1915. The report covers three aspects of the problem of the country church — function, policy, and program. The program set forth in that report was adopted in substance by the Massachusetts Federation of Churches as the program for the rural churches of Massachusetts. It is also endorsed by the Social Service Commission of the Congregational Churches as the working program for all rural Congregational churches.

It may be said therefore that the function, policy, and program of the country church is being definitized for us by our students of the problem. The next step is to get this program accepted by the local rural church and made a part of the activities of the church and community.

The work of your committee during the past year has been to this end. It has secured a mailing list of the rural ministers in the state, and another list of laymen who are reported to be leaders in the life of our country communities. To both these lists we have mailed copies of the report referred to above.

We believe that the progress of our communities is in the hands of its leaders, and that these leaders must be created where they do not exist and brought to a wider conception of the work of the country church, and the task of your committee as we see it is to help make pervasive in the rural consciousness these more social and more diversified tasks of the Church of Christ. The process of leading our rural ministers and churches into an acceptance of these wider ideals of the church will be of necessity a matter of some years, but it can be done, and we think we have taken a step toward it when we have discovered who the community leaders are and have gotten into working relations with them. These lists we shall keep up to date adding such names as we discover them. To them we shall send information and shall put them in the way of getting information for themselves.

Your committee has in preparation a list of books on the rural church and the rural community, together with a list of those communities which have taken hold of the rural problem and have had some noteworthy success. It states in a concise way what each of these communities has done. This folder we shall send out next year to all the names we have on our list.

Last June your committee entered into correspondence with the laymen of a number of our country churches, calling their attention to the Conference of Rural Workers held at Amherst in July by the Massachusetts Agricultural College. We suggested that they confer with their minister and if possible send him to that conference. A few of the churches sent their pastors. The response however was not general. The program had not been specifically arranged for ministers, and the time was too short to work the matter up as it should have been.

Your committee believes that the rural situation can be met only by creating an adequate leadership, both lay and clerical, and its activities are directed to this end. It believes that the Agricultural College and other agricultural centers stand in the position of supreme opportunity and influence. With their broadening scope it is possible to use them for the training of the leaders which our rural communities need. It therefore seems to the committee that the Massachusetts Agricultural College should be encouraged to continue its annual conference of rural workers, special place being given to the work of the church, and that our ministers and lay leaders be encouraged to attend such conferences.

It believes that a conference of all the rural leaders in New England under the auspices of the Federal Council of Churches or the Church Federations of the New England states, is feasible, and your committee is working to project such a conference.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Some sort of lightning has played havoc with the official portion of our committee, depriving us of such valuable leaders as Rev. C. A. Lincoln, Vice-Chairman, Rev. J. B. Tarney, Secretary, and Dr. Benjamin S. Winchester, for nearly five years the efficient Chairman of the Committee, who is now at the head of the National Council's Commission on Religious and Moral Education. The traditional habit of lightning has made it possible to prevail upon others to accept the offices thus vacated, but the committee could not be organized until December, and has had but six months in which to perform the year's work.

A survey of the reports of this Committee for the last six years will constrain the thoughtful reader to observe that the Congregational Churches of Massachusetts are making continual progress in the field of Religious Education. In 1909, the Committee on Sunday Schools (as it was then called) presented a plan of Religious Education so definite and comprehensive that this report has become a landmark. Each succeeding report has shown a distinct advance. A recent postcard survey was encouraging. There were 334 prompt replies to 590 cards mailed. Seventy-five churches report committees on Religious Education, and 67 report directors of Religious Education, while 327 report superintendents, of which 35 positions are filled by pastors or assistant pastors. These reports show that the suggestions made by the Committee in the past are gaining ground.

Taken together, the steps which have been made in recent years may be thus summed up:

1. An Awakened Consciousness. The Churches realize more keenly than ever that the Children of Today are the Church of Tomorrow, and Religious Education is becoming the supreme task of the Church.

2. Higher Standards. The Sunday School is in a truer sense the Church School and the essential features of such a school as set forth in the "Pilgrim Standard" are being sought.

3. Definite Aims. What the Church is seeking to accomplish through the Sunday School and other organizations for the child and the youth is more apparent, viz: "To help the Individual to form and to express Christian Character." This general aim is also being adjusted to different ages in terms intelligible to the members of each department.

4. Unity. It is very plain that the same leaven which is at work in the National Council is influencing the local Church. Within the individual church, a process is going on whereby agencies hitherto overlapping and conflicting are being correlated and unified.

It is probably fair to say that Congregationalism has been more successful in making leaders than in using them. Our denomination, however, is coming to realize that leaders must have followers, and the spirit of co-operative fellowship is apparent among us. The establishment of a Commission on Religious and Moral Education, by the National Council, is a movement of this character and is one of the significant achievements of recent years.

As a State Committee, we should like to commend the work of this Commission and to co-operate with them in every possible way. We consider the " Program of Religious Instruction and Training in the Local Church " of such importance that we have incorporated an outline of this program in our report.

In keeping with the movement in the denomination at large and in the local church, to correlate and to co-operate, we have two definite suggestions to make:

1. That in thought and action, we seek to make the Impressional and the Expressional aspects of Religious Education one task.

2. That, in accordance with this idea, the Committee on Young People's Work and the Committee on Religious Education be encouraged to united endeavor and that as soon as practical these two committees be united in one, so that all our effort in behalf of the Congregational Children of Massachusetts for " the Formation and Expression of Christian Character " shall become unified in theory and in practice. In the past, these committees have held several meetings together and are to work conjointly during the sessions of the State Conference.

OUTLINE OF "A PROGRAM OF RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION AND TRAINING IN THE LOCAL CHURCH," prepared and issued by the Commission on Moral and Religious Education of the National Council of Congregational Churches. October, 1915.

What Should go into the Program

First, a clear statement of what is to be attempted by the local church in the community, through Christian nurture and training, i.e., the educational aims of the local church; and,

Second, an outline of the lesson material and a list of the agencies of instruction and training, i.e. the means available for accomplishing this task.

A. Aims

I. Instruction. The aim of the Church's instruction should be to lead its children to assume a filial and reverent attitude toward God and his world, and to live in Christian relations of love and helpfulness among their fellow-men.

II. Training. All thought is accompanied by feeling which tends to express itself in action.

Worship. It is natural for religious feeling to express itself in worship. The Church, however, should train its young people to worship spontaneously and intelligently. This Program of Training in Worship should be so presented as to indicate clearly its relation to the Program of Instruction.

Service. The ultimate aim of instruction is to reach the Will and lead to expression in action. To provide opportunity for moral practice there should be a Program of Training in Service, suited to the varying powers of the growing life. This Curriculum of Training (Worship and Service), parallel to the Curriculum of Instruction, make up the complete curriculum of the Church School.

B. Means

Classified Pupils and Agencies. A Program of Religious Instruction and Training presupposes that the constituency of the local church be classified or "graded," for teaching purposes, according to natural age-groups.

The Program in Detail

I. Children under Four Years of Age. The Church may render a very valuable service to its children of this age, indirectly, through the home and the parent. Through the Cradle Roll, the Home Department and Parents' Classes, much help may be given.

II. Children 4 to 6 Years. The life of children of this age centers in the home.

Aim. To lead little children to think of God as their Father, to enable them to live as God's children, always at home in their Father's world.

Lesson Material. The world of little children is the home and its relationships. In teaching them it is therefore necessary to use the familiar language of home life. Stories appeal to them; stories presenting simple Bible scenes, stories of nature, stories strongly imaginative and full of mystery.

Agencies of Instruction and Training. The Home is of first importance, all the more because its instruction must often be casual and unsystematic. The church should help the home to make its teaching consistent and Christian. The Sunday-school, through the Beginners' or Kindergarten Department, will provide systematic instruction.

III. Children 6 to 9 Years. At about the sixth year most children enter school. Their world is full of new interests, perplexities, and temptations.

Aim. To help children to realize that God, their loving Father, is still with them in these new experiences; to show them what God would have them be and do in these new surroundings.

Lesson Material. Children are now more vigorous, physically, and more active. Therefore, they enjoy stories which have in them movement, action.

Agencies. The Home is still a potent influence, but must now share with school and church the responsibility of teaching. The Sunday-school through the Primary Department, will now assume a large share, both in the instruction and the training of the children. Equipment, including department equipment and teachers' equipment; Training in Worship; Training in Service and Benevolence; must be carefully planned.

IV. Children 9 to 12 Years. Life for children of this age has three foci — the home, the school and the playground — the two former finding in the third a keen competitor for a place in the child's interest.

Aim. To interpret to the child his world of conflict as a world of law, an orderly world, a divine world.

Lesson Material. This is the period for presenting in consecutive narrative through the Sunday-school, the dramatic stories of the Bible. It is a time also for memorizing.

Agencies. The Home. The school and the playground now vie with the home in their appeal to the interest of children and in their demand for a share of time and attention. Nevertheless, more hours out of the twenty-four are still spent in the home than anywhere else, and every parent should make it his first duty to know what becomes of the rest of the time. In the home, parents may cooperate with the Sunday-school, not only by encouraging the children of this age to make faithful preparation of the tasks assigned them, but still more effectively by furnishing opportunities and incentives to put into daily practice the teachings of the Sunday-school. The church may help the home by calling the attention of parents to these duties, in sermons and informal conferences, and by providing opportunities for discussion of parents' problems in parents' classes. School and Playground. During this period these are potent agencies for training. The Sunday-school. The Junior Department of the Sunday-school will usually comprise four grades, — corresponding to the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh school grades and including children of about nine, ten, eleven and twelve years, respectively. Suitable Equipment for the department and teachers should be provided; also, Training in Worship, Training in Service, Missions and Benevolence, including the Junior Society for Christian Endeavor, and Boys' and Girls' Clubs and Training in Evangelism.

V. Boys and Girls, 12 to 16 Years. Profound changes, usually occurring at about the 11th to the 13th year (earlier in girls than in boys) mark the entrance upon the next stage of experience; first, a period of rapid physical growth begins; and, second, important mental changes and an awakening to a new consciousness of self, accompany the physical changes.

Aim. To assist young people to make, as comfortably and completely as possible, the transition from childhood to adult life, from a world regulated by rules to a world controlled by reason; from self-seeking to self-giving and self-sacrifice; from individualism to whole-hearted participation in activities of the social group, whether civic, philanthropic, religious or otherwise; from a loyalty limited by the boundaries of family, class or immediate circle of friends to a loyalty reaching up through Christ to God and extending outward to all God's creatures everywhere.

Lesson Material. The chief interest of young people at this age is in life, or more accurately, in lives; lives which embody ideals. The material of instruction will therefore best consist of life studies, biographies — not in the literary sense — but sketches of personality, quickly and vividly drawn, disclosing the person himself, his thoughts, purposes, ambitions, struggles, achievements, satisfactions.

Agencies. A variety of agencies is at hand, for instruction and training at this age. Ideally, there should be but one agency, and that the spontaneously formed group, "gang," or "bunch," into which young people at this period almost inevitably organize themselves. If there is a Sunday-school class, therefore, it should be co-extensive with this natural group, several groups of boys, and of girls, uniting in the Sunday-school Intermediate Department. The Home. The home may exert a great influence during these years, through its natural relationships and more or less unconsciously. The School Relationships. Parent, pastor and Sunday-school teacher should know the school life of young people at this age, in order, on the one hand, to relate the material of Sunday-school lessons to the school studies and, on the other hand, to relate the activities and plans of service to the activities of school life. The Sunday-school. The Intermediate Department includes four grades; the eighth school grade and the first three years of high school, for ages thirteen to sixteen, inclusive. Suitable Equipment should be provided*; Training in Worship; Training in Service and in Missions; Boy Scouts* and Camp Fire Girls; Boys' and Girls' Clubs; and Pastor's Classes — usually formed toward the last of this period. Whatever be the agencies utilized, their program should be planned in common with that of the Sunday-school, to insure the greatest economy and effectiveness. Wherever possible it is desirable that the person who serves the class as teacher should also participate in the activities planned through other agencies.

VI. Young People, 16 to 20 Years. A crisis occurs in the lives of most young people at about the age of sixteen — earlier, with many; later, with some. During this period the bonds which connected life with the home are loosened, while on the other hand, the young person begins to make connection with institutional life, with an educational institution, an industrial enterprise, a civic or religious organization.

Aim. To help young people to find and to accept their places as useful members of the economic and industrial order and of the body politic.

Lesson Material. In the Old Testament, the early narratives of Genesis offer a fruitful field of study. It will be profitable to trace, historically, the development of the religion of Israel, as well as its political, social and religious institutions. Apocryphal literature will appeal to this age, while in the New Testament young people will be interested in the movement with which Jesus allied himself and which developed later into Christianity, creating the literature and the institutions of the Christian church.

Agencies. The Home. Many young people leave home at this period. Parents should make special effort to keep in close touch with sons and daughters away from home. The church may facilitate their connection with other homes in the places to which work or study have called them. And the church should endeavor to provide, for homeless young people in the community, an atmosphere and a fellowship as homelike as possible. The Sunday-school. Many young people drop out of Sunday-school before this period is reached. To counteract this tendency the Sunday school should strive to offer graded courses of study, as above described, designed especially to deal with the peculiar problems of youth. These courses need not, however, follow a prescribed order, but may be regarded as "elective courses." Every class in the Senior Department should be organized, for some definite social, personal or missionary service, which may be closely related to the various adult activities of the church. There should be a Young People's Society of the Church; Mission Study Classes (Young Men or Young Women); and many other agencies for special kinds of training. Nothing is more deadly at this period than inaction and passivity. The Pastor will do well to come into as close contact as possible with his young people at this period, helping them to meet their perplexities, to clarify their thinking and to find their places in the life and work of the church.

Note. Copies of the complete Bulletin may be had upon application to the Secretary of the National Council, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

Our Committee has made a careful study of the various organizations for young people in our churches, in order to estimate their value and their part in the normal development of youth.

A circular letter addressed to about one half of the smaller churches reporting no such societies elicited few replies. The difficulty of interesting a very small number of young people in a country church is very great. Where there are several churches cooperation has been brought about by an organization like Boy Scouts and a pastor has emphasized the religious side of the work.

Another circular letter sent to the pastors of one hundred leading and typical churches of the State brought most interesting responses. For giving life to old organizations, for originating all manner of clubs to meet local conditions, and for endeavoring to supplement the work of Church and Sunday School in this way and make youth normal and natural in religion, our pastors are to be commended.

The following statistics furnished by 55 churches are of much interest.

43 churches report a Christian Endeavor Society.
26 churches report a Troop of Boy Scouts.
19 churches report Camp Fire Girls.
12 churches report a Castle of Knights of King Arthur.
10 churches report Mission Bands in classes.
7 churches report independent religious societies.
2 churches report Boys' Brigade.
2 churches report Cadets.
17 churches report various clubs.

A study of these figures shows the prevalence of Christian Endeavor and the growing popularity of Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls. These three societies are the popular trio in the average church. It is an interesting fact that 34 pastors give as their estimate that religious societies enroll only about half of our young people, 52 per cent to be exact. This is the reason why at present, the Sunday School is supplemented by so many societies, largely social, to keep youth in touch with the church.

A summary of original work, done by pastors only reveals the problem before the churches.

Of the seven societies similar to Christian Endeavor, one ministers to students between twenty and thirty years old. A social tea precedes their service and following their service they provide the vested choir at the evening worship of this city church. A second society emphasizes worship and discussion. A third society follows their devotional service with lunch, original Bible games and singing.

Three churches report groups of advanced Endeavorers. One of these societies is for young married people.

One church has federated the Sunday School classes of High School age. Separately they do church work: together they have their Sunday evening devotional service.

In one church the boys render messenger service and receive instruction in religion and gymnastics.

One pastor meets his young men and boys who are church members before each Communion and emphasizes the privileges of church membership. His lady assistant meets with the young women and girls.

The multiplication of these societies and clubs makes the problem of coordination in the larger churches very grave. Some pastors use a Director of Religious Education and others a Committee on Religious Education. Rev. John L. Keedy of North Andover suggests: "Organized Sunday school classes in their activities unless carefully supervised tend to become isolated and unrelated units, in the school but hardly of it. My opinion is that the Y.P.S.C.E. ought to be organized under a committee of religious education for taking care of the expressional life of the young people and that all other organizations of the young people ought to be correlated under the oversight of this committee."

This Committee recognizes like the Committee of last year the close and vital relation between young people's societies and religious education. Two of our members met with the Committee on Religious Education and we regret that traveling only has prevented more conferences upon mutual problems.

We present the following information regarding societies for young people which are popular and have proven useful.

Christian Endeavor. Headquarters, Mount Vernon and Hancock Streets, Boston, Mass. The well known work of this organization needs no comment.

Boy Scouts. For information those in greater Boston should apply at 50 Bromfield St., Boston: all others at the National Headquarters, 200 Fifth Avenue, New York City. Age twelve years and upward. Three classes of Scouts with promotion by examination and tests. Scout masters at least 21 years of age and in charge. Aim is character building, through outdoor life and loyalty to laws of honor.

Camp Fire Girls. For information apply to Camp Fire Girls, 461 Fourth Avenue, New York. Age, twelve years and over. Formed into groups of from 6 to 20 girls, each with a "guardian" who must be 21 years of age or over. The aim is to develop character by encouraging a natural outdoor life, a helpful home spirit and high ideals in a practical form.

Knights of King Arthur. For information address Mr. Daskom Forbush, Oberlin, Ohio. Boys of fourteen and upwards may join as pages. But it is better to start a Castle with boys of eighteen or more. This is a secret organization which teaches chivalry. The leader must have Christian character and boys must be given the task of being a big brother to certain boys to maintain their interest after the ritual has become familiar.

Go to Church Band. For information write to Mr. Clinton Alvord, 7 Summer St., Worcester, Mass. A popular way of encouraging children to attend church for periods of four months at a time. Attendance is kept by punching tickets or by dropping them in a box and perfect attendance is rewarded.

Mission Study Class. For information address Rev. Brewer Eddy, Congregational House, Boston, or Miss Mary Preston, Young People's Secretary for the Woman's Board of Missions, Congregational House, Boston; regarding Home Missions Miss Ona A. Evans, Congregational House, Boston.

Rural Y.M.C.A. For information address Mr. D. C. Drew, 167 Tremont Street, Boston, County Y.M.C.A. Secretary for the State.

Phi Alpha Pi. For information regarding this Greek letter fraternity address Mr. H. W. Gibson, State Boys' Work Secretary for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, 167 Tremont Street, Boston.

There will be literature and information regarding these organizations in the room at the State Conference where the exhibition of religious education is held.

We close our report with the following recommendation:

In view of the need of more aggressive and systematic work among the young people of our churches, we recommend the appointment of a State Secretary of Young People's Work, and that any money saved by the operation of the new plan of the Board of Pastoral Supply be devoted to this end.

REPORT OF
COMMITTEE ON THE REVISION OF RULES

The relation between the Conference and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society was referred to the Committee on Revision of Rules for its consideration. Some Congregational State organizations are assuming direct responsibility for those missionary activities which it has been our custom in this commonwealth to conduct through the agency of a separate home missionary society. A joint session of the Committee on Revision of Rules and the Executive Committee of the M.H.M.S. has been held for the discussion of the possibility of consolidation of the Conference and the M.H.M.S. As the result of that discussion the Executive Committee of the M.H.M.S. has appointed a sub-committee to confer further with the Committee on Revision of Rules of the Conference. One meeting of this joint committee has been held. We recommend that the Committee on Revision of Rules be continued for one year.

At the 1914 session of the Conference, the Committee on Revision of Rules was instructed to consider a plan for paying the traveling expenses of pastors who attend the Conference. The committee has this year given careful consideration to this matter. In the judgment of the committee to pay the expenses of pastors only would be to discriminate against those churches temporarily without a pastor. The assessment (about $2\frac{1}{2}$ cents per capita) necessary to pay the expenses of all the members of the Conference would lay an unwelcome burden upon many of the churches. The churches receiving home missionary aid form a distinct class, roughly though not exactly corresponding to the group of churches least able to pay the traveling expenses of their representatives. The committee therefore recommends that the Conference pay the traveling expenses of one representative (pastor or layman) from each church which receives financial aid from the M.H.M.S., and that the assessment upon the churches be increased one fourth cent per capita for this purpose. As the payment of the traveling expenses of a group of members must be regarded as an experiment rather than a fixed policy of the Conference, we recommend that the suggested action be taken by vote of the Conference without being embodied in the Rules.

Article III of the Rules, which concerns the doctrinal basis of the Conference, refers to the doctrinal statements of the National Councils of 1865 and 1883. Since the last date mentioned, at least two doctrinal statements of wide acceptance have been issued. It seems to the committee that this article ought to be made broad enough to include approval of all generally acceptable statements of doctrine made from time to time by the National Council without the necessity of adding a clause to express approval of each separate declaration of faith. In the appendix to this report will be found notice of a proposed amendment to Art. III. We recommend its adoption in 1917 as provided for in Art. XIV, Sect. 2.

The completion of the organization of the Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply suggested last year relieved the committee of further consideration of the proposed consolidation of the offices of Secretary of the Board of Pastoral Supply and Secretary of the Conference. We approve the change in the Rules suggested by the new Board, and recommend its adoption by the Conference.

A great deal of time has been consumed at past annual meetings of the Conference in acting upon proposed changes in Art. X, which enumerates the committees of the Conference. It is a difficult matter to specify in advance by a formal Rule the committees which will be necessary from year to year. It has many times been necessary to add the names of new committees to the list in Art. X, or to erase the names of committees once important but which changed conditions have made no longer useful. We feel that the efficiency of the Conference will be increased by altering Art. X, so as to leave to the Conference the designation of the particular committees to be appointed at each annual meeting. We recommend that the Rules calling for specific standing committees, save such as are needed for the business of the Conference, be abolished. Notice of the proposed amendment will be found in the appendix. It should be understood that this proposed action does not mean the abolition of the standing committees now provided for in Art. X. It simply provides an easier way than is now possible for creating new committees and dispensing with old ones as need arises.

The attention of the committee has been called to the desire of prominent laymen to have the business of the Conference concentrated in one or two sessions, so that delegates who are business men may attend all the business sessions without too prolonged absence from their home duties. We recommend that a rule be adopted, providing that, as far as possible, the business of the Conference shall be completed by noon of the second day. This arrangement would make Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning the principal business sessions of the Conference, leaving Wednesday afternoon for the session of the M.H.M.S., and the two evening sessions with the session of Thursday morning for inspirational programs.

H. GRANT PERSON, Chairman.
RAYMOND CALKINS.
DANA M. DUSTAN.
VICTOR J. LORING.
TYLER E. GALE, Secretary.

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Your Committee of the past year has given due regard to all matters that have come before them and present their brief report as follows:

Messrs. Packard, Bushnell and Thompson were elected Finance Committee for the year. The Treasurer's bond of $3,000 was renewed. Three persons declined to serve on committees to which they were elected by the Association, and E. V. Grabill, of Jamaica Plain, was elected to the vacancy on the Executive Committee, and Charles D. Kepner of Newtonville, and G. A. Whitney of Dorchester to the vacancies on the Committee on Men's Organizations.

It was voted that the printing of the Minutes be left with the Secretary, with the understanding that the limit be 1,800 copies.

It was also voted that the Secretary be empowered to fill any vacancies that may later occur.

A credit of $25 was voted for the Committee on Evangelistic Work, and $20 for the Committee on Young People's Work. The Secretary was authorized to secure a filing cabinet and cards at a cost of $12.

STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, baptisms, Sunday schools and families; the statistics of the Young People's Societies and Men's organizations; the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Association, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year-Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; "Prof." means professor; "C. M.," church missionary; "T.," teacher; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record, containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, marriages and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1915. Admissions, removals and baptisms cover the year 1914. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1915, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publication of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Installed" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i"; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

☞ All post-office addresses are to be found in the "List of Ministers," and NOT IN THE TABLES.

Note. — The "year" means what changes were comprised in the twelve months preceding January 1 of the year mentioned. The table was begun in 1866, all preceding years now given being compiled from past "Minutes," — the number of churches in some years varying from the "Minutes" as they were to what they should have been.

The changes in list of churches, ordinations, installations, etc., for the past year, condensed in the above table, are given in detail in their proper place.

* Prior to 1876 "acting pastors" are included in "others" in columns of deaths of ministers.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*).

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE. — If your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, if one Christian name is not given in full, if your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, if your post-office is wrong, or if before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or if your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

TREASURER'S report, 35.

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION OF CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERS

Dates from the earliest times of the colony. Annual business meeting in Boston at 5 P.M., on the last Wednesday in May. Addresses at 11 A.M., on the appointed day. At this service a collection is taken, which, with the income of the convention fund, is distributed to the needy widows and daughters of deceased Congregational ministers.

Every minister of a Congregational church in Massachusetts (whether Trinitarian or Unitarian) is ex officio a member of the convention.

There is a reporting committee of twenty-five, selected by counties throughout the state, by which recommendations are made to a central committee of seven, which decides on all applications for aid.

PERMANENT OFFICERS. — Rev. William E. Strong, Newtonville, scribe, and Rev. B. R. Bulkeley, Beverly, treasurer, to either of whom applications for aid may be addressed.

MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CHARITABLE SOCIETY

Incorporated in 1786. Organized to hold the funds of the convention. Composed of fifteen clergymen and fifteen laymen, elected from both branches of the Congregational body. Aids the needy widows and orphans of deceased Congregational clergymen who have had settlement in Massachusetts.

Applications for aid should be made to Rev. Edward Hale, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

DISTRIBUTION OF "MINUTES"

The "Minutes" are sent to the churches by direction of the Conference, with distribution of one copy to every minister, one to every church clerk, one to every Conference official or committee member, and one to each local Association official named within. As long as the edition lasts, other copies may be secured by Massachusetts Congregationalists without charge, and by others for twenty-five cents upon application to the Secretary, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass. It is suggested that every church preserve a copy of the "Minutes" with its other records.

That the suggestion of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches be adopted:

"That the Executive Committee of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference is hereby empowered and directed to confer with the authorities of other denominational bodies to ascertain whether there can be arranged, in the year 1920, a mutually satisfactory date for simultaneous meetings in central locations in each county, where the Protestant forces of the state may be assembled."

Whereas: Many church organizations, granges, public safety committees, social welfare organizations, city and town governments, boards of trade, and clubs have gone on record favoring War Prohibition, and

Whereas: This sentiment of the State was expressed by the great mass meeting at Tremont Temple and the impressive deputation which waited upon His Excellency the Governor, urging him to request the Legislature to memorialize Congress in favor of War Prohibition, and

Whereas: His Excellency has thus far failed to express his views on this matter either to the Legislature or to the public,

Resolved: That the State Conference of Congregational Churches in Convention assembled at Taunton, Mass., requests His Excellency to send a message to the Legislature at once in favor of War Prohibition.

Resolved: That the recent vote of Senators Lodge and Weeks against the prohibition of the use of cereals in the manufacture of intoxicants is not in accord with the most enlightened opinion and prevailing public sentiment in Massachusetts.

Resolved: That the Massachusetts State Conference of Congregational Churches now assembled in Convention at Taunton, Mass., urge our Senators who have done so much to further adequate preparedness not to neglect one of its most vital elements, namely, the elimination of a traffic which wastes not only our food products but also the health and efficiency of our people, and we likewise urge this upon the consideration of the Massachusetts members of Congress.

Resolved: That copies of these resolutions be sent to Senators Lodge and Weeks, our several Congressmen, and also to the press of the State.

Resolved: That the following action of this Conference be communicated to President Wilson, —

To President Woodrow Wilson.

Your Excellency: —

The Massachusetts Conference of Congregational Churches in session at Taunton vote to favor prohibition of use of cereals for the manufacture of intoxicants during the war period."

The Budget Committee made the following report, which was adopted:

The Budget Committee recommends that the churches through the local associations be asked this year for 8 cents per member. This is an increase of one half cent per member over last year's assessment. The recommendation is reluctantly made, but seems necessary in order to maintain properly the work without a deficit. The Committee recommends that the Conference pay the transportation expenses of those committees which are obliged to meet through the year.

The Committee renews the recommendation of the Budget Committees of the last two Conferences that the Treasurer of the Conference hereafter meet with the Committee to advise concerning matters of Conference finance.

The budget, based upon an assessment of 8 cents per member, is as follows:

National Council (4 cents)		$5,349.84
Board of Pastoral Supply (1½ cents)		2,006.19
Massachusetts Federation of Churches		600.00
Secretary's Salary		750.00

		$10,456.03

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference assembled at Taunton in annual session commends in the strongest terms the efforts to raise $3,000,000 for social, moral and religious welfare of our soldiers. We rejoice that in the army Y. M. C. A. so efficient an instrument is available for meeting the present emergency. We urge our churches to cooperate with army chaplains and with the army Y. M. C. A. in every possible way. In order that the aforementioned effort may have a fair opportunity for success, we demand that the government suppress brothels and other vicious resorts from the vicinity of army camps.

On the recommendation of the Business Committee, five minutes were then given to Rev. C. E. White, Boston, to speak about The Congregationalist.

The recommendation of the Committee on Revision of Rules regarding the date of meeting of the Conference of 1918 was then taken from the table.

After an informal vote, showing a desire to push forward the meeting, it was voted that the Conference of 1918 open its session on the afternoon of the third Monday in May, and that all rules inconsistent with this action be hereby suspended for one year, provided the change is agreeable to the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society.

It was voted that the Committee on Revision of Rules be continued for one year.

That Article III be amended by striking out the entire article and substituting the following:

"This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion."

The recommendation was adopted.

Resolved: That we call upon the Christian people of the Commonwealth to do their utmost both by precept and example to conserve the Lord's Day as one of rest, religious activity and spiritual growth.

Resolved: That we deprecate and protest against the repeated efforts to change this day into one of sports and pastimes, and commercial enterprises.

Resolved: That we call upon our Legislature to stand resolutely against the demands for such changes in the laws, as will lessen the moral and spiritual value of the Lord's Day to the people of this Commonwealth.

A resolution offered by the Alumni of Andover Seminary, assembled together at lunch this day:

THURSDAY MORNING

The session opened at 9 o'clock with worship conducted by Rev. C. F. Swift, Fall River, in the necessary absence of Rev. S. R. Fisher, Fall River.

At 9.15 the Conference was called to order by the moderator pro tem.

The minutes of Wednesday's sessions were read and approved as corrected.

The Business Committee reported the following recommendations, which were adopted:

To assist the Nominating Committee in making up their slate, it is directed that that committee, at least one month before the time of the annual conference, mail to all the pastors of the Commonwealth a request that they send to the committee names of laymen and lay-women and presidents of men's organizations, together with the names of committees for which they are deemed suitable.

The Massachusetts Congregational Conference, assembled in its 115th Annual Meeting at Taunton, May 15–17, 1917, suggests to the National Council in its next session that it adopt the proposal of the Commission on Missions that a great permanent Fund be provided as a suitable memorial to the Pilgrim Fathers of 1620, and that the first and chief feature of that fund be the provision of suitable pensions to Congregational ministers and their families of the United States.

That the place of the next meeting be left with the Executive Committee.

Resolved: That the Conference interpret as one of the tasks during the war the teaching by all church educational activities of the ideals of international conciliation and understanding, and that the Conference commend to the churches the "Program during the war" advocated by the American School Peace League and the letter to the churches of America from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, published in the Congregationalist of May 17, 1917.

Whereas: We believe that the Great War raises vital Christian issues and that it is the Christian duty of each church to be active in such phases of war remedial work as its conscience shall direct, and

Whereas: We believe that the following is the minimum of action which, as Christians, we are in duty bound to take, be it

Resolved: The Massachusetts Congregational Conference voices its approval of the humanitarian principles enunciated in President Wilson's Message to Congress of the third of April, nineteen hundred and seventeen, which principles involve the moral and spiritual issues which have driven us to hostilities; and be it Resolved: As a Christian body, this Conference affirm its faith in the ultimate triumph of human brotherhood.

Resolved: That the Conference direct the secretary to compile and mail to every church in the Conference, at an early date, a summary of all resolutions relative to the war passed by this session of the Conference.

Resolved: That the following request be printed at the top of this special circular: "The ministers of the churches are urgently requested by vote of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference to present these measures to their congregations in the most effective manner possible."

Rev. H. A. Manchester, Boston, then presented the work of the Massachusetts Bible Society.

The order of the morning was next taken up. Rev. F. W. Hodgdon, Boston, gave an address on "Protecting the Minister's Old Age." Mr. C. E. Mason, Boston, gave an address on "The Episcopal Pension Fund Campaign." Following the addresses there was a general discussion of the Annuity Fund.

The Business Committee gave notice of an amendment to Article X, Paragraph 2, Section (c), to read:

"(c) A Nominating Committee of seven, consisting of the retiring Moderator, or in his absence, of the retiring Vice-moderator, of each annual conference, together with six other members; two to be elected for three years, two for two years, and two for one year, and thereafter two annually for three years, which shall nominate all the officers of the Conference, and all committees not otherwise provided for in the Rules."

Upon recommendation of the Business Committee, the following resolution was adopted:

E. churches, the Baptist, Unitarian, and St. Thomas Episcopal churches, of the city, who cooperated with them in entertaining the Conference; to the Knights of King Arthur, for their helpful service; to the speakers and all others who in any way contributed to the interest, comfort, and success of the Conference.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

For the third time Taunton is host to the state body. In 1831, when the General Association was composed of ministers only, and in 1870, when the churches also were vicariously represented, this city welcomed a small company of the elect to its hospitality. Today, with democracy triumphant, hotel accommodations are at a premium. Within the half century, approximately, since the last meeting here, Massachusetts Congregationalism has increased its membership 78 per cent, and the Taunton churches 75. Our roll of churches, 603 last year, is now 608. Three new churches have been organized, Riverdale in Dedham, Hadwen Park and Swedish-Finnish in Worcester; the West Deerfield church is now officially reported by Franklin Association; and the secretary has counted Grace of Holyoke as a unit in the roll, although the apron-string of the mother church is still visible in the Year-Book schedule.

The Conference year has been the most fatal one on record for the ministry. Death has taken 29 names from the Massachusetts roll. One of these, Prof. Levi H. Elwell of Amherst, was only a licentiate, but as such had been a member of the Hampshire Associations for 36 years. The ordained men were chiefly veterans, their ages ranging from 48 to 93 and averaging 75. They were ordained at varying ages from 23 to 40, and the oldest at ordination was the youngest at death. Their ministerial career averaged 45 years. Three were pastors, George E. Lovejoy at Lawrence, South, since 1903; George F. Prentiss at Florence since 1911, and William L. Tenney, cut off by an automobile collision in the opening months of his work at Lee. Three were honorary pastors: DeWitt S. Clark had given 36 years to Salem Tabernacle, Edward C. Ewing, 16 years from 1883 to Danvers Maple Street, and John R. Thurston, 40 years to Whitinsville, and each had within recent years been made pastor emeritus. Two members of local associations were in pastoral service in other states, Charles O. Parker at Slatersville, R. I., and Edgar T. Pitts at Lisbon Falls, Maine. Two were on the missionary roll, Charles W. Kilbon, in retirement after 30 years in Africa, and Daniel Bliss, still serving at 93 at Beirut, Syria. Of the remaining 18, all but three had filled one or more pastorates in this Conference, and "having gifts differing according to the grace given them, they prophesied according to their proportion of faith." What a host of memories these names recall: Edward Anderson, James A. Bates, Lucius R. Eastman, Prescott Fay, Walter B. Flanders, Frank J. Grimes, Alan Hudson, Calvin B. Hulbert, Albert F. Newton, Charles R. Peacock Newton, George J. Pierce, Walter Rice, Martin L.

Richardson, Richard Scoles, Isaiah P. Smith, George F. Stanton, Edward P. Tenney, and Franke A. Warfield.

The gathering of statistics is no sinecure, and it was slower and harder this year than the present secretary has ever experienced. Three times in the past eight years a single church has prevented Massachusetts from presenting a complete report in the Year-Book. This year, with three churches getting in only in the proof-reading, there are five blank lines memorializing the absolute unresponsiveness of church officials to repeated requests for the usual information. For purposes of comparative tabulation, the church and Sunday-school enrolment and the property value of these five churches are inserted from last year's figures, and their benevolence is reported, of course, by the missionary treasurers. The churches as a whole took 1,205 days more for replying than the year before, and the missionary treasurers averaged 54 days instead of 46. It is not surprising, therefore, that Massachusetts was accused of holding up the Year-Book. Let us next year be innocent of the great transgression.

We have now 133,746 church members, a gain of 3,366. The men number 43,659, the women 90,087. This means that the increase of men was 1,549, and of women 1,817, a gain for the men of 3.7 per cent., and for the women 2.06 per cent.; which shows that the men are increasing their number nearly twice as fast as the women, and they have been doing it for eight years. In 1885 there was a reported gain of 3,375 in membership, 9 more than last year. But in 1884 there was a reported loss of 1,945. Careful examination shows that the loss was due to the omission from the totals of several churches which did not report, the real balance being the other way; and the next year when these churches did report again, their 1,500 swelled the real gain to twice the true size. In 1878 the excess of additions over removals was about 4,600, though the net increase reported was 3,995. In either case 1877 was our banner year for growth, and 1916 is a good second, with 1910 third. Our additions on confession have made a new record, 5,828, which is 78 more than last year. Additions by letter were 3,300, a number twice before exceeded, as is the total, 9,128. Removals by death were 2,040, by letter 2,735, and by revision 987, the smallest in 13 years, making the total of 5,762 the smallest in five years and below the average for this century.

In this century, also, it may be remarked, statistics have been made a matter of exact bookkeeping in the item of making state and national totals balance from year to year. But while some church clerks are painfully accurate, there are some who are not, and a higher power has to interpret their reports sometimes. Thus, if a church of 5 members discovers 8 bona fide names on its roll, there is nothing for the state secretary to do but credit it with 3 involuntary additions by letter. Or take this report of five years ago: " I wish to say that we have about 20 members now that are steady. We are without a pastor also. The church now is in a very poor situation and if we are without a pastor much longer it might be worse. The finance part is very poor. I hope you will see to all these things in a right way." Or take this report of the current year: "Our pastor has left us, and I think you had better report us the same as last year, only 20 members less."

The number of churches actually reporting zero in the number of additions on confession is 145, the smallest in many years. There are also the 5 silent churches and the one just quoted as losing 20 but which has always before reported good additions. If all these were without such additions, the number would be the same as last year, 151. Six of the 20 churches that have never before reported a convert to me have this year broken their continuity of ciphers. Notable among them are West Barnstable and Beechwood with 7 converts each, and Pigeon Cove with 20. Sixty churches received 25 or more on confession, 9 of them were above the 50 mark, and 4 above 75: Holyoke Grace, 124; Holyoke Second, 99; Dorchester Second, 86; Springfield First, 80. Adult baptisms have gone just 6 beyond the previous year, the number, 2,532, being the largest on record save for that remarkable year of 1877; and infant baptisms, 2,971, while 220 below the previous year, are well above all other records. The census of families is open to all kinds of estimate. Many churches do not attempt to count or report them. The latest count, 110,028, is 859 less than last year, but the omission of the count this year by one large church more than accounts for the deficit. Sunday schools have receded a little from last year's high mark, the total being 128,194, a loss of 1,763. Young people's societies stand at 25,145, a loss of 1,650. Men's organizations have gained 917, nearly 600 among the boys; and the totals are 19,203 men, 4,946 boys.

Benevolence shows an advance in every column. The grand total of $750,611 has only once been exceeded, in 1893, when a total of $852,000 was reported. This is the seventh year of the new system of reporting apportionment gifts, and it is gratifying to note that not only has chronic shrinkage been stopped but the total is actually the largest. Only two societies made new records, the Woman's Board beating its high mark of last year by 15 per cent, and Ministerial Relief going 47 per cent beyond all past records. But all the other societies gained for the year in varying amounts from $1,500 for the Sunday School Society to $3,300 for the American Board. The totals are: American Board, $91,328; Woman's Board $64,153; Education, $18,116; Church Building, $19,663; Home, $58,773; American Missionary, $36,835; Sunday School, $16,613; Ministerial Relief, $13,991; total, $319,472. Other denominational gifts were $112,057, and miscellaneous $319,082. In matters of local finance there was an apparent saving of $136,000, but there were 17 fewer churches reporting on this item, and West Newton did not include the cost of its new $200,000 edifice. The amount reported by 561 churches is $1,843,495. In property values there was an apparent increase of nearly a million dollars, but there were 9 more churches reporting. The total is $20,058,488.

The secretary officially represented the Conference at the West Barnstable tercentenary in August, and the moderator did the same for the Longmeadow bicentennial in October. The secretary wishes to thank the pastors and clerks who have responded to his request for manuals or other historical data. Material for the proposed tercentenary history is accumulating, but the filing case is far from full.

The undersigned, appointed to audit the books of the Treasurer of the Conference for the year ending April 30th, 1917, beg to report as follows:

All receipts shown on the books appear to have been deposited in bank to the credit of the Conference: Vouchers for all disbursements are in the hands of the Treasurer; $500 bond of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts registered in the name of the Conference is in his hands and has been exhibited to us; and we have seen a certificate of the Beacon Trust Company, of Boston, that the cash balance called for by the books as of May 1, 1917, was on deposit with that institution.

REPORT OF THE CONGREGATIONAL BOARD OF PASTORAL SUPPLY

REV. ARTHUR J. COVELL, SECRETARY

BOSTON, MASS. April 2, 1917.

The Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply respectfully presents its second Annual Report to New England states. This is, however, its first Annual Report to the entire six New England states. At the time of preparing the last report, Rhode Island had just become a constituent member of the Board, and at the May Conference last year, New Hampshire voted heartily to enter into cooperation with her sister states in the maintenance of our work. Although the last to come into the work, these two states have warmly welcomed the effort to make more effective the work of Pastoral Supply in New England. If the work of the new Board be considered a continuation of the former one, then this is the twenty-second Annual Report to the Massachusetts Conference.

Through increase in church membership two states gained enlarged representation on the Board of Directors. Massachusetts in her report announced more than 130,000 church members and therefore became entitled to an eighth director, and Connecticut exceeded 70,000 in membership and so was entitled to a fifth director. Three of the states adopted last year's recommendation that "in order to give sufficient stability to the Board we recommend that Directors be elected for a term of two or three years." Massachusetts elects her Directors for a term of four years, and Connecticut and Vermont elect for three-year terms.

Statistically the year breaks all past records of the Board's work. We continue to maintain the standard set for several years past and to report the last year as the best yet, but we must be near the maximum and can hardly hope to continue longer an annual increase in practically every part of the work.

In response to a direct official request we have rendered service pertaining to pastoral settlement to 341 churches, 31 more than ever before in one year. These churches are located in 27 states, 1 territory, beside several in foreign countries. Of these churches there were in Maine, 39; in New Hampshire, 42; in Vermont, 37; in Massachusetts, 136; in Rhode Island, 8; in Connecticut, 26; in New York, 7; in Michigan, 5; in California, 5; in Illinois, 3; in Kansas, 3; in Arizona, 2; in Florida, 2; in Iowa, 2; in Ohio, 2; in Oklahoma, 2; in Oregon, 2; and one each from Georgia, Hawaii, Indiana, Maryland, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, North Carolina, Texas, and Washington, besides 6 from foreign countries.

The above enumeration does not include the furnishing of occasional or temporary supplies, nor does it take account of commendations for teaching or secretarial positions. It is to be observed that there is an increase in the number of churches served in each of the New England states over the number of the previous year. In Rhode Island the number is double, and in New Hampshire, now next to Massachusetts in the number of churches served, is almost doubled, 42, as against 22 the previous year.

The number of known pastoral settlements in which the Board had an important part was 117. This compares with 100 for the year preceding, which at that time was a material gain over any other year. We have not included in this enumeration the securing through commendations from this office of women assistants and church helpers, but have confined the tabulation strictly to pastoral settlements.

Of the churches conferring during the year with the Board concerning the settlement of a pastor, 146 had less than 100 members; 124 had each from 100 to 300 in membership; while 71 had more than 300 in membership. Of these churches 99 paid salaries less than $1,000; 196 paid a salary of from $1,000 to $2,000; while 46 paid a salary of more than $2,000. The value of parsonage rent is included. The changes as compared with last year indicate an increase of 29% in the number of middle-class churches, those from 100 to 300 members, and of about 20% in the number with salaries from $1,000 to $2,000.

Opportunities for preaching were furnished during the year to 338 men, of whom 185 were candidates for settlement. With a large portion of these men the opportunity for preaching was repeated several times. This is a large increase in the number of men sent out and in the number of candidates. The number of occasional supplies, those having no reference to settlement, was 573. This also is considerably above the previous maximum.

The correspondence has shown a decided increase. Last year the total number of letters sent out from the office was 6,085, which was an increase of 600 over the previous year. This year the number is increased by 1,813, making 7,898.

One new item appears in the expense account. Since the Board now represents all New England, it was thought but just that the traveling expenses of the Directors to the Board Meetings should be met.

We have thus been able to conduct the first year of the New Board for less than was estimated. With the data at hand it was calculated that $4,000 was required from the State Conferences. A part of our saving has been to our disadvantage since we are not able to rent in the Congregational House the suitable additional space desired, and we have preferred to continue in our present limited quarters rather than change to another building. Likewise instead of engaging an extra helper for full time we have shared a stenographer with another office. However, the office rents in the Congregational House beginning April 1 have been raised, so that for our present limited quarters we must pay about $100 more next year. Likewise since the provision for paying Directors' traveling expenses did not go into effect at the beginning of the year, this item is likely to be about $100 more next year. The price of stationery, a considerable item, will be largely increased next year. When suitable additional space can be secured, the needs of the Board require it. There is also the need of a surplus in the Treasury, that all bills may be promptly met. It is, therefore, desirable that equal provision to that of last year be made for the Board's maintenance.

The constituent New England Conferences met their obligations for 1916 in a gratifying way. The Treasurer reports the following receipts from the different states:

Connecticut	$1,042.02	Total amount due for 1916.
Maine	318.61	Total amount due for 1916 plus $4.20 for 1917.
Massachusetts	1,942.56	Total amount due for 1916.
Vermont	344.68	Total amount due for 1916 plus $5.20 for 1917.
New Hampshire	294.21	Total amount due for the year ending May 1, 1917.
Rhode Island	75.00	Leaving a balance of $75.69 due for the year ending March 31, 1917.

The bills have been met monthly, and since, with one exception, the states had not remitted by April 1, dues for 1917, the Treasurer personally advanced $244.02 to meet the deficit then existing.

There has been a difference with the states in the statistics used for computing the 1½ cent per member. In order to secure uniformity it might be fair for the states beginning their year with the Board on January 1 to pay amounts called for by the statistics of the Year-Book then at hand, unless the states should prefer to change to the current year statistics near the time of the State Conference meeting, and thus secure uniformity in local accounts. Massachusetts has followed this method.

When a state begins her year with the Board later than the first of January, as in the case of Rhode Island and New Hampshire, then the amount due should properly be computed from the statistics of the current year, which are issued very near the time when the year of such states would begin.

As matters now stand, Maine, Connecticut and Vermont begin their years on January 1. Massachusetts begins its year with the Board on January 1, but changes the basis of payment May 1. Rhode Island's year begins April 1, and New Hampshire's year begins May 1.

The Secretary's travels during the year have taken him into a great portion of New England. He has been in northwestern Vermont on Lake Champlain near the Canadian border, and in southwestern Connecticut on the Sound very close to the New York boundary. He has been in the White Mountains region of New Hampshire and Maine, and in southern Rhode Island, and he expects to present this report in easternmost Maine. In all he has travelled on office business somewhat more than 8,200 miles.

These visits have been of special value. They have made it possible for the Secretary to come into personal touch with the men and conditions in different parts of New England. And it has been the rule that these visits have helped to remove misunderstandings, quickened interest in the work of the Board, and deepened confidence in its ability to lessen, on the part of ministers, the tragic elements in pastoral transfer, and to increase for churches efficiency in pastoral service.

The visits to the Theological Seminaries have been sources of pleasure and profit. Once a year the Secretary is accustomed to visit the four Congregational Seminaries of New England. This service may well be extended, and it has been suggested that it would be desirable to come into more direct relations with the nearly fifty Congregationalists enrolled this year in Union Seminary. To know the men at the very outset of their work is of great importance.

In the re-organization of the Massachusetts Board about four years ago, one of the new features introduced for the sake of making the work more democratic was the plan to ask each Association of Churches to appoint an Advisor to the Board. Such Advisor would have the two-fold function of reporting to the office concerning his own locality, and also of suggesting to the Board how its work might be made more effective in the churches of that locality. In the second re-organization, when the Board became a New England institution, this feature of Advisors was deemed of special importance. The plan has worked well as a whole and in many instances has been of peculiar value. The aim has been, through this feature of its work, to put the Board into closer relations with individual men, and to make it more responsive to the needs of individual churches. In Massachusetts each Association of Churches has an Advisor, and the Massachusetts Directors and Advisors have held three annual meetings in connection with the meeting of the State Conference. Last fall a meeting was held at New Britain and the Connecticut Directors and Advisors came together for conference. This year similar meetings are planned for the other New England states in connection with the State Conferences. In order to indicate the nature of the work with the Advisors, the letter recently sent to the Connecticut Advisors has been printed in the appendix to this report.

The question of ministers' salaries is one with which the Board has constantly to do. The action taken by one New England state in making the minimum Home Missionary salary $800 and parsonage, or equivalent, and of the National Home Missionary Society in endeavoring to raise the minimum salary of the churches under its charge to this amount, has had a stimulating effect upon the smaller churches of New England. The Board has had its full share in helping to bring individual churches up to this reasonable minimum. The great majority of the laymen of our churches have a sense of fairness, and many of them realize the inadequacy of the salaries of the ministers in the smaller fields. There are exceptions, and even in these times of high prices the Secretary has been solemnly assured by a thrifty church committee that a minister with a family could come to their town on $600 and parsonage and lay up money. It had been done in the past and could be again. The Secretary did not succeed in persuading that church to increase its salary, but in many other cases he has succeeded. Not all of these churches were of the smallest, but some of the large churches have discovered latent strength, and gained in real power by a more just and generous treatment of their minister.

There is a valuable work of standardizing in the matter of fees and salaries that the Board is able to accomplish. Some of the shortcomings of churches are due to the lack of knowledge of what churches in general are doing. Churches may properly expect a pastor to put himself wholly into the work. Under present conditions it is sometimes necessary that a minister should either fail to meet essential obligations, or that he should earn a little money in addition to his salary as pastor. If the churches have all of a man they need to pay a whole man's salary. To maintain the Congregational Ministry upon its traditional plane of mental equipment, we need to increasingly emphasize the necessity of a fair minimum salary.

It is worth while, however, to realize that with the ministry of our churches, salary, while recognized as important, is by no means chief. The Secretary knows instances where men have turned away from opportunities for greatly increased salaries because of a conviction that their duty lay with their present fields of loyal-hearted parishioners. The reply of one man, called to a conspicuous field where the larger salary was emphasized by the committee, was, " Gentlemen, I was in business before I went into the ministry. Had I desired salary I should have remained in business."

The question of dealing with unworthy men in the ministry is a difficult one, and it is not the function of our Board to determine what men are ecclesiastically unworthy. But when men have been found unworthy by some proper tribunal, the knowledge of that fact will be of great and saving value to the churches. Likewise there are certain lapses which make it doubtful whether a man's usefulness is not ended in the ministry; the Board cannot pass judgment in many of these cases, but it can refer to original sources of knowledge so that the inquiring church can determine fairly the matter. The care of the Board in looking up the standing of men has been of great value to the churches. A little inquiry concerning the Board's records would have saved some churches from great tribulation.

The years of a man's life are exceedingly interesting to church committees if the man chances to be a minister. Some time ago the Secretary published a little leaflet on "Age in the Ministry" in which he said, "The Secretary has frequent occasion to say to church committees that a man's power in the ministry is not necessarily diminished by the fact that he is fifty years of age. For the purposes of spiritual leadership, the most desirable qualities of youth may often be found in those past fifty, and may be lacking in those under that age. Even the young people in a church may find in the wise charity that is long-suffering but kind a quality of leadership far more helpful than that which comes from an inexperienced comrade. What the churches want in their leader is the power of growth, of fresh adaptation, of new insight, of buoyant hopefulness, of spiritual vision, and of capacity for sustained work. It is a great mistake to conclude that the spiritually valuable qualities of youth disappear at a certain age."

Some churches give age and experience their due in the ministry. One church official recently remarked that he did not care to hear a man preach unless he was past forty. A committee of a prominent church said recently that they desired for pastor a man at least fifty-two. But these are exceptional instances.

There is much to be said, however, in extenuation of the action of churches in general when we consider the effect of age upon certain ministers. The real secret of success in the ministry lies more in personality than in fewness of years, more in the ideals cherished and the methods followed than in youthfulness. An interesting letter from a church committee man received while this report was being prepared reads as follows:

"We would like to try a young man just out of Seminary, one, as I told you when in your office, who has the making of a Beecher or a Storrs, without a defect of any sort; perfect physically, morally, in temperament, and spiritually; a man worth a salary of $5,000, but anxious to find a hard place full of crosses, and at a minimum salary. This is what we want, but we will take what you send us and be thankful for that."

We are grateful for the distinction between desire and expectancy shown by such kindly correspondents as this one. We appreciate the considerate recognition of the limits within which our activity lies. A goodly number of our correspondents among the churches realize that the Board cannot altogether fashion the ministry to the specifications of the churches. And we are grateful likewise for the reasonable attitude so many of our ministers take toward a new field, and who do not demand that the Secretary become a modern wonder-worker, and revolutionize straightway the convictions and methods of the churches.

As pastor, the Secretary has had parishioners from time to time who needed to be carefully guarded lest they give more money to the church and its benevolences, and more energy to church work than they ought. The Secretary is glad to bear testimony also to the fact that he has known ministers whose interests needed to be guarded lest they take a smaller salary than there be occasion to take and a more modest field than the interests of the Kingdom require.

A question which the Secretary of this Board is called upon frequently to consider with young men is what kind of a field should a young man have for his early work in the ministry after his preliminary training is completed and the days of his student pastorates are over.

It is to be said that it is but fair in the ministry as in any other calling that a man should do his apprenticeship work. We are met by the difficulty that our young men want a man's job, and sectarianism often robs them of this in the small field. Unfortunately there are many fields that never sink so low, as some one has said, as to lose the grace of sectarianism. But increasingly, in some sections at least, the small fields offer opportunities that only a man's best can meet.

It is a fair question whether a man has demonstrated capacity for a larger field until he has revealed stability as well as ability. A man can hardly gain an adequate comprehension of the real meaning of pastoral service until he has remained more than three years in one field.

Again, there are places where, to use a military term, only hardened veterans should go. To send unseasoned recruits to that point would spoil good soldiers in the making.

Two conditions would seem to be needful in a man's early ministry for his best development. The first, that he may have a consciousness of doing a really constructive work, that he is actually meeting the real spiritual needs of his people. He needs a warm atmosphere in which his own latent spiritual energy may be nourished. Lacking this during this early formative period, the real power of his whole future ministry may be lessened. Later parishes make less difference, but earlier ones have decisive influence over a minister's development.

A second needful condition in an early pastorate is that the young man have sufficient time in which to find himself in the work, and to lay up reserves of knowledge and experience. Very few men can do justice both to themselves and their work if they attempt the pastorate of a large city church before they have had a good degree of experience in the ministry.

There is danger of bankruptcy, intellectual and physical, not to say spiritual, in such a venture.

These two things, a great missionary purpose, and an adequate training and experience for the work at hand, seem essential for success, both present and ultimate. To aid in the work of finding the place where ministers may feel that God has summoned them, and to assist churches to find men who will make their members feel that their highest enthusiasm is to be shown in glorifying their Father which is in Heaven, is a great satisfaction in the work of the Board of Pastoral Supply.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MISSIONARY WORK

The total benevolences of the churches of the state for last year, over $750,000, were according to the state Secretary the largest ever recorded, except for the year 1893. Of this total $319,472 were contributed to the denominational societies. This amount was an increase over 1915 of $26,037, and more than in any previous year since 1909. However, in that and preceding years, gifts to "kindred objects" were listed under the societies and that elastic term undoubtedly covered many sums which never went through the societies' treasuries. From a denominational, as well as a general, standpoint, therefore, last year was a most gratifying one for benevolences in our state.

The causes of this gain were probably varied. The total includes miscellaneous gifts from two Worcester churches amounting to over $150,000. But the occurrence of the Laymen's Missionary Movement conferences in the fall and winter of 1915-16 is doubtless one cause for the substantial gain in denominational benevolence.

The apportionment plan, which has now been in operation for ten years, seems to be growing in favor among the churches. At the annual conference with chairmen of the Associational Committees, held by your state committee last October, there was a very marked spirit of sympathy with the plan. The reports showed increase in the number of churches cooperating in the plan and a genuine desire to make it more effective.

While the plan has come to be generally recognized as the right method for raising our benevolent contributions, it cannot be said that the results, in Massachusetts at least, have borne out the hopes held when it was inaugurated. The returns for the denominational societies have been fluctuating. The gain of last year over 1911 was only $5,187. Each year from 1912 to 1915 inclusive, showed a loss in contributions for the denominational societies over the preceding year. Moreover, your Committee has not hitherto divided the entire apportionment to Massachusetts among the Associations of Churches.

In view of these facts and of the tercentenary program, the time has come for a renewed drive on the part of our churches toward the goal of $2,000,000. Your committee, therefore, decided to increase the apportionments to the Associations by four equal installments. The first was added last fall to such Associations and in such amounts as it seemed the Associations might reasonably accept. If any Association that had been doing well is inclined to think that it has been penalized, thereby, the committee earnestly hopes that it will reconsider this opinion and recognize that it has been given honorable recognition. The highest reward of faithful service is more service. " Thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will set thee over many things."

The pressing need of the time in this matter is information and inspiration. Our churches need to get a clearer vision of the great and glorious work before them and then " to highly resolve " that, by service and sacrifice they will reach the goal.

Your Committee would urgently renew two recommendations often made.

First, the " Every Member Canvass " is the best method yet devised for raising the budgets. It works when it is worked. Every church which has carried it out in a thorough-going manner is enthusiastic over it. Plan carefully several weeks in advance. Secure a list of all individuals who should contribute. Organize a large committee of visitors. Train them carefully by one or more conferences. Impress upon them that they are not beggars but fellow members bearing the greetings of the church and making it possible for each one most easily to have his share in the common work. Send letters in advance advising the people that they are to be called upon during certain hours on a given Sunday. Ask them to arrange for someone to be at home during the appointed hours. Inclose summaries of last year's work and expenditures and statement of the current budgets. At the Sunday morning service on the day of the canvass, call the visitors before the pulpit and consecrate them for their spiritual service with prayer. Then they will return to the church that evening not only bringing the subscriptions but rejoicing in their happy experiences. The scattering subscriptions, which cannot be gotten at first, should be tactfully followed up during the next week or two. Let any sceptical church try the canvass in some such fashion and it will be amazed at the results. One church reports an increase in weekly offerings this year through this method from $88 to $150, or over 70 per cent.

Second, this systematic and business like way of raising money must be supplemented by the giving of information and the stirring of enthusiasm in every way possible,— through missionary meetings, missionary speakers, study-classes, stereopticon and possibly moving pictures and dramatic representations. System should not supplant and cannot supply interest and enthusiasm.

Your Committee is ready to respond to requests from associations and churches for help in any way that may be possible.

We ask for a continuance of the appropriation of $100, as voted in recent years, for the expenses of the Committee.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MORAL AND SOCIAL WELFARE

Shortly after the last conference attention was called to a situation in the Licensing Board of the City of Boston which seemed to call for action on the part of your Committee. Mr. Robert A. Woods has for many years been the head of the South End House of Boston, a social settlement which has a national reputation. Mr. Woods has been a sane reformer, a thoroughly scientific investigator, and a man who has studied city problems until he grasps them as few men do in the city. When Mr. Foss was governor he named Mr. Woods a member of this licensing board of the city. Every effort was made by the liquor interests of the state to defeat him for confirmation by the council, but happily these efforts failed. Two years after Governor Walsh nominated Mr. John R. Gow, a business man of Boston, of high respectability, but supposedly liberal tendencies, to membership on the same board. Cooperating with Mr. Woods the board, after careful study, adopted a code of regulations which were not at all satisfactory to the liquor interests. The public were safeguarded in their rights, licensees desiring to conform to the law were perfectly satisfied, and at last the liquor business in Boston was brought under a system of surveillance and regulation which seemed to cut it off from prostitution and other evils which had been inseparably associated with it.

In the last year of Governor Walsh's administration he was appealed to to hold up the effort of the Licensing Board to decrease drunkenness and eliminate prostitution from licensed places. Governor Walsh positively refused, and is reported to have said, when threatened with defeat, that if he could not be elected without the help of prostitutes he preferred to be defeated. It was intimated to him that already proposals had been made to the liquor interests to divert their support to the Republican candidate. Charles S. Baxter, Governor McCall's campaign secretary, a few days before the Governor's inauguration, told Mr. Gow, the chairman of the Board, that the liquor interests were dissatisfied with Mr. Woods as a member of the Board, and asked him if a change would not be desirable. Mr. Gow stated that in the public interest such a change should not be thought of for a moment. In February, Mr. Gow heard from a reliable authority that Mr. Woods was not to be re-appointed by Governor McCall, and that his successor would be designated as Chairman of the Board, with the expectation that this would be considered as an insult to Mr. Gow, and force his resignation. The person giving this information said that this plan had been suggested by Colonel Pfaff, president of the Massachusetts Brewing Company, who had been most vigorously opposed to the policy of the Board.

The new member to succeed Mr. Woods, who was also designated as Chairman by Governor McCall, was Fletcher Ranney. Mr. Ranney was a former partner of the leading attorney of the Massachusetts Brewing Company, a relative of the best known lobbyist in the state, and having other questionable facts in his record. He was just the kind of a man that the liquor interests wanted.

The Committee was convinced that this change on the Licensing Board of the City of Boston was brought about by a deal in which the liquor interests and Mr. McCall's campaign manager were brought together into very close relations. As was expected, Mr. Gow resigned when Mr. Woods failed of re-appointment, and he himself was demoted from the chairmanship. Members of your Committee sought an interview with the Governor, laid these facts before him, and asked him to appoint Mr. Woods to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. Gow. This he said would be a virtual confession that he was wrong in not re-appointing Mr. Woods. He was assured that confession was good for the soul. The Governor gave no reason for his failure to re-appoint Mr. Woods, but suggested that we name some good church man for his consideration. This we refused to do, as with Mr. Ranney and Mr. Dean on the Board, no church man would have any chance in formulating a policy on the lines laid down by Mr. Gow and Mr. Woods. Later, the Governor appointed Mr. William M. Prest, once a social worker, now engaged in the banking business, to the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Gow.

We wish to acknowledge here the courtesy with which the Governor received the members of the Committee, but we are convinced that the Licensing Board of the City of Boston was re-organized in the interests of those who were supreme in the liquor business of Massachusetts, that Governor McCall's campaign manager, Mr. Baxter, had something to do with it, and that the Governor was the victim of a very questionable transaction. Whether he was innocent or knowing of the facts before the appointment of Mr. Ranney, your Committee would not state, but all these facts were brought to his attention, and they have never been successfully refuted.

It would be well if the Conference should put itself on record concerning this matter. We expect these things from those who are at present in control of the Democratic party in the state. But if the Republican party is to do the bidding of the liquor interests of the state, we may as well know it, and act in the light of it.

NEGRO MIGRATION TO THE NORTH

Perhaps the most important industrial movement of the past year has been the unprecedented exodus of Negroes from the South to the industrial centers of the North. It is estimated that more than 200,000 Negroes have left the South since Jan. 1, 1916. New England has received its full share of these migrants.

Among the causes of the exodus may be mentioned the urgent demand for all kinds of laborers in the North and the various forms of rank injustice which the Negro people have suffered in the South for so many years. It is notable that the exodus has been heaviest from those states in which lynching has been expecially prevalent within recent years, Georgia and South Carolina for examples. Again the destitution and distress resulting from the ravages of the boll weevil and the destructive floods of last summer in many districts of the South must be put down as prominent causes. Greater suffering than has ever been known before among the poorer classes is reported from these districts.

The method of the exodus has been tumultuous and without system or discrimination. The agents sent out by large employers of labor have as a rule sought to get quantity rather than quality, hence the glowing inducements held out to all classes and the flocking to the North of much of the riff-raff and unreliable among those who have come. This will necessarily impose new problems upon the North. The corporations which import these laborers by the thousands lose interest in many of the men when they drift away as many of them do shortly after arriving in the North. Added to this drifting class are the hundreds who have been attracted North by the tales of good money. The latter come without even the assurance of work and without the knowledge of how to go about securing it. It is also true that the newcomers experience great difficulty in finding housing accommodations suited to their circumstances and needs.

The experience of the Pennsylvania railroad as brought out by two speakers at the recent National Conference on Negro Migration in New York showed the enormous wastage in importing colored labor when done unintelligently. The road brought up 12,000 men for work on its tracks, and only 2,500 have remained on the job. Instead of selecting its men for employment in the North the railroad merely sent " criers " through the streets of Savannah announcing that a train was waiting at the station to take North free all Negroes who wanted work.

Other employers have been more fortunate in their methods of getting labor. At the same conference a representative of the Erie Railroad stated that he had brought 1000 men North and that most of them were still working for the company. He selected his men carefully, told them what would be expected of them and what wages they would receive, and advanced them their transportation expenses for return later from their wages.

The chief of police of the Lukens Iron and Steel Works testified that he had brought up 1000 men from the South in lots of 50 and 100 men to his company's plant in Coatsville, Pa., and that the company had shown a special interest in the social and moral welfare of its employees. A barracks had been erected for the housing of the men, and social and religious meetings were held at regular intervals. Ample means for their recreation had also been provided. This company had had very gratifying success with its Negro employees.

All this means that the results of this experiment with colored labor in the North will depend largely upon the method of selection used by the recruiting agents and the treatment which the laborers are accorded when they are here.

Another important factor which will have a big influence in determining the results will be the attitude of the labor unions toward this new Negro element. Just what this attitude is to be remains to be seen. But it is well known that the movement is being watched by unionism with very jealous eyes. And there is much in the present situation which is indicative of an unfriendly attitude on the part of organized labor.

Again the commercial and industrial reaction which is sure to come at the close of the war will have a decided effect upon the future status of the colored laborer in the North. With this reaction will come a pronounced slump in the now urgent demand for laborers. Whether the newcomers will find themselves prepared for such an emergency is an open question.

The question as to what can be done to aid these southern emigrants to a normal adjustment to their new environment in the North is a very vital one. In this important work the Negro Church will find a big opportunity and quite naturally take the most prominent part. But white churches and other benevolent and charitable organizations may here give very material aid. In Detroit, Mich., a weekly meeting was planned with the purpose of bringing the newcomers in touch with the Negro colony there. In another community to further the prevention of crime among the colored people, the appointment of a few Negro policemen and detectives has been advocated. It has also been suggested that lunch hour talks be made at factories employing colored labor with the purpose of acquainting the new arrivals from the South with the way of living, and preserving health in the northern cities and with the qualities of punctuality, regularity, etc., demanded by employers. Such talks have produced good results already in several places. Where there are no colored churches the holding of religious meetings specially planned for the colored people, and where it is deemed advisable the organization of missions for them will be a most helpful service. At Holyoke, Mass., where upwards of one hundred or more Negro laborers have been employed recently by the Worthington Pump and Machinery Corporation, special services have been arranged for them at various churches.

These Negro emigrants may be divided into two general classes, viz.: those who come North at the instance of some employer and who find assured work awaiting them and those who drift North of their own initiative and who arrive friendless, often penniless and ignorant of the methods of securing employment. For the latter class, where the numbers warrant, there is need of a bureau which would provide employment and also suitable housing facilities.

The Conference on Negro Migration held in New York in January under the auspices of the National League on Urban Conditions Among Negroes, adopted among other things the following resolutions: That in the North organizations be urged to take action which shall seek to instruct the Negro migrants:

(a) As to dress, habits and methods of living necessary to withstand the rigors of the northern climate.

(b) As to efficiency, regularity and application demanded of workers in the North.

(c) As to the danger of dealing or going with unscrupulous or vicious persons and of frequenting questionable resorts.

(d) As to opportunities offered by the towns and cities of the North in schools, hospitals, police protection and employment.

(e) As to facilities offered by the Church, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and other organizations.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FEDERATION

It is undeniable that Federation is a cause which depends more upon large intelligence than upon popular enthusiasm. With the average person those loyalties are most appealing which are competitive in character. That our cause is progressing despite the lack of common devotion to non-competitive ideals is reason for encouragement. It is not yet apparent to all that, though the same volume of water may be conveyed by a score of small streams that would be discharged by one of twenty times their size, the force and efficiency of the larger stream, when directed to certain kinds of work would greatly exceed that of all the smaller ones. For example, when it is desired to effect changes in communal life, officers of the law who are indifferent to divided protests or incitements, immediately respond to united ones. Communities unaffected by the several organizations of Christians acting separately, are impressed by collective demonstrations of Christian sentiment or purpose.

Psychologically considered, Federation is one of the noblest forms of pageantry for emotional effects upon the crowd. The world has not yet learned that the great popular impression made by modern revivals is largely due to their dramatic demonstration of a Federal Church. To render such fitful demonstrations constant, comprehensive, and intelligent is our problem.

A recent survey in Ohio showed one rural church to every 286 people. Nearly two-thirds of them are without a resident pastor. One township has nine churches for 846 people. Seven hundred churches employ no minister. While the case is less serious in Massachusetts, it is serious enough. " The chief contribution of Federation," writes Dr. Emrich, " is the creation of an atmosphere favorable to all forms of co-operation." Within the year, two Congregational churches in as many communities have federated with other churches in the support of one pastor. In one town, representatives of six denominations met for conference over the needs of the community as affected by church organization and activity. There have been new local federations formed at Danvers, Easthampton, etc. The recent federated church at Hyannis is the sixteenth of its class in the state; and further mergers, in increasing numbers, are in contemplation.

The Secretary of our Board of Pastoral Supply, whose duties require wide acquaintance with conditions throughout Massachusetts, believes that the interest in Federation is everywhere increasing. It has been found thus far most practicable for Congregationalists to combine with Baptists, Methodists and Universalists, though many other denominations are responsive.

The Committee has received many testimonies from pastors, of which the following is typical:

" There are seven churches whose houses of worship are within the limits of the township of M. These seven churches have six pastors. At present, one of these takes no practical interest in our organization, though occasionally participating in a union service. The other five of us maintain an informal sort of organization, with no rules and by-laws to hamper us, and no officers but permanent chairman and secretary. We meet irregularly on call of the officers. Last year, for the first time in the history of M, we held in the Unitarian church, which has the oldest, largest and most conveniently situated church edifice, a union Sunday evening service which we called " Education Sunday " service, but which we might have called a baccalaureate service for the high school. There is no religious exercise of any kind in connection with our high school graduation, not even a prayer at the public exercise. We had the sympathetic consent of the school authorities. We plan to repeat it the coming year.

The year before, for the first time in the history of the town, the pastors of the First Parish (Unitarian) and the First Evangelical Congregational churches exchanged pulpits, the Unitarian pastor taking as his text, " He that has seen Me hath seen the Father," the Congregational pastor, " What think ye of the Christ? " At the request of the Unitarian congregation, the sermon was printed in the Christian Register, and in pamphlet form by the Unitarian Association, for free distribution. These are little things, perhaps nothing that you care for, but they mean very much to this community. The spirit of harmony which actually exists among the churches is most delightful; it is not too much to say that in the long history of the town, it was never more so than today.

Only words of approval and encouragement have come to us from those who have expressed views upon the progress of the movement. While the period of agitation and of patient waiting has not passed into that of concerted and spontaneous activity, we feel that the efficient Massachusetts Federation, admirably officered as it is, if sustained by local churches with an adequate revenue, holds the key to large success. We bespeak for its treasury a prompt and generous share in our budget. It does not appear unreasonable to expect some contribution annually from every church in the state.

Among the incidental proofs of the established position of Federation in the public regard, we mention the fact that the Commission to Compile Information and Data for use in the Constitutional Convention soon to assemble, have, under the seal of the state, addressed to all Federations of Churches in Massachusetts, requests for suggestions as to the scope and character of legislation touching moral, religious, and social welfare.

Most of all do we urge upon pastors the frank discussion of Federation with their several congregations and with neighboring ministers in other communions.

CHARLES H. OLIPHANT,
For the Committee on Federation.

We append a brief report of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, Committee on Evangelism, by Dr. Neil McPherson.

The Committee on Evangelism has had several meetings during the year and has made marked progress. The Committee is composed of the following clergymen:

Neil McPherson, Congregational, Chairman.
Earl F. Harold, Friend, Scribe.
C. O. Farnham, Advent Christian.
A. C. Archibald, Baptist.
Carey, W. Chamberlin, Baptist.
Thomas C. Richards, Congregational.
Charles W. Locke, Evangelical.
John A. Hamilton, Methodist Episcopal.
Ernest Lyman Mills, Methodist Episcopal.
F. Sidney Mayer, New Jerusalem.
W. W. Iliffe, Presbyterian.
C. H. Blodgett, Protestant Episcopal.
Charles F. Jackson, Protestant Episcopal.
George E. Leighton, Universalist.
Samuel M. Crothers, Unitarian.

The Committee is very representative. It certainly promotes a spirit of fellowship. Every member has been surprised at the amount of Evangelism advocated and planned for by the other denominations. We are working for a state-wide interdenominational Evangelism. We believe that the churches ought to get together in vital truths implied in our common Christianity and make them triumph in all democracy. We are definitely working state-wide cooperation along the following lines:

(a) Rally Days in the Autumn.

(b) To encourage every church member to work in the church's responsibility district so that every one living in a town or city will be visited by a church member and interested in a church. This is the Church's business and we must attend to it. This is personal evangelism that counts.

(c) To encourage ministers making some plans whereby they shall give an opportunity as frequently as possible to non-Christians to declare themselves for Christ. The Church ought to carry on an offensive campaign for Christ.

(d) To foster a spirit whereby young men and women will be attracted towards some definite form of Christian service — the ministry, the mission field, social service in settlement work.

(e) We believe that more use ought to be made of the Lenten period, ending in impressive services on Easter Day. Many ministers have special services during Lent, and others have daily services during Holy Week.

The Committee has unanimously agreed that " Go-To-Church Sunday " at the beginning of Lent is one of the fittest days that can be so used.

NEIL McPHERSON, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RURAL CONDITIONS.

Your Committee in previous years has investigated the rural problem, and the place and opportunity of the Church in relation to that problem. It has made recommendations and outlined programs. The time has come, in the opinion of the present Committee, for definite action.

Your Committee is so fully convinced of the seriousness of the situation regarding the future of the rural church and its usefulness, and is also so thoroughly convinced of the pressing opportunities and possibilities, that we feel a very far-reaching and fundamental effort should immediately be inaugurated.

Your Committee feels that it is absolutely essential to reinforce the effort being made by the Federation of Churches in this state to get the small churches in the small communities federated in a community church, and to furnish adequate leadership for that church. This, in the opinion of the Committee, involves the raising of a large sum of money, the income of which shall be used to aid churches in obtaining such adequate leadership. We feel that the quality of leadership must be of the highest, so that it can meet the needs of the community not only from the point of view of the preacher and pastor, but also from the point of view of the community builder, who shall reinforce and direct and inspire the splendid efforts now being made in so many communities under the leadership of the county, state and national organizations and institutions. In order to acquire such leadership, your Committee feels that it will be necessary to secure the ablest men, assuring them sufficient compensation to enable them to choose the field of the country church as their life work, so that this field, equally with the city church, may attract the ablest young men of our colleges and universities.

In the opinion of your Committee, the recommendation to be submitted to the State Conference by the Hampden Association of Ministers should receive your serious consideration, being right in line with what we have in mind for the country church.

We recommend that the Conference authorize the Moderator, in conjunction with the new Committee on Rural Conditions and such others as the Conference may approve, to appoint a committee, which shall include a number of prominent Congregational laymen, to take up this practical problem as it may deem feasible; suggesting, furthermore, that such a committee endeavor to secure the appointment of similar committees in other denominations to work jointly on this proposed undertaking.

Finally we suggest that immediate steps be taken to raise a Congregational fund of $500,000, or an interdenominational fund of $1,000,000 to be administered by broad-minded laymen for the carrying on of this work.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

A good gardener does not plant seeds and abandon them. Neither does a good church implant truth and then allow its young people to shift for themselves as they seek to make truth live. Perhaps the majority of us have been dividing one task into two and thinking of the Sunday school as the agency for imparting spiritual truth and the young people's organizations as the agencies for expressing spiritual truth. With many one seems to be considered a distinct task of the Church while the other is left to the young people with comparatively little supervision or cooperation on the part of the Church, which might be likened to a high school teacher giving a lesson in science and then turning his pupils into the laboratory unattended.

With all of this in mind, two committees have been made into one, in order that the task itself might be made one in theory and in practice and it is our hope and recommendation that every church in the state may soon have its Committee of Religious Education for directing all of the agencies for training our young people whether on the impressional or the expressional side.

Feeling the lack of proper emphasis upon the work of the young people in the average church, the Committee determined for a season to magnify this side of Religious Education.

To this end the conference for our Congregational Churches at the State Sunday School Convention,— which is our best opportunity for reaching the teachers and leaders from every church, was entirely given over to the consideration of Organized Work for Young People and a splendid program was prepared for the Holyoke meeting. In spite of the epidemic of infantile paralysis, which necessitated the shift to Boston on short notice, an excellent conference was held, attended by over two hundred. Mr. Sears presided and Messrs. Owen, Bennett, and Clapp, together with Miss Slattery, directed some very profitable discussion.

The Conference in Cambridge was used in a similar way and a very effective exhibit of work actually being done was arranged by Miss Cole. The present year with its sobering experiences and unusual demands makes this same note still more imperative and the conference at Taunton is to be a timely one, devoting the larger part of its program to considering the problem, "What Young People May Do to Help in the Present Crisis."

Various handicaps have been met during the year, including the loss of the secretary of the Committee, Rev. Carl Stackman; Mr. C. R. Hayward, state president of the Y. P. S. C. E., being appointed to the vacancy on the Committee.

Your Committee desires to offer the following suggestions which seem to them helpful:

THE REVISED PILGRIM STANDARD should be read, marked and inwardly digested by every Pastor and leader in Sunday school work and every teacher of teachers. This Standard, which was adopted by our State Conference in 1913, has been thoroughly revised and is a splendid setting forth of the commonly accepted ideals of Religious Education approved by our Sunday School Publishing Society and the National Council. Copies may be had at the Taunton Conference.

The Report of the Committee on Young People's Work appointed by Sunday School Council of Evangelical Denominations in the Pilgrim Teacher for April is very suggestive.

Attention is called to the new arrangement whereby the Rev. Arthur W. Bailey is made the New England Secretary of our Sunday School and Publishing Society, thus making him accessible to the churches of the state for valuable service as a counsellor in all matters of Religious Education.

The Extension Courses offered by Boston University in a special bulletin are already being carried on in five cities.

Finally, with a view to emphasizing one of the most significant experiments which is being made for the purpose of making Religious Education a matter of more serious moment, we submit the valuable report of a sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. Clapp, Parkinson and Stackman, whose special field for investigation was Weekday Religious Education.

There are three plans now in force for religious education supplementary to the public schools or to our customary Sunday schools which we feel should be called to the attention of our churches.

1. Public School Credit for Outside Bible Study. This has been developed widely in the West and South. It is found in thirty states and is explained in a book with the title as in the paragraph heading by Clarence A. Wood of Albany, N. Y. This plan would probably be favorably regarded by many of our high schools where a sufficient demand is expressed, since many schools are already allowing credit for other work done outside.

2. College Entrance Requirements. Bible readings are sometimes included in the English requirements for college entrance. These two plans have the advantage of bringing a minimum of Biblical knowledge to some who would not otherwise feel impelled to the study of the Bible and also would tend to make the work of some of our Sunday school classes more thorough, but it might lack the religious motive and reaction which would be secured in a systematic scheme of voluntary Bible study in our churches These plans are also usually limited to students of high school age.

3. The "Gary Plan." This provides for religious instruction at certain weekday hours, the children being excused from the public schools for those times. It is sometimes called the Gary Plan, but is by no means limited to that particular scheme of school organization. Such a program is the most promising and would probably meet little opposition on the part of school authorities. The difficulty would lie in the lack of preparation on the part of the churches as to suitable curriculum or trained teachers. The graded lessons are a long step toward the first lack and the second need is being met by very successful community training schools for teachers maintained this past winter in Malden, Lowell, Hyde Park, and Braintree, with an enrollment of 1900 under the direction of the faculty of Boston University cooperating with local councils. Catalogs may be obtained while they last from Professor Athearn, 54 Converse Avenue, Malden. Every church committee on Religious Education should secure from the Pilgrim Press "Malden Leaflets" 1 and 2 (Religious Education and American Democracy, 15 cents; Correlation of Church Schools and Public Schools, 35 cents).

The adoption of systematic weekday religious instruction by Protestant church schools would also disarm those who point to the absence of such supplementary work as evidence that public schools are Protestant schools. To make the plan acceptable the churches must get together, emphasizing the ircommon ground and reserving so far as possible their differences for their Sunday schools. Such weekday schools of religious education for all the Protestant churches are an imperative necessity of the immediate future, but they cannot be successfully established without the preparation of thorough training schools for teachers and leaders.

The most comprehensive and scientific study ever made of this whole matter of "Weekday Religious Instruction" has been prepared by Prof. B. S. Winchester, and is included in a volume of the "Library of Christian Cooperation" published for the Federation of Churches by the Missionary-Education Movement. The volume in which this survey appears is entitled "Cooperation in Christian Education." ($1.00.)

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON POLITY

The Committee on Polity for 1912–13 submitted an extended report on questions then being considered by our churches throughout the country. These were discussed at length by the Massachusetts Conference that year, 1913. The conclusions of the Conference, as expressed by its votes on twelve questions, in the main agreed with the votes of the National Council which convened in the autumn of that year. Your Committee on Polity in 1914 reported that the action of the Council should be given a fair trial, and expressed its judgment that further agitation of these matters at that time would be detrimental to the best interests of the denomination.

The Council of 1915 took measures to put in force more completely the changes already adopted, and they are still in the stage of experiment. There seems to be no sufficient reason why these measures should be reviewed by the Conference at this time, or others proposed. Your Committee therefore has no recommendation to make, believing that the churches of our Conference are heartily cooperating with the National Council in carrying out the changes adopted.

For the Committee,

ALBERT E. DUNNING, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON TERCENTENARY PROGRAM

The Committee to Cooperate with the National Council Commission on Tercentenary Program begs leave to report as follows: Early in the year we conferred with the Secretary of the National Council in regard to carrying out their program in the state of Massachusetts. Through correspondence and personal interviews, twelve group conferences were arranged, covering sometimes a single association and sometimes two or more. At these conferences the Tercentenary Program was presented either by Secretary Herring or Dr. Scudder, or by both of them, and other speakers were also enlisted.

In addition to this, the Committee has corresponded with officers of the associations and committees in all parts of the state, looking toward the reaching of every church in the state with a full presentation of the Tercentenary Program. While this ideal has not yet been attained the way has been opened to carry out this plan next fall, when we hope that the conditions will permit of so doing.

For the Committee,

EDWARD M. NOYES, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Your Committee have attended to the duties that have devolved upon them during the year and report action as follows:

The usual bond of the Treasurer, to the amount of $3,000, was ordered and secured. Messrs. Packard, Langdale and Schenk were chosen Finance Committee. Payments to the Board of Pastoral Supply were voted to be by monthly installments. George I. Alden of Worcester was elected to represent the Conference on the Board of Directors of the Seaman's Friend Society in place of E. P. Persons of Webster, deceased. The vacancy on the Committee on Church Federation was filled by the choice of Rev. George W. Owen of Hyde Park, and it was voted that any other vacancies occurring during the year may be filled by the Secretary. Your Committee elected a special committee, empowered to cancel such allotments from any associations as they may find uncollectable.

Eighteen hundred copies of the " Minutes " were voted printed and distributed as the previous year. The Committee on Tercentenary Program was voted an appropriation of $40.

FRANCIS J. MARSH, Secretary.

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, baptisms, Sunday schools and families; the statistics of the Young People's Societies and Men's organizations; the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Association, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year-Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; "Prof." means professor; "C. M.," church missionary; "T.," teacher; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record, containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, marriages and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1917. Admissions, removals and baptisms cover the year 1916. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1917, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publication of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables.

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Installed" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i"; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

☞ All post-office addresses are to be found in the "List of Ministers," and NOT IN THE TABLES

Note. — The "year" means what changes were comprised in the twelve months preceding January 1 of the year mentioned. The table was begun in 1866, all preceding years now given being compiled from past "Minutes," — the number of churches in some years varying from the "Minutes" as they were to what they should have been.

The changes in list of churches, ordinations, installations, etc., for the past year, condensed in the above table, are given in detail in their proper place.

* Prior to 1876 "acting pastors" are included in "others" in columns of deaths of ministers.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*).

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE. — If your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, if one Christian name is not given in full, if your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, if your post-office is wrong, or if before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or if your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

TREASURER'S report, 33.

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION OF CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERS

Dates from the earliest times of the colony. Annual business meeting in Boston at 5 P.M., on the last Wednesday in May. Addresses at 11 A.M., on the appointed day. At this service a collection is taken, which, with the income of the convention fund, is distributed to the needy widows and daughters of deceased Congregational ministers.

Every minister of a Congregational church in Massachusetts (whether Trinitarian or Unitarian) is ex officio a member of the convention.

There is a reporting committee of twenty-five, selected by counties throughout the state, by which recommendations are made to a central committee of seven, which decides on all applications for aid.

PERMANENT OFFICERS. — Rev. William E. Strong, Newtonville, scribe, and Rev. B. R. Bulkeley, Beverly, treasurer, to either of whom applications for aid may be addressed.

MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CHARITABLE SOCIETY

Incorporated in 1786. Organized to hold the funds of the convention. Composed of fifteen clergymen and fifteen laymen, elected from both branches of the Congregational body. Aids the needy widows and orphans of deceased Congregational clergymen who have had settlement in Massachusetts.

Applications for aid should be made to Rev. Edward Hale, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

DISTRIBUTION OF "MINUTES"

The "Minutes" are sent to the churches by direction of the Conference, with distribution of one copy to every minister, one to every church clerk, one to every Conference official or committee member, and one to each local Association official named within. As long as the edition lasts, other copies may be secured by Massachusetts Congregationalists without charge, and by others for twenty-five cents upon application to the Secretary, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass. It is suggested that every church preserve a copy of the "Minutes" with its other records.

All contributions should be sent to the treasurer. All applications for aid should be sent to Rev. Frederick E. Emrich, Room 609, Congregational House, Boston.

A generous contribution is greatly needed annually from each church. Donations are also solicited from individuals. Should any one desire to leave a legacy in aid of the benevolent work of this board, the following form or bequest will be sufficient:

I give and devise to the Board of Ministerial Aid, incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, for the charitable uses and purposes of said Corporation .....

EDITOR'S NOTE

In presenting this volume of the Minutes the editor desires to plead the familiar excuse of " the war " for delays and some probable errors in the location and occupation of the ministers. With the going of many ministers into war service, some as chaplains, some as Red Triangle or Red Cross workers, some on leave of absence from their churches and others resigning pastorates in order that both church and pastor may be unembarrassed for the future, the editor finds it difficult to make an accurate presentation of every minister's status. Where good authority leads him to believe that a minister has vacated his pulpit, the name has been taken out of the Year-Book pages, but the man's residence is given at the old stand unless definite knowledge obtains of a later permanent address. In case of doubt the editor has been conservative about changes.

This year a new departure has been tried of listing separately those ministers whose ministerial standing is in process of transfer within the state. Hitherto a name has been kept on the roll of the dismissing association until reported as received by the other. But when a letter has not been used promptly the dismissing scribe resents the retention of the name in his list more than a year. In the case of the thirteen men, (oh fateful number) listed on page 71 as like Mahomet's coffin, they are offered as vicarious sacrifices this year with personal apologies from the editor, in hope that associational membership changes may henceforth be kept strictly up to date.

The Business Committee made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

Resolved: That in the judgment of this body, and in agreement with the practice of some of the States, it would be helpful should the District Associations of each State request and adopt a State Standard Course of study as a requirement of those seeking Licensure or Ordination at their hands and who are without previous collegiate or seminary training; and that as a further step toward the unifying of our methods of ministerial training and for greater efficiency it would be helpful should the states request the National Council to prepare a National Standard which each State may recommend to its local Associations for their adoption; and we also recommend to our local Associations of Churches and Ministers that the licensure of suitable laymen as Lay Preachers be considered favorably.

That the Conference accept the invitation of the Edwards and First Churches of Northampton to hold the annual session of 1919 with them.

That the request for an appropriation of $600 for the Federation of Churches be referred to the Budget Committee.

That five minutes be given to each of the following Boston men to present their various causes: Mr. H. S. Conant, Rev. W. P. Landers, Rev. C. E. White, Rev. M. A. Farren.

The Business Committee made the following report, which was accepted:

That 3 minutes be given Rev. M. B. Fisher, Boston, to present the Missionary Educational Conferences.

That 5 minutes be given Mr. G. W. Douglass Wilbraham, to present the work of Wilbraham Academy.

That the Moderator and Secretary of this Conference be authorized to send, in the name of the Conference, most cordial assurance to President Wilson, that we recognize, with sincere gratitude, his spiritual leadership in presenting and interpreting the moral aims of the war, and that, in common with all other loyal citizens of the Republic, we heartily support him in realizing those aims.

The Conference recognizes the abnormal conditions of our day and the greater difficulty of prescribing forms of present Sunday observance, but urges upon the Committee on Social and Moral Welfare the importance of conserving the religious character of the day and of protesting against its commercialism.

Inasmuch as, Our nation is now an active participant with her Allies, in the great struggle in defense of democracy and the suppression of the most inhuman and barbaric warfare known to history, and,

This enormous drain on the life of the Nation calls upon every citizen and patriot to practice genuine, constant and abundant self-sacrifice and self-denial, and demands that Christian people should stop the unrighteous waste of money wherever there is needless duplication of churches, and

Our Christian faith requires that we treat all sincere followers of Christ as composing his body.

Resolved, That as the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, we protest against the separation of the Christian Churches through non-essentials in creed or practice or through other unhappy causes of division, and we pledge ourselves to do all in our power to promote Christian unity and such actual union of individual churches locally as shall express the common faith and service of Christian believers and meet the Christian needs of the community and declare the unity of the church of Christ; and be it further

Resolved, That the exceptional conditions of our day impose upon us, as lovers of God and humanity, the sacred duty of bringing this matter to the attention of the churches of our order, and of all other Christian communions, soliciting their prayerful consideration and co-operation, to the end that when our soldiers return from the war they may find among us Christians at home, a degree of unity and a spiritual seriousness to which we have hitherto been unaccustomed; be it

Resolved, That a committee of seven persons be named by this Conference, as nearly equally divided as may be between laymen and pastors, to carry out our intent and to give effect to these Resolutions by as wide publicity as possible, and it is further requested that this special committee confer with the National Council Commission on Comity, Federation and Unity, and be it further

Resolved, That in order to show the utter sincerity of the Conference in adopting the foregoing resolutions, the Conference desires to call upon the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society to make a careful survey of the State in order to make certain that this denomination is not maintaining or helping to maintain any churches whose separate existence is not demanded by the religious needs of the community as a whole, and further,

That the Conference would welcome a detailed report on this subject from the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society at the next meeting of the Conference.

Whereas, the paramount issue of the hour is the winning of the war, and as the experiences of the European War had shown that one of the greatest single factors in undermining fighting efficiency and incapacitating manpower has been the ravage brought about by venereal disease, and as for a twelve-week period of the life of our National Army it was shown that the percentage of venereal infection per thousand men was approximately double that for the same period in the Regular Army, and inasmuch as the National Army is but newly recruited from civil life, and

Whereas, it is further shown that after twenty weeks of the life of our National Army the percentage of hospital admissions for venereal disease per thousand men was approximately the equivalent of the percentage at the same date for the Regular Army, per thousand men, and that this improvement is indication that military discipline stimulates physical fitness and continence, and

Whereas this high point of fitness and protection is attained because of thorough medical, educational and repressive measures included in the military program, the Massachusetts Congregational Conference herewith expresses determination to bring before our churches the danger threatening the character and strength of our country, unless the venereal diseases are met by every force possible, — medical, educational, social, moral, and religious — to impress upon them the opportunity and responsibility to arouse the people to their duty in this matter of purifying and safeguarding their communities.

The Nominating Committee recommended the following names for Committee on Church Unity, and they were elected:

Rev. Raymond Calkins, Cambridge; Mr. Samuel Usher, Cambridge; Rev. J. J. Walker, Boston; Mr. A. F. Poole, Peabody; Pres. K. L. Butterfield, Amherst; Rev. G. W. Andrews, Dalton; Rev. F. W. Merrick, Danvers.

Rev. M. B. Fisher, Boston, then outlined the summer conferences for Missionary Education, and the Conference took a recess till 7.45.

Neil McPherson of Springfield, on "Reconstruction of Religious Forces After the War." The session opened with worship conducted by Rev. R. W. Dunbar, Millbury.

At 9.15 the Conference was called to order by the Moderator.

The minutes of Tuesday's sessions were read and accepted.

The Committee on Revision of Rules made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That Art. VI, Sec. 4 (b) be amended by changing the words "seven hundred and fifty" to read "one thousand,"

So that the amended Section shall read:

"The Secretary shall receive a salary of one thousand dollars, and by the authority and under the direction of the Executive Committee, he may, when necessary, employ an assistant, at a compensation to be fixed by the Executive Committee."

That Art. XII, Sec. 1, be amended by the addition of the following: "and one minister to have charge of these services for all sessions of the Conference shall be named by the Program Committee"

So that the amended section shall read:

Art. XII, Sec. 1. Each session of the Annual Meeting shall be opened and closed with divine worship and one minister to have charge of these services for all sessions of the Conference shall be named by the Program Committee.

The Budget Committee made the following report, which was accepted and adopted:

In view of the fact that our nation is engaged in a war for humanity, and also in view of the splendid loyalty of our negro soldiers and citizens in this war, the churches of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, representing 138,000 members, desire to record their abhorrence of recent lawless and vindictive lynchings of negro people, and respectfully petition the President of the United States to make public expression of our repudiation of such crimes.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

Worcester is not new ground for the state meeting, this being the eighth time we have come here; but Piedmont is a new host. Our last meeting here was in Central Church in 1906. Since then every Congregational church in the city has changed pastors, and only 57 in the state have the same pastors they had twelve years ago. The city has lost two of its 17 churches but has gained 4 new ones, and the 19 have a membership almost a thousand larger than in 1906. In the same dozen years the state has lost five churches net, but our 607 churches have gained more than 20,000 in membership. The average church then had 192 members, today 227, a growth of more than 18 per cent. In the year 1917 three churches disappeared from the roll, having decided that Congregationalism in each of the three cities would be more efficient with four churches than five. Fowler in Fall River ended its existence April 2, and in December Wood Memorial and Hope of Cambridge and Bethany of Gloucester also dissolved. To balance these losses we have welcomed the Swedish church of Malden, already 20 years old, and a new church at New Ashford gathered by the South Williamstown pastor. There is also a Cilician-Armenian church in Boston which was unofficially brought to the secretary's attention too late to secure a report this year.

Our church membership now stands at 138,016, a net gain of 4,270, which is 7 per cent larger than the banner year of 1878. Last year it was reported that we had made a new record for additions on confession; this year we have gone 19 per cent above last year. Additions by letter are 8 per cent larger than ever before, and total additions are nearly 16 per cent larger. Evidently it has been a banner year for growth. The exact figures are 6,949 on confession, 3,819 by letter, total 10,768. On the other hand the removals have not been the largest in any column, although not often nor greatly exceeded. There were 2,056 deaths, 2,767 letters granted, 1,338 dropped by discipline or revision of rolls, and 337 were in the dropped churches. These last have been summarized as receiving letters to other churches, which would bring that item to 3,104, a new record.

The membership gain was general throughout the state. Only three associations failed to gain: Brookfield broke even, Berkshire South lost one, and Barnstable 25. Suffolk West gained 778, Suffolk South 614, Andover 433, and the others a smaller number. There were 91 churches receiving 25 or more on confession, and 25 of these were above 50, and seven received 75 or more. The leaders were Whitinsville 121, Dorchester Second 113, Jamaica Plain Central 92, Holyoke Grace 89, Dorchester Pilgrim 84, Holyoke Second 81, and Worcester First 75. There were 56 churches reporting total additions of 50 or more, and nine of them went over the hundred mark: Boston Park Street 163, Dorchester Second 160, Holyoke Second 149, Whitinsville 138, Worcester Plymouth 125, Jamaica Plain Central 123, Springfield First 116, Dorchester Pilgrim 114, Worcester First 103. Four of these were still more than 100 to the good after deducting removals: Boston Park Street 131, Whitinsville 127, Holyoke Second 117, Dorchester Second 112. But down among the smaller churches there were gains even larger in proportion. Southville added on confession 72 per cent to its resident membership, Weymouth Heights 47, Warwick 44. Lynnfield Second doubled its male membership (from 1 to 2), and South Dennis did better, 150 per cent gain of men. South Williamstown increased its total membership 39 per cent, and Montvale 34 per cent. Only 151, a low record like last year, report no additions on confession.

In view of a notable evangelistic campaign in Boston a year ago, the secretary has been interested to ascertain its effect in our statistics. Within ten miles of that tabernacle are 104 of our churches, and 43 more within 15 miles. Five churches in each zone failed to add any on confession last year, while the year before the failures were 8 and 10. Twenty-two of the 147 lost in membership last year as against 43 the year before. The three Suffolk associations received nearly 40 per cent more on confession than the previous year, and with Woburn and Norfolk added the percentage of increase is 38, just double the ratio for the whole state. It is apparent that our churches felt the impulse of the campaign and profited by it statistically. This is perhaps emphasized by the figures for adult baptisms, 3,105, the largest ever reported, and just passing the 1878 record of 3,103. Here also the five associations just named show a gain of more than 50 per cent, which is three times the ratio of the whole state. Infant baptisms, 2,844, a large number, are fewer only than the last two years.

The columns of absent members and families would be more valuable statistically if the churches would all report on these items. Nearly one-tenth of the churches could not or did not count the families in their parishes, and a larger number omitted the record of absent members. One result is an apparent loss of some 4,000 families this year, from 110,028 to 106,053. It would be fair to estimate our clientele as numbering nearly 120,000 families. The Sunday Schools were asked this year to include their cradle roll membership if they had such an organization. Many of the schools were already doing this, so that the request, instigated by the Massachusetts Sunday School Association, was only apparently an innovation. The increase of 2,373 over last year is perhaps due in part to that new source, but the total of 130,670, a new high record, is only 713 above the total of two years ago. The membership of young people's societies has dropped nine per cent to 22,855. Men's organizations have lost 15 per cent of their membership, although church membership has increased its men by 2,053; and boys' clubs in the churches show a gain of 356, standing at 5,302, and the men 16,345.

People are learning to think in larger figures financially. Patriotic demands for your money or your life bring proof that humanity has not changed its estimate of values since the days of Job, although we do not recognize the extreme crisis yet for giving all that we have. Our benevolence shows that our patriotism and religion have not conflicted. While our apportionment gifts are only 75 per cent of what they theoretically should be, they are the largest but one in the eight years in which the system has been tried; and they fell off from last year's high mark by a little more than a thousand dollars. Our other Congregational gifts, not applicable on apportionment, fell off about $11,000, standing at $100,955. This is an average amount for the last four or five years. But when we turn to undenominational gifts, the large report of last year is more than doubled. The secretary does not go behind the reports. Pastors and clerks have a free rein in that column. If they wish to include all the Red Cross and Red Triangle subscriptions of their people, no questions are asked. Some have defended their own action in including such items, and some have told of excluding them. One pastor, in perplexity over separating sheep and goats for that column, left the item blank. The figures given mount to a total of $641,906, and this sum and the apportionment and other denominational totals give a grand total of $1,061,172, which is almost 25 per cent above the high mark reported 24 years ago.

Detailed examination of the apportionment gifts shows that the Woman's Board gained nearly $10,000, the Home Missionary Society gained $317, and the American Missionary Association $264. Ministerial Relief fell off $4,949, Sunday School Society $2,641, American Board $1,496, Education Society $1,371, and Church Building Society $1,160. The exact totals are, American Board, $89,832; Woman's Board, $74,028; Education, $16,745; Church Building, $18,503; Home Missions, $59,090; American Missionary Association, $37,099; Sunday School, $13,972; Ministerial Relief, $9,042; total, $318,311. Included in this total is that of the Women's Home Federation, reporting this year for the first time. Women's local home missionary societies report financially through the Federation, but the gifts, amounting this year to $25,608, are distributed to the homeland societies and are included in their respective columns.

The clerical necrology of the conference year is much shorter than that reported a year ago, but is longer than we could wish. Nineteen names are removed from the Massachusetts roll by death. This number includes, however, Alfred E. Stembridge, who died two years ago, and George E. Porter, whom Essex South has carried on its list for nine years since his translation. "It is hard enough for you," wrote a friendly critic, "to have to fuss with us who are half dead, without having to carry the names of those who are wholly gone." In contrast may be cited another man twice reported dead who has been discovered on Commonwealth Avenue in Boston. Four pastors dropped in the harness: Frank Louis Bristol, 42 years in the ministry, the last 4 at Northboro; John De Peu, 32 years in the ministry, the last 5 at Williamstown; Henry Martyn Goddard, 23 years in the ministry, the last 4 at North Reading; and John W. Hird, oldest of this group, 38 years a minister, the last 6 at Interlaken. Smith Baker, ordained in 1860, was pastor emeritus of the First Church, Lowell. James L. Fowle had given 33 years, from 1878 to 1911, to the mission work at Cesarea, Turkey. William H. Ryder, 48 years a minister, was closing his 30th year on the faculty of Andover Seminary, and presumably the mention of his name is more suggestive, and to more of you, than any other on the list. Thomas Bickford, 41 years past ordination, was also teaching. Nine others, averaging 71 years of age, from 58 to 89, and 40 years in the ministry, from 57 to 21, had retired from active service to enjoy more or less of the Indian summer of their life. For some it was hardly a respite of months, but for others there was a long vacation. They were George L. Dickinson, Nathan T. Dyer, Walter A. Evans, Richard B. Mills, Olin Marvin Owen, Albert B. Peabody, John A. Pogue, Charles H. Pope, and John T. Rae. "They rest from their labors and their works do follow them." The necrology in the new Year-Book covering the calendar year 1917 contains also the names of 19 men who at some previous period had been on the Massachusetts roll as pastors or members of our associations, and their names may fitly be recited here: Calvin E. Amaron, Stephen M. Andrews, Albert E. Bradstreet, Lyman D. Calkins, Artemas Dean, Henry A. Goodhue, Edwin S. Gould, Charles P. Ketchen, William A. Lamb, Henry H. Olds, Edward N. Packard, George H. Perry, Ernest W. Shurtleff, Edwin F. Snell, Leverett W. Spring, Arthur H. Tebbetts, Nathan Thompson, Joseph Torrey, and Foster R. Waite.

REPORT OF THE CONGREGATIONAL BOARD OF PASTORAL SUPPLY

REV. ARTHUR J. COVELL, SECRETARY

BOSTON, MASS., April 1, 1918.

The Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply respectfully presents to the Congregational Conferences of the six New England states its second Annual Report. The report, however, is the third to the majority of the New England states. To the Massachusetts Conference this is the twenty-third report presented by this Board and its direct predecessor. Next July the Board will enter upon the twenty-fifth year since the inauguration of the work of Pastoral Supply by the general association of Massachusetts.

Last year it was suggested in the report that we had probably reached our maximum in quantity, but the amount of work accomplished in the last twelve months is the largest yet for any single year of the Board's life. Part of this is doubtless due to the unprecedented conditions springing out of the war, but part of it is undoubtedly due to a growing confidence in the virtue of the Board's work; for while the war has increased the opportunities of the Board in essential ways it has also taken away much of the ministerial material with which the Board must work and has forced temporary federations for fuel conservation purposes.

In response to direct official request we have rendered service pertaining to pastoral settlement to 431 churches, 90 more than in any previous year. These churches were located in 28 states, 1 district, 1 territory, and 2 foreign countries.

Of these churches there were located in Maine, 94; in New Hampshire, 46; in Vermont, 49; in Massachusetts, 132; in Rhode Island, 11; in Connecticut, 34; in New York, 12; in California, 5; in Michigan, 5; in Illinois, 4; in Kansas, 4; in Canada, 3; in Colorado, 3; in Indiana, 3; in Pennsylvania, 3; in Florida, 2; in Missouri, 2; in New Jersey, 2; in Ohio, 2; in South Dakota, 2; in Wisconsin, 2; and one each in Arizona, China, District of Columbia, Hawaii, Iowa, Louisiana, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, Tennessee, and Washington.

The enumeration here given does not include the furnishing of occasional or temporary supplies, nor take into account commendations for positions other than for direct pastoral service. In Massachusetts the number of churches served is four less than the year before; in all the other New England states the number is increased over the previous year. Practically all the vacant churches in Massachusetts and northern New England have been in touch with the Board. In Maine, now second to Massachusetts in churches served, the number is more than double the figures for the previous year.

The total number of known pastoral settlements in which the Board had an important part is 125, the largest number ever reported in one year. This does not include successful commendations for Army and Navy chaplaincies, nor commendations for Y. M. C. A. war work, but there has been included as pastoral settlements stated supplies engaged for a term of more than six months.

Of the churches conferring with the Board concerning pastoral settlement during the year, 195 had less than 100 members; 141 had each from 100 to 300 members; while 95 had more than 300 each in membership. Of these same churches 141 paid less than $1000 for salary; 220 of them paid a salary of from $1000 to $2000; while 70 paid a salary of more than $2000 per annum. The value of parsonage rental is included.

Opportunities for preaching were furnished during the year to 322 men, of whom 156 were candidates for settlement. With the majority of these men the opportunity was repeated several times. This is a smaller number than in the previous year, but the number of men available has been greatly reduced. The number of occasional supplies was 719, which is 146 more than the previous maximum.

The correspondence has also increased. The number of letters from the office was 8,410. The previous maximum was 7,898.

The Treasurer's account with the auditor's statement will be found in the appendix.

The financial statement is as follows:

RECEIPTS

Preaching by the Secretary	$ 677.14
Office fees	650.61
Rebate on rent	63.96
Refunds	24.34
Equals the amount of checks sent to S. G. Morse, Treasurer	$1,416.05

EXPENSES

Postage	$ 299.86
Stationery	48.33
Telephone and telegraph	128.12
Advertising in The Congregationalist and the Congregational Year-Book	50.25
Traveling expenses of the Secretary	291.46
Traveling expenses of the Directors	102.35
Printing and binding	126.70
Secretary's salary	2,566.67
Assistant's salary	720.00
Stenographic help	326.75
Extra vacation help	23.15
Rent and care of room	384.96
Additional office room	20.50
Office sundries	24.16
Equals the amount of checks received from S. G. Morse, Treasurer	$5,113.26

The office receipts chance to vary but a few cents from the receipts of the previous year. The expenses have increased somewhat. These increases are in the main due to war conditions, and are found in the items of postage, stationery, telegraph and telephone, advertising in The Congregationalist, the Secretary's traveling expenses, printing and binding, and office rent.

The Treasurer reports the following receipts from the constituent New England Conferences:

Connecticut	$1,452.63	Total amount due for 1917 and $400 on 1918
Maine	314.54	Total amount due for 1917 and $ .13 on 1918
Massachusetts	2,323.75	Total amount due to Feb. 28, 1918
Vermont	339.48	Total amount due for 1917
Rhode Island	222.72	Total amount due for the year ending March 31, 1918, and balance due on previous year
New Hampshire	200.21	$100 still due for the year ending May, 1918

The gratifying surplus recorded in the Treasurer's report in the Appendix is a result of the prompt remittance of the amounts due. Connecticut has advanced about $137 on her payment for the coming year. Last year we reported a deficiency of $244.02. There has been saving also in that we have not been able to secure the needed extra office space in the place convenient for our purposes, but have met our needs in another way. The amount of stenographic help has also been less than anticipated.

In last year's report only one state, New Hampshire, had paid the full amount due for the Board year. Four states were three months behind. This year five of the six states are fully paid up for the Board year, and one of the five has paid $137 in advance. So that the amount received this past year represents receipts for a year and a quarter and more. Some of the extra war expenses, like postage and travel, have affected us for only a part of the year, and some increase in expense this next year seems inevitable. The Board has thus far kept well within the anticipated cost of its enlarged work.

There is some variation in the year for which the states pay. Maine, Connecticut and Vermont begin their year January 1, and compute the one and one-half cent per member from the Year-Book at hand at the beginning of the calendar year. Massachusetts begins her year January 1, but changes her basis of computation May 1, taking the figures of the new Year-Book for the balance of the year. Rhode Island's year begins April 1 and New Hampshire's begins May 1, these states using the figures of the Year-Book issued after January 1 each year.

The travels of the Secretary for the year have taken him well over New England. He has had occasion to go to the easternmost limits of Maine, and to the southwestern and northwestern limits of Connecticut, and to western Massachusetts, and to the heart of Vermont. In all he has traveled on official business for the Board somewhat more than 9,530 miles, an increase of more than 1,300 over the amount for the preceding year.

The Directors deemed it wise for the Secretary to visit one Theological Seminary outside the bounds of New England. Accordingly this year he went to Union Seminary in New York, and had the privilege of personally meeting the Congregational members of the Senior Class and of conferring with some members of the faculty. While the office demands are exacting, yet these visits to the Seminaries bring valuable returns in the more remote as well as in the immediate work of the Board.

With each year of its life the history of the protective work of the Board brings us in touch with one of the darker phases of the work, which, though limited, is often serious. Our churches need protection from those who ought not to be in the pulpit. The Board endeavors never to assume a suspicious attitude. The Secretary is concerned to treat men frankly and fairly, and to presume that they are what they claim to be; and the results generally justify this course; but a degree of caution is necessary, and it is but a part of wisdom for the churches to learn, at least before committing themselves too far, whether a man does have good and regular standing in the Congregational ministry. Recently the pulpits of a number of New England Congregational churches have been filled, in answer to an advertisement, by a man without standing in the ministry, whose home was more than 1,000 miles from Boston, who has been in jail for circulating obscene literature, who was tried for murdering a large family, and the jury disagreed. Tried by another jury, he was acquitted on the ground that he was not responsible, and was sent to an institution for the criminal insane. Whether he ought to be at large may be open to question, but there would seem to be no question as to whether he ought to be in a Christian pulpit.

The war has made this a somewhat fruitful period for men without adequate recommendations to gain opportunities in some of our churches. Some tribulations would be averted if committees consulted the Year-Book more frequently to learn whether so-called Congregationalists are ordained or licensed to preach. If a man is not endorsed by some one of unquestioned standing who chances to be in a position to know concerning him, it is well to exercise caution, and a letter written to the State Superintendent, or to the Secretary of this Board, might prove a very fruitful expenditure of efforts.

Nor does any year elapse without some opportunity to aid some minister who is unfortunate enough to have aroused the hostility of people who are convinced that he ought not to remain in the ministry. If the reason is in any moral lapse or mental aberration, then the ministry is not his proper sphere, but if it be in some minor matter of sensibility, then perhaps he may need a friend.

The Board in these types of abnormal cases can aid by illumination. It can give indication of the essential facts so that a just conclusion may be reached.

During the year the Committee on Organization, appointed by the National Council, has been in communication with the Board as to how best the work of Pastoral Supply could be extended to the whole Congregational body. The following four suggestions set forth the position of the Board:

I. For the work of Pastoral Supply in the whole country not less than three Boards, one for the East, one for the central part of the country, and one for the West, would seem to be required for effective service.

II. These Boards should have close relationship with each other. There should be some system of interchange of records and some understanding about the policy to be pursued.

III. Each Board should be in close relation with the State Conferences and local Associations of its section and with the State Superintendents of its district.

IV. The financing of these Boards should be accomplished through the State Conferences, and the work developed as a federation of states. Thus the work would be likely to fit in more closely with our Congregational methods, and develop more satisfactorily to the different sections of the country.

In its relation to the World War the Board has had very tangible evidence this past year that its work is concerned with vital activities. We have been doing our bit. We have had our fuelless days and seasons, and our multiplied calls for service. New lines of patriotic activity have been opened to us and we have been able to aid in the securing of chaplains for Army and Navy, and of Y. M. C. A. secretaries both for home and foreign service. Some old things have passed away in our work, and a goodly number of things have become new.

In the latter half of 1917 we discovered that for temporary purposes we had almost reached the end of our available men for supply in the vicinity of Boston; an unheard-of thing in the generation, for Boston has been the congested spot of Congregationalism, and the ratio of Congregational men ready for the supply of vacant pulpits on a given Sunday in this section has normally been, so far as tested, about nine to one. But all at once we found a ministerial famine threatening. Our regular pastors and also ordained ministers without charge had gone in large numbers into Red Cross work in Europe, and had accepted in more limited numbers chaplaincies in the Army and Navy. An unusually large number of them had taken up Y. M. C. A. work either in Europe or in the cantonments of this country. Not a few in the smaller churches felt under compulsion to turn aside to some more lucrative form of work in order to meet the necessities of a livelihood. In some instances such men went into munition plants, or turned to newspaper work, or some other form of activity where the demand was great and the opportunity offered. The Y. M. C. A. officers discovered that for their more important positions in war work ministers were the best tested executives, a new confirmation of the fact that we have a large amount of business ability in the ministry. The possession of such superior ability is the reason given for selecting 54 per cent of the men for Y. M. C. A. war work from the ministry. Although this was complimentary to the ministry it was somewhat serious for the churches. Still further there was a draining from our colleges so that the Seminaries were quite largely depleted. One of our prominent Seminaries has reported but a single member in its senior class, so that not only was our supply drained, but the source of the supply was also failing. Even with the limited number of men in our Congregational Seminaries, there was a preponderance from denominations other than Congregational. To be sure there is a presumption that some of these would naturally turn to the Congregational ministry. Nevertheless a serious situation threatened, and prominent churches that had heretofore felt no difficulty on occasion in supplying their pulpits, all at once realized the shortage and were compelled to ask the Board for aid in finding a suitable supply.

Since the beginning of the year 1918, however, there has been a conservation of ministerial supply forced in New England by our lack of fuel. Throughout the New England states, churches have united with their neighbors temporarily, sometimes two churches coming together, sometimes four or five. Some churches that have been in search of pastors suspended their services for the time being until milder weather should come. Older men, our natural reserve in an emergency, were summoned, and the churches for the time being were willing to forego their search for young men. What the ultimate result may be it is too early to forecast. Unfortunately owing to the characteristic of human nature which Moses characterized as "hardness of heart," in many of the places where the federation movement clearly ought to prevail it has not done so, and possibly in some places where there has been a temporary federation the ultimate spiritual results for the community may not have been furthered. Nevertheless, undoubtedly fruitful permanent federations will result from this movement, and a great impetus is likely to be given to the get-together spirit in our church life.

In this special emergency that has been upon us there has been a grading up in salaries. The financial pressure upon most of our ministers in the small churches has been serious, but a goodly number of churches realized the situation, and have responded to suggestions to improve the living conditions of their ministers. It has been practically impossible to secure men in this time of need for the very smallest churches. One good result of the present condition is that men have learned to adapt themselves to the needs of a whole community and to the varied type of life found therein, and out of this more democratic way we may look for a more vital grappling with the life of the community by our church leaders.

The war has given an opportunity for more vital relationship with the life of men. The patriotic spirit has been an occasion for the revelation of the vital part that religion plays in our common life. It is time to adjust our work in the most effective way, and also to fill up the sources of ministerial supply in the home and in the church. A stream will not rise higher than its source, and upon the adequacy in number and the quality of the pulpit leaders in days to come depends the life of our churches.

One of the questions which the Secretary asked in his letter to the Advisers was, "What is the effect of the war upon churches and ministers in your section?" The replies were illuminating. A Connecticut pastor reports:

"Stimulating to patriotism, the conservation of resources, the spiritual care of the boys who have gone out from the churches, the deepening of the sense of the responsibility to God for the right use of this great spiritual opportunity."

Another minister reveals the spirit of sacrifice shown in many a Congregational parsonage when he says: "My own church feels the loss of my four sons, nine from my Bible class and 26 from the church."

A Vermont minister points to a phase of religious life that has already shown itself in Europe when he says: "A new spirit is awakening the men and churches, though it takes a premillennial turn. Some of our men are restive and want to go to France in Y. M. C. A. work."

A Maine reporter is seriously optimistic when he replies: " Most of our churches are actively engaged in Red Cross or other forms of relief work. I think we are all aware of the seriousness of the situation, also awake to the vast opportunities that are before the church for leadership and service. We expect to sacrifice, but we want to do our bit."

An enheartening word comes from one of our prominent New England cities: " The effect of the war upon our churches seems to be notable in winning their response to every sane proposal for cooperative action and especially for service and for financial support of all good movements. This with us is rather conspicuous and decidedly encouraging."

A Massachusetts adviser reports: " As it is everywhere, there is the loss of young men. On the other hand, all the churches are unusually active in the new opportunities for service — and profiting by the effort — and unusual earnestness is manifested. Helpful conferences in every church to push Tercentenary Program as a war measure — to promote the Pilgrim spirit in all the world."

A New Hampshire pastor of mid-European ancestry spoke before his men's club on the duty of all in the war, and his men asked that the substance of his address be printed and distributed as a leaflet. In it he emphasized three words as best explaining the individual task of each.

" 1. In our personal and private life —

Conservation.— It means the arrangement of the life in such a way that there shall be no waste anywhere, and no unnecessary effort or expenditure at all. There must be a new birth of responsibility.

2. In our neighborhood and town life —

Obligation.— Loyalty is the watchword. Patriotism is now both a sacred duty and a religious act. Passionately loyal ourselves, we must inspire others.

3. In our national relationship —

Cooperation.— The government is no longer far away. Let us give all we can, that out of the present tragedy a better, sweeter and more orderly world may come forth."

Apparently for the majority of our ministers, as well as for the Board itself, the war is being interpreted in terms of service.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MISSIONARY WORK

The gifts of the churches to the denominational societies fell off $1,176 in 1917 from those of 1916. In view of the many appeals for money during the year, however, this is not surprising. The total of $318,296 is still $24,896 more than for 1915. Ten Associations increased their gifts last year over 1916, while fifteen fell somewhat below the former mark.

The Committee held the usual conference with Chairmen, or other representatives, of the Associational committees in the fall. Twenty-one, out of 25 Associations, were represented. The reports regarding the purpose and efforts of the churches to cooperate in the apportionment plan were generally encouraging. An inquiry made by the secretary of this Committee in June showed that 236 churches had adopted the apportionment plan. It also appeared that 222 churches had used the Every Member Canvass for home expenses and 161 churches for benevolences. However, 235 churches, in the exercise of their inherent Congregational independency, either through forgetfulness, indifference, or plain refusal, failed to report. This is a sample of the greatest difficulty in getting our churches to do anything. Nevertheless these figures are encouraging. Most of the churches of the state recognize their responsibility for the larger work of the Kingdom and are trying, in their own way, if not in the common way, to do the work. But more team work, coupled with enthusiasm and persistent purpose, could achieve far larger results.

Many churches undoubtedly think that their apportionments are too high. Possibly these may be in some cases. If so, the immediate responsibility lies with the Associational committees and not with the State Committee. Some ministers do not seem to understand this fact or the further fact that the apportionment is not a tax which some outside authority says a church can and must pay. The apportionment stands for the amount which the local church is asked to accept as its share in the unreached goal for Massachusetts of $435,000 and $2,000,000 for the country at large. This share is the best estimate of the local church's share which the Associational committee can make. The amount apportioned to the Association represents the best division of the State's apportionment which the State Committee can make. There is no claim to infallible wisdom at any point. Most apportionments are above what has been attained simply because the $2,000,000 is far beyond what all the churches have ever given. Otherwise there would be no progress. The goal should be considered an incentive to, and not a damper on, effort. " To dare to fail is noble; to fail to dare is ignoble."

Some misunderstanding seems to exist over the increased apportionments made to some Associations last fall. Your Committee has never passed on the full Massachusetts apportionment to the churches. At the conference held in 1916 it was voted by the representatives of the Associations present to increase the apportionments in four successive years by equal amounts until the full amount should be reached. The committee had no option but to carry out this vote. It regrets that there is no general formula by which apportionments may be equitably made in view of all the facts present in each case. It would heartily welcome the discovery of such a formula by any one.

Your Committee has cooperated with the officers of the National Council in sending to the Associations leaflets showing in diagram form the number of churches whose average gifts per week per member fell within certain definite limits. Enough of these leaflets were printed so that each church could receive one for every resident member. It is earnestly hoped that the Associational Chairmen forwarded these leaflets to the individual churches and that the latter put them, marked as to the place of the individual church in the scale, definitely into the hands of the members. If this has not been done the Committee again urges that it should be done at once. The expense, which was large, and because of which fact alone these leaflets should reach their destination, was met largely out of the offering made at a conference of the Greater Boston churches in November.

Your Committee again urges the Every Member Canvass as the best system yet devised for raising the budgets. The churches are increasingly discovering this fact through happy experience. It is not only a method of raising money but of stimulating fellowship and promoting acquaintance.

In this connection attention is called to the great nation-wide " Every Member Drive " now being planned by National Council officials for Dec. 8 next. This will be the biggest piece of practical cooperative effort ever attempted by our churches. It will test our fellowship to the utmost. It will arouse an enthusiasm and esprit de corps, a share in which no church can afford to lose. Let our churches eagerly receive the plans when they come, organize thoroughly for the work, and then " go to it " with a will to win.

Associations and individual churches are urgently reminded of the vital need of continuity in the membership of their missionary committees. They are strongly urged to arrange so that the terms of members will overlap and so that chairmanships may be held for three years by those who are especially qualified. The missionary work of the churches would be greatly promoted thereby.

Associational secretaries should also promptly notify the secretary of the State Committee of any changes in names or addresses of the chairmen of the Missionary Committees of the Associations. The present secretary of the State Committee has experienced great difficulty in keeping informed regarding these officials.

The expense last year was $131.35. This committee has never overrun its appropriation. The campaign for the national Every Member Drive will very likely necessitate more expense than the Committee has heretofore faced. In view of these facts it earnestly requests an appropriation of $250 for this year. The money will not be used unless urgently needed.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MORAL AND SOCIAL WELFARE

Early in the conference year our committee was compelled to accept the resignation of its efficient secretary, Rev. Herbert Barker of Lowell, severe illness forcing his retirement. Rev. W. W. Patton of Haverhill and Rev. Howard Chidley of Winchester were secured as members, the former serving as secretary. In August of last year the chairman of this committee took charge of the erection of a Hospitality Tent at Camp Bartlett, and was in charge of the work until the camp closed. The Massachusetts Home Missionary Society generously loaned a tent which they had used for Gospel services, and by their prompt helpfulness it was possible to provide immediate and proper hospitality for relatives and friends of the soldiers, most of whom were to go overseas in a short time. Many young girls, some of them from a considerable distance, were in serious moral peril, and a noble army of church women was secured to use their influence as best they could. The work of this tent certainly counted much for moral uplift at Camp Bartlett. Congregational ministers of the vicinity rendered ready and efficient help. This is but a sample of that work for moral and social welfare which the other members of this committee and so many of our clergymen and laymen have been performing during the past year.

In the matter of legislation our Committee has been active. We have twice addressed the Congregational ministers of the State upon the Prohibition issue. The response both in the matter of personal influence and of financial backing has been most refreshing. We have been exceedingly fortunate in having as a member of our Committee Secretary Arthur J. Davis of the Anti-Saloon League. We have worked in close accord with that organization, and have only the highest praise for their keen judgment and efficiency as displayed in their Massachusetts campaign. We believe that Mr. Davis and his associates have done a noble work toward making the Christian church articulate in moral reform, and by way of general rousement as well. The Christian church always needs the stimulus of a keen moral battle. Our conviction is that the churches themselves have been vitally blessed as they have sought to perform the moral duty of the hour. A great many of our churches have been personally represented at various prohibition hearings at the State House. Our laymen and our clergy have been unsurpassed in bringing proper pressure to bear upon their legislators. We have come to realize something of the vast potential strength of our churches. In the earlier temperance campaign of the year, that was for war time prohibition in Massachusetts, our Committee did what it could.

In the matter of legalizing commercialized soldier-and-sailor-baseball we used our influence to make the bill as harmless as possible if it had to pass at all.

The moral welfare organizations should give serious consideration as to the proper mode of presentation of their causes before committees at the State House. At times wise Christians cannot but be repelled and disheartened by the unfortunate manner in which the Christian church and Christianity itself are sometimes misrepresented at hearings. If there is any spot where Christian common sense ought to be at a premium it is there. Brief, manly statements are in order. People that speak for moral welfare organizations ought to be most careful to make sure that their own words are in harmony with the noblest Christian teachings and ideals. "Thy will be done on earth" should be a background for all our moral effort, with the gospels ever open before us.

In view of war-time conditions and because of expense in camp work we urge upon our church schools the vital importance of sex instruction, which shall combine informing teachings with an earnest setting forth of the highest motives for sane sex living.

We ask an appropriation of $50 for the work of this committee with the understanding that $25 be available if conditions shall again make extraordinary demands. We express our gratitude to the Executive Committee for allowing us $25 additional this year in view of expense which had to be assumed in connection with the Prohibition fight, and we also express gratitude to the Anti-Saloon League for their financial aid.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FEDERATION

It has been the chief function of this Committee to represent the Conference in the corporate membership of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches. In this capacity members of the Committee shared in the annual meeting of the Federation, and have had their part in the activities of the Federation throughout the year.

The year has seen large development in the combination of churches in their local work. The withdrawal of many pastors for service as chaplains and in the Young Men's Christian Association, and the exigencies of the fuel situation during the winter have urged many churches to unite their forces in worship and other forms of ministry. The educational work of the Federation had prepared the churches for this, and the cases of combination and consolidation already established furnished the models for these emergency adjustments. It is to be hoped that some of these adjustments will be made permanent; but those churches which resume their separate activities with the restoration of normal conditions will not lose the consciousness of fellowship which the experiences in united work have cultivated. Especially will there be a better understanding of one another's aims and spirit, and greater reluctance to engage in competitive struggle.

Where the situation has not required consolidation of forces, there has been effective cooperation in the work of the churches in many communities. Local federations have increased in number, and their programs have become larger — notably so in Lowell, where the Federation now maintains an executive secretary. In every community or township in which are more than one Protestant church, a federation should be formed, in which the churches shall unite in their common tasks and cultivate mutual good will.

We earnestly desire the heartiest cooperation on the part of all the churches of our fellowship in the promotion of the aims of the Federation in every possible way. As representing the Pilgrim order, and largest among the denominational groups in this Commonwealth, Congregationalists should be leaders in the cause of comity and cooperation.

We commend the Massachusetts Federation of Churches as deserving the generous financial support of Congregationalists, in addition to the appropriation made by the Conference.

We recommend that an appropriation of $600 be made by the Conference for the support of the Federation for the next year.

Executive Committee of the Committee on Federation.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RURAL CONDITIONS

Your Committee in its report of last year dealt with the question of leadership in small communities, emphasizing the importance of reinforcing the church federation movement in the state, and urging that efforts toward securing fully equipped men of community vision and spirit in small localities be backed up by a denominational or inter-denominational fund to be raised for the purpose. As the Conference did not see its way clear to set in motion the necessary machinery for securing this fund, your Committee has found no way to take a further step in this direction.

In the present report we would urge the necessity of a closer and deeper fellowship among our churches, both on the part of rural churches with one another and on the part of urban churches with those " in the country and villages round about." Your Committee hopes to outline a plan of church visitation, by which groups of pastors and laymen may go out to near-by churches, bringing the kind of inspiration and denominational quickening that the Tercentenary Movement and the Efficiency campaigns carried out by Congregational leaders in certain sections, have brought. As we have felt that some of this work might be done in cooperation with the Evangelistic Committee, we invited representatives of that committee to meet with us last November, and discussed such plans with them. While no definite action was then taken, the chairman of your Committee has since cooperated as he has been able with Rev. S. P. Cook of that committee in arranging certain meetings in Berkshire County on behalf of closer church fellowship.

We feel that the war is putting new responsibilities on our rural communities, both in connection with the present and ever-growing food-problem and in view of the probability that after the war there will be a great many returned soldiers and others taking up farming. The church will have to make a virile appeal to the new-comers, and will need strong and vital leadership more than ever. Let us, Congregationalists of Massachusetts, push the church leadership movement and the church fellowship movement with a power that shall make every church, no matter how small, gain the sense of being a vital part of a great religious body and of belonging to a great world movement for the Kingdom.

For the Committee,

WILLIAM M. CRANE, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

In the program for Reconstruction, Religious Education will play no minor part. Our political enemies are demonstrating both the power and the peril of this agency. If the New Social Order is to possess any permanence it must be based upon a Religious Education that is of the right sort.

The New Era will demand two things: 1. TRAINED LEADERSHIP. In large numbers the Boys and Girls of today must be turned into Experts and Engineers of every kind. No specialist will be more indispensable than the Moral and Spiritual Engineer whose mind and heart is equipped for the task. 2. THE SPIRIT OF SERVICE so apparent everywhere must not only be preserved but made to abound yet more. We would be slackers if we allowed the present zeal for humanity to abate.

These well-recognized facts, taken together with the recent re-adjustment of our denominational machinery, and the splendid emphasis laid by the National Council on the work of Religious Education in the churches, especially with reference to the better coordination of the instructional and expressional effort in behalf of youth have furnished your Committee a field well-defined. The task plainly set before us is, to magnify in the state conference as well as in the local association and church the place of Religious Education, and to forward in every possible way the efforts of our denominational servants, who are now ready, through the Education Society, to give their heartiest cooperation in supplying lesson courses and general literature, plans for missionary education, expert advice and personal attention for conferences and for single churches, in matters of organization, teacher training and whatever else may be required for making the church effective with its children and young people.

With Frank M. Sheldon for General Secretary, Sidney A. Weston as Editor-in-chief of the publication department, Miss Mabel Patten as Educational Assistant and Supervisor of correspondence training courses, Miles B. Fisher working toward a comprehensive program of missionary education for all the churches, and Arthur W. Bailey as our Field Secretary and Advisor in New England, we have at our disposal a corps of trained and experienced helpers who are eager to cooperate with the ministers and church-workers in every possible way. With such a force in our very midst, and such a timely and trenchant task at hand, it would be strange if the commonwealth of the Pilgrim and the Puritan, possessed of 600 churches and an unquenchable passion for Christian Education, did not help to furnish force and direction to this movement.

Three lines of effort have been used by your Committee in forwarding the above program:

1. At the Massachusetts Sunday School Association meeting, held in Fitchburg, we were able to use the denominational conference, for introducing almost the entire force of the Education Society to those teachers and Sunday-school workers of the State who were fortunate enough to be present.

2. At the Worcester meeting, through the cooperation of the Program Committee, generous provision has been made for presenting the claims of Religious Education. On Monday a conference will be held, at which Messrs. Bailey and Weston, together with Miss Patten, will be present to assist in the consideration of the theme "Religious Education in the Local Church." On Tuesday a large part of the morning session will be given to the interests of Religious Education. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Bailey will each speak upon their respective departments, and Pres. Benjamin Marshall, formerly of Dartmouth, now of the Connecticut College at New London, will bring us a timely message calculated to direct and inspire us in the days of Reconstruction.

3. The Education Society have at our request suggested a variety of programs for conferences or community gatherings, which they will be glad to help carry out. These programs are appended to this report and your Committee urges that one or more of them be used as suggestions in making up one or more programs for the coming year. The crux of the whole matter lies here. The denominational vision must touch the individual church. Mr. Hagedorn makes a ringing appeal to the Boys and Girls of America which should be read by every parent and teacher. "You," he writes, "are the Hope of the World." If the youths of America are to respond to this appeal and to be prepared for the task that is laid upon them by the world, each church must become a real factor in helping, not only to make the world safe for Democracy, but to make Democracy safe for the world.

Three recommendations are made by your Committee for immediate consideration in every church: 1. The Use of the Pilgrim Standard (revised) provided now in Chart form. 2. The appointment of a Committee on Religious Education to supervise the entire field in each church, with that person for chairman who is best fitted by training and sympathies for this work. 3. The appointment of a delegate or representative at Worcester who will profit by the religious education features of the program.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISTIC WORK

Your committee believes that the great need of the years through which we are passing is that men shall think, that men shall speak, and that men shall act in the spirit of Jesus Christ. Sacrifices for the national safety and for righteousness throughout the world, all work continued here in the homeland, plans for the needs of today and for the reconstruction that must take place later, will then be blessed of God and will aid in bringing in His kingdom. We need the dedication of lives to the Christ, that they may be His for service. The service may be in the usual channels of the Church work; it may be in the united agencies of the Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross and kindred expressions of the Church in helpfulness; it may be in missionary activities, or in the moral regeneration of our communities; it may be in the national army and navy. The one essential is that it be in the spirit of the Christ and for Him, and in power from Him.

To this end we seek the dedication of lives that have not hitherto been His, and the reconsecration of lives that have been previously given to Him. The time is opportune. People are thoughtful.

Your committee is not committed to any one method. There is good in any method that brings decisions for Christ. Special meetings are of value in some places and at some times. Such may be best led at times by outside helpers. At times they are best led by the pastor or neighboring pastors. Union services may be stimulating in some conditions. Teams of laymen and teams of students may be employed. Pastoral evangelism is always to be used. Church members should be awakened to their privilege of being co-workers in this cause. We are not committed to any one method. We only desire that the work be done in some way.

The committee has held several meetings. Letters have been sent to every association and to many individual churches. Correspondence has been carried on with helpful suggestions to those seeking such. Teams of laymen have been sent to different parts of the state. In every particular the committee has sought to meet the desires of the National Council in its stress upon Evangelism.

The committee is convinced that there is an increasing interest in this need and an increasing desire on the part of the pastors and churches to meet the need in the way that seems best adapted to the particular fields. We urge upon every church a prayerful consideration of its own share in this present opportunity.

For the Committee,

CLARENCE W. DUNHAM, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON REVISION OF RULES

In accordance with the recommendation of this committee, the Conference will meet this year on Monday, instead of on Tuesday. The success or lack of success of this experiment will indicate whether the new plan should be made permanent. The committee recommends that for further trial of the plan the Conference in 1919 meet on Monday instead of Tuesday, and that all rules inconsistent with this action be suspended for one year.

The Committee has given attention to the important matter of the relation between the Conference and the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society. The following statement was prepared at the request of the committee for its convenience, and is submitted to the Conference as a guide to thought and discussion.

RELATION BETWEEN THE STATE CONFERENCE AND THE STATE HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The several forms of relationship between the Conference and the Home Missionary Society may be grouped in four general classes, as follows:

I. Entire separation of organizations as to functions, directing boards, and administrative officers, e.g., Connecticut and Massachusetts, the largest and most resourceful state groups. In both states, however, a close relationship exists between the Conference and the Home Missionary Society. (a) In Connecticut the Conference elects annually the "corporators" of the Home Missionary Society, consisting of at least fifteen members; the body thus created is the agent of the Conference and reports to it. In recent years, though not required by any rule of either body, the treasurer of the Home Missionary Society (who is also assistant superintendent) is at the same time the registrar of the Conference, thus bringing together in one office the administrative work of the Home Missionary Society and the records, the correspondence, and most of the business of the Conference. (b) In Massachusetts the members of the Conference (with the life members of the Society) are the voting members of the Home Missionary Society, which by the Rules of the Conference is made its "instrument" "in the practical administration of its home missionary work." (Art. VIII, Sec. 2.) This exactly parallels the relation between the National Council and the missionary societies.

II. Separation of organizations as to functions, but entire or substantial identity in directing boards and administrative officers, e.g., Northern California, New Hampshire and Vermont. The separation in organization and functions preserves the distinctive character of the work of the Home Missionary Society, and keeps separate the finances: missionary contributions and the proceeds of missionary endowments are used for missionary work only, conference expenses are met by revenue raised specifically for that purpose.

III. Separate organizations, but unification of work by the transfer of the functions of the Home Missionary Society to the Conference; the Home Missionary Society continues its corporate life and holds its endowments, but the Conference administers the work, e.g., Iowa and New York.

IV. Complete merger in one organization under one charter. This has been secured in two opposite ways: (a) The Home Missionary Society has been absorbed by the Conference, as in Southern California, Illinois and Ohio. (b) The corporate powers of the Home Missionary Society have been enlarged by the amendment of its charter, so that it has become the "Conference and Missionary Society." Maine is the only example of this method of reorganization. Practically the results of the two opposite methods are the same; but the Maine plan has the practical and very important advantage of preserving the continuity of the corporate life of the Home Missionary Society and all vested interests connected therewith.

The following recommendation is made with the approval of the executive officers of the M. H. M. S.

The Committee recommends that it be continued for another year in order to confer with a similar committee to be appointed by the M. H. M. S., the two committees to constitute a joint committee to consider possible methods of closer cooperation between the Conference and the M. H. M. S.

As an initial step to the cultivation of a closer relationship between the Conference and the Board of Ministerial Aid, the Conference nominated, last year, two Directors of the Board. This Board is now a self-perpetuating corporation, with Directors elected for life. Its Directors feel the desirability of a more intimate relation with the Conference. The Committee therefore recommends that it be authorized to confer with the Board of Ministerial Aid with regard to such changes in the charter of the Board as may make possible a closer relationship between the Board and the Conference.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Your Committee has transacted such business during the year as has been brought to its attention and in its work has endeavored to keep before itself the highest interest of the Conference. The following members of the Committee, Messrs Bailey, Page and Langdale, were empowered to carry out the resolution of the Conference in regard to conferring with other denominational bodies to ascertain whether there can be arranged in the year 1920 a mutually satisfactory date for simultaneous meetings in central locations in each county where Protestant forces of the State may be assembled.

The invitation from the Piedmont church of Worcester for the next annual meeting of the Conference was accepted. The yearly bond of the treasurer was referred to the moderator and secretary to consider, with power to act. Messrs. Packard, Pierce and Hawley were elected the Committee on Finance and Messrs. Bailey and Miller were appointed to consider the matter of securing a new printing contract. It was Voted that the secretary be empowered to fill all vacancies occurring during the year and that he secure the printing of 1,800 copies of the "Minutes" and distribute them as heretofore. The Committee on Moral and Social Welfare was given an additional credit appropriation of $50 in view of extra expense incurred in the campaign for ratification of the prohibitory amendment.

SPECIAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY ON CHURCH INCORPORATION

The Conference at its 1917 meeting in Taunton was memorialized by the Hampshire East Association as follows:

> Whereas: Many of our Massachusetts churches are looking forward to incorporation with the subsequent transfer of parish or society interests to the church, but feel hampered by lack of information both as to legal procedure and as to the experience of churches which have thus changed:
> Resolved: That the Hampshire East Association memorialize the Massachusetts Congregational Conference to request its secretary to gather the necessary information as to the number of our incorporated churches and the results experienced, satisfactory or otherwise, with a clear outline of the steps necessary for making such a change, especially with regard to the transfer of trust funds, etc., and report in print to the next meeting of the Conference.

The Conference heard this prayer and voted in sympathy therewith that the secretary be requested to gather and present the desired information. The result of his investigation is here given.

In connection with sending out Year-Book blanks to the churches, the secretary enclosed a letter and a questionnaire blank. The paragraph of the letter touching this subject was as follows:

As per vote of the conference at Taunton, May 16, 1917, the secretary asks you for information concerning church incorporation on a special sheet enclosed. Please fill it out to the best of your ability and return with the other report. If opinion is divided in your church on the subject, present both sides as fairly as you can.

The enclosure, properly spaced for answers, contained the following questions:

CHURCH INCORPORATION

1. Name of Church
2. Is the Church incorporated?
3. Date of incorporation?
4. Have you also an incorporated Parish or Society?
5. If not now, has there been such an organization in the past, now superseded by transfer of the property to the incorporated Church?
6. When was such transfer made?
7. Have the results been satisfactory, or otherwise, and why?
8. If Parish or Society still exists, is the system generally acceptable to the Church and its friends?
9. Is there any desire or tendency to change?
10. Has a change been voted down within recent years, and why?
11. Further remarks not covered by above questions

Experience proves that the phrasing of question 4 was infelicitous. Not all societies are incorporated. The question aimed at learning of the existence or non-existence of a parish, and not at its status as a corporation. Some correspondents were misled by the word "incorporated" and answered "No," only to answer "Yes" to question 8. Higher criticism has been applied in such cases; otherwise the investigator has not gone behind the returns except to doubt certain statements as to 17th or 18th century incorporation. The words "parish" and "society" are used interchangeably in this whole report.

THE CENSUS

We have 607 churches, and 441 replies were received. Of these, 184 are not incorporated, 212 are incorporated and have no parish or society, and 45 others, incorporated, retain the old society; 166 did not reply. Of the 441 churches, 257 are incorporated, and the society exists in 229. But in the 45 overlapping cases a dozen can be ruled out: seven are in process of transfer of property with anticipated dissolution of the society; two societies have ceased to function though legally yet existing; and three exist merely as trust companies holding funds for their churches. So far as reported, therefore, incorporated churches are in the majority and the tide is running in their direction yet more. For brevity allow the use of symbols, A for incorporated churches, B for those not incorporated, C for those not reporting. No argument is available from the size of the churches; the average membership in class A is 227; B, 233; C, 221. Of 21 churches with a membership of 800 or more, the score is A 7, B 7, C 7. The 100 largest churches, 430 members or more, divide into A 39, B 35, C 26. The 100 smallest churches, 52 members or less, classify A 31, B 41, C 28. Neither is there a geographical argument. The ratio of A and B obtains generally in the 25 district associations, A leading in 17 and B in 7; A having a clear majority over B and C in eight cases and B over A and C in two. These two are Hampshire and Worcester North, while Hampden and especially Barnstable also show B well ahead of A. The spirit of incorporation pervades all sections but the Cape, and is felt in churches of every size.

8. If Parish or Society still exists, is the system generally acceptable to the Church and its friends? There is some ferment beneath the crust of tradition. The 184 unincorporated churches answer as follows: Yes, 121; fairly, 13; divided opinion, 17; no, 9; blank, 24. The 45 incorporated churches still retaining the society answer: Yes, 20; no, 7; divided, 4; blank, 14. Two report that only church members can belong to the parish.

9. Is there any desire or tendency to change? Even among the 121 reporting satisfaction with the parish system, 29 indicate that there is some desire for a change, ranging from "none alarming" to the appointment of a committee to look into the matter. The 13 fairly satisfied report 12 cases of desire, sometimes expressed in preliminary action. Nearly all those of divided opinion naturally have "some" desire for change. Of the 24 churches not answering 8, six answer 9 with a "no," while four say "yes" or "planning a change." Among the 45 incorporated churches with parish attachment, 13 report some desire for parish elimination; 16 say "no"; eight report action planned or in process.

10. Has a change been voted down in recent years, and why? In 22 churches adverse action has been taken, and in a few others the matter was smothered in committee. In one case a parish attempt to dissolve was thwarted by the Church. One parish saved itself by finally granting equal suffrage. Fear of alienating financial support has played a prominent part, and a few times a finer feeling has prevailed of consideration for lifelong parish members not in the church.

EXPERIENCE

7. Have the results been satisfactory or otherwise, and why? About one quarter of the incorporated churches do not answer this question. A few blanks are attributable to inertia; most of them, however, are from churches organized in recent years that have had no experience with a parish and never had to change. From the remainder comes almost unanimous testimony of satisfaction with the change. A few say it is too soon to judge after recent incorporation. Many say: Yes; Very; Entirely; etc. A few Scotch verdicts are given here as in reply to other questions, such as "Never heard any regret." But a large number are frankly enthusiastic over the change. Among the reasons given for satisfaction, the most frequent is a variation of "efficiency," such as: "unity in organization"; "does away with superfluous meetings"; "church business greatly simplified"; "more efficiency with less machinery"; "eliminates needless red tape"; "more businesslike administration." A second prominent reason is that "the church now runs its own business"; "is now able to speak her own mind and work out her own desires"; "church affairs are conducted by Christian people, whereas, before, some people even of questionable morality had a voice in religious matters;" "business managed by members and not by a few men, possibly outsiders." Hardly less numerous are the tributes to "more harmony, better spirit"; "friction avoided"; "no chance of disagreement between organizations"; "no diversity of interests"; "never had any trouble since incorporation." Again there is the effect on the church: "More responsibility on the members and more interest"; "church more spiritual, money easily raised"; "more people interested"; "women as well as men have a voice in affairs"; and one clerk mentions the salutary effect of the legal restraint of state control of corporations. These quotations might be multiplied.

On the other hand there are just seven expressions of opinion indicating that church incorporation does not immediately usher in the millennium. Here they are in full. "It has not added a single person to our membership nor a dollar to our revenue." "A few kickers are always present in every body." "At first a very few parish members felt disfranchised, and one or two went over to the Unitarians." "A few parish members at first felt slighted, although the parish had become dormant several years before church incorporation." "Provision should have been made for associate members; we lost a number of men who felt they were frozen out." "Some who had been very helpful in financial matters, the music, and the care of the property, were alienated." "Generally considered unsatisfactory, as under the parish system many who were not church members, and especially men, were willing to help in church affairs."

SUMMARY

A study of the results of this questionnaire will yield material to advocates of each system, and each in part neutralizes the other's arguments. The following summary makes no claim to exhaustiveness, but presents as fairly as possible the main points on each side. There may be urged:

I. For Parish Retention: 1. Its historic entrenchment. Sentiment is potent in New England. "There are those who believe the incorporation as a single body to be greatly preferable in some cases, but would hate to see the ancient Parish terminated in ——."

2. Laissez faire. It has rendered good service, and is still efficient in scores, possibly hundreds, of communities. Why disturb the placid situation when all is satisfactory?

3. Funds. Danger of alienation of trust funds has operated in some cases against a change of legal status. The New Old South Church in Boston has figured in eight or nine adjudications of its trusts by the Supreme Court of Massachusetts. It is possible that funds in some other parishes are similarly so bound as to be incapable of transfer.

4. Friends. In every congregation there are people well disposed to the church, whose cooperation is desirable, and who by their service deserve the privilege of participation in business meetings.

II. For Church Incorporation (dispensing with the parish). 1. The parish or society is but a modern substitute or a modified continuance of the old system of state control of the church. Note that originally only church members had civic franchise, and therefore only church members could dictate parish control of the church.

2. Single control of religious interests tends to harmony, efficiency and influence.

3. The whole membership (of legal age) is given the privilege and responsibility of business administration.

4. The state has provided a plan of legal procedure for the easy transfer of parish property real or personal to an incorporated church.

5. The church may make provision for associate membership. But real friends will demonstrate their loyalty by "putting on the uniform" of church membership.

METHOD OF INCORPORATION

Some churches have reported that they were deterred from incorporation by fear of legal entanglement, especially where trust funds were involved. The question really divides into two parts: 1, church incorporation, entirely irrespective of parish affairs; and 2, the taking over of parish interests, which is possible only when the parish consents by a three-fourths vote at a meeting called for that purpose. There is nothing to prevent any church from taking the first action if a majority of its resident members of legal age desire incorporation. The necessary blanks for calling a meeting and for certifying incorporation at said meeting may be obtained from the Commissioner of Corporations, Room 235, State House, Boston. A copy of each is given below, after the excerpt from the Revised Laws.

REVISED LAWS OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

CHAPTER 36. INCORPORATION OF CHURCHES

Section 47. Any church may be incorporated according to the provisions of the following sections.

Section 48. A notice, signed by one or more members of said church, stating the object, time and place of the meeting for its incorporation, and the first election of officers, shall, at least fifteen days before such meeting, be posted in a conspicuous place near one of the principal entrances of the usual place of meeting of said church.

Section 49. At the time and place stated in said notice, the resident members of said church who are twenty-one years of age or over may assemble at their place of worship and by ballot elect a moderator, a clerk who shall be sworn, a treasurer, a standing committee, of not less than three nor more than twenty-four members, or a board of trustees, managers, directors, executive committee, prudential committee, wardens and vestry, or other officers with the power of a standing committee, and such other officers as they may deem necessary.

Section 50. The church may make by-laws and may prescribe therein the manner in which and the officers and agents by whom the purposes of its incorporation may be effected. If no provision is made by a vote or by-law of the church for calling meetings, they shall be called in such manner as the standing committee may direct.

Section 51. The standing committee or other officers shall certify the organization of such church to the commissioner of corporations, in such form as he shall prescribe; and he, with the secretary of the Commonwealth, upon payment of a fee of five dollars to the secretary, shall perform the same duties and with the same legal effect as in the case of corporations organized under Chapter 125.

Section 52. None but members of such church shall be members of such corporation, and only resident members of full age shall vote; but any such corporation may, upon such conditions as it may from time to time prescribe, admit any regular financial supporters of the church to associate membership, with a vote upon financial questions only: provided, however, that no action of a meeting in which associate members shall have taken part, looking to the reduction of a minister's salary or the alienation of church property, shall be valid until the same has been ratified by a meeting of church members only, or until sixty days shall have elapsed without a written request of ten church members for such a meeting:

Section 53. The deacons, wardens, trustees or similar officers of a church so incorporated which holds real or personal estate under the provisions of Chapter 37, may, subject to the same uses and trusts as when held by them, convey it to said church.

Section 54. Any religious society connected with a church so incorporated may, at any meeting called for the purpose, by a three-fourths vote, authorize one or more persons in its name and behalf to convey any real or personal estate belonging to it to such church, and such estate shall thereafter be held by the church subject to the same uses and trusts as when held by said religious society.

STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, baptisms, Sunday schools and families; the statistics of the Young People's Societies and Men's organizations; the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Association, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year-Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; "Prof." means professor; "C. M.," church missionary; "T.," teacher; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record, containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, marriages and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1918. Admissions, removals and baptisms cover the year 1917. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1918, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Installed" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

All post-office addresses are to be found in the "List of Ministers," and NOT IN THE TABLES.

Note. — The "year" means what changes were comprised in the twelve months preceding January 1 of the year mentioned. The table was begun in 1866, all preceding years now given being compiled from past "Minutes," — the number of churches in some years varying from the "Minutes" as they were to what they should have been.

The changes in list of churches, ordinations, installations, etc., for the past year, condensed in the above table, are given in detail in their proper place.

* Prior to 1876 "acting pastors" are included in "others" in columns of deaths of ministers.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*).

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE. — If your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, if one Christian name is not given in full, if your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, if your post-office is wrong, or if before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or if your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

DISTRIBUTION OF "MINUTES"

The "Minutes" are sent to the churches by direction of the Conference, with distribution of one copy to every minister, one to every church clerk, one to every Conference official or committee member, and one to each local Association official named within. As long as the edition lasts, other copies may be secured by Massachusetts Congregationalists without charge, and by others for twenty-five cents upon application to the Secretary, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass. It is suggested that every church preserve a copy of the "Minutes" with its other records.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Inability to get this volume into print before the vacation exodus began has been a chief cause of holding it till the vacation was over. The editor has tried to keep up with the frequent pastoral changes and make the September volume register accurately the status of the pastoral relation in the churches. He would be more certain of his ground if his sources of information were the ministers and churches themselves rather than the sometimes mistaken items of public print. In cases where a minister has been in war work and has not secured a new pastorate, his address is continued (usually) at his last home before going abroad.

On page 22 will be found, in the last two paragraphs, the action of the Conference on May 20 in amending Article V of the Rules. By some psychological phenomenon the item escaped detection at the time as an infringement of Article XVII of the Rules that the first five articles must be treated more deliberately. The secretary therefore takes this opportunity to serve notice, " at least three months prior " to the next meeting, " to the several associations, conferences and churches connected with this body," that the following proposed amendment was presented in writing at the last annual meeting and will be acted upon at the Plymouth meeting in 1920:

That Art. V, Sect. 1, be amended by adding after the words " Massachusetts Home Missionary Society " the words, " one from the Board of Ministerial Aid, one from the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, and one from the Board of Pastoral Supply," so that the section shall read as follows:

1. Each evangelical Congregational Church, Conference, and Association in this Commonwealth may choose one delegate, and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of this body, two delegates from the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, one from the Board of Ministerial Aid, one from the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, one from Andover Theological Seminary, and one from the Board of Pastoral Supply, shall constitute the Conference.

ARTICLE III. — Doctrinal Basis

This Conference declares its steadfast allegiance to the faith which our fathers confessed, which, from age to age, has found its expression in the historic creeds of the Church Universal and of this Communion.

ARTICLE IV. — Denominational Basis

2. The Conference shall nominate annually one person for membership in the executive committee of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society.

That no further action be taken by the Conference at the present time concerning its relation to the M. H. M. S.

The Business Committee made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

There has been referred to the Committee an inquiry as to what constitutes a "Congregational family" in our statistical reports. The committee believes that by a "Congregational family" is intended any family which looks to a particular Congregational pastor for any form of service. They feel, however, that those in charge of our denominational statistics should define it and therefore recommend its reference to the Secretary of the National Council.

There has been referred to the Business Committee a letter from Rev. Sarah A. Dixon, pastor of the Federated Churches of Hyannis, asking that when a Congregational Church is federated with another church, and a Congregational pastor is over these churches, the fact be indicated in the Year-Book. The business committee believes that such indication is desirable for accuracy and recommends that the matter be referred to the Secretary of the National Council.

There has been referred to the Business Committee the request of the Congregational Education Society that the full 6½ per cent of apportionment, which was recommended by the National Council at Columbus, be granted. The Education Society last year received 6 per cent of the apportionment, its work rapidly increasing in importance and size. Recent new adjustments in the work of our denominational societies is making enlarged demands upon this society. The added ½ per cent will mean $1600 added to the funds of the society. The committee therefore recommends that the Conference requests the committee on missionary work to make the apportionment of the Education Society for the year 1920, 6½ per cent of the total apportionment.

That a hearing upon the report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare be given at the close of the session of the Home Missionary Society this afternoon.

At 11.15 the topic of the morning was taken up, Drills and Maneuvres.

Rev. C. M. Gates, Wellesley Hills, spoke on "Why."

Rev. W. W. Scudder spoke on "How," and introduced the following subjects and speakers:

The Every Member Drive, Rev. J. J. Walker, Boston.

Pilgrim Memorial Fund, Rev. C. S. Mills, Montclair, N. J.

Simultaneous Preaching, Rev. J. L. Kilbon, Boston.

Evangelism, Rev. J. B. Parry, Springfield.

Sunday School Campaign, Rev. M. B. Fisher, Boston.

It was voted that there be held a business session at 1.30 in the afternoon.

Rev. D. B. Eddy, Boston, gave an address, The Reviewing Officer's Report, and the Conference took a recess to 1.30 P. M.

Tuesday Afternoon

The Moderator called the Conference to order at 1.30.

The Business Committee made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That the resolution from the Middlesex Union Association regarding the salaries of ministers be referred to a committee of laymen.

That the report of the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society regarding the survey made of the churches be incorporated in the Minutes of the meeting.

The session was then turned over to the Business Committee for the hearing regarding the Lawrence Report. This hearing was resumed after the meeting of the Home Missionary Society.

At 6 o'clock the annual banquet was served in the First Church.

Tuesday Evening

The session was opened at 8 o'clock in the First Church, with worship conducted by Rev. E. D. Gaylord, Boston.

Addresses were given by Rev. Arthur Barber, Lawrence, on A Sick World and its Cure, and by Rev. Shepherd Knapp, Worcester, on The Soldier and the Christian Message.

Following the addresses the hearing on the Lawrence Report was continued and at the conclusion of the hearing the Business Committee recommended that the report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare, with conditions, appended, namely: that the Lawrence Report of Dean Brown be edited by the Moderator, be adopted. It was so voted. For the transaction of this business the Moderator called upon Mr. Samuel Usher, Cambridge, to preside.

The Conference then took a recess till 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

WEDNESDAY MORNING

The session opened at 9 o'clock with worship conducted by Rev. E. D. Gaylord, Boston.

The minutes of Tuesday's session were read and accepted as corrected.

The Nominating Committee made the following nominations:

Evangelistic Committee: 3 years: F. F. Davidson, Auburndale, Rev. J. L. Cross, Fitchburg; 2 years: Rev. W. H. Commons, Whitinsville; A. C. Emery, Weymouth; 1 year: F. A. Gaskins, Dorchester; Rev. J. B. Parry, Springfield.

Board of Ministerial Aid: W. B. Mossman, Brookline; Rev. J. L. Kilbon, Newton.

Seaman's Friend Society, Director: G. I. Alden, Worcester.

Committee of Laymen to deal with increase of ministers' salaries: Samuel Usher, Cambridge; D. M. Dustan, Worcester, F. P. Searle, Westfield.

The Business Committee recommended the following resolution, as amended, which was adopted:

Viewing with grave apprehension the possibility of continued war, unless the Peace Conference succeeds in uniting the Nations, the Massachusetts Congregational Conference hereby records its approval of such a League, together with the earnest hope that the United States Senate will unite with President Wilson to secure the League of Nations embodied in the Treaty of Peace submitted to Germany.

It was voted that a copy of these resolutions be sent to President Wilson, the two Massachusetts senators, and ex-President Taft.

The Moderator then introduced Rev. S. M. Zwemer, New York, who gave an address on Mohammedanism.

The Budget Committee made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That the churches be asked to raise through the local Associations the sum of $11,124.88 to meet the expenses of the Conference for the ensuing year.

That the rate of assessments be eight cents per member, the same as last year.

That the following appropriations be made from the treasury:

National Council (4 cents per member)	$5,562.44
Board of Pastoral Supply (1½ cents per member)	2,085.91
Mass. Federation of Churches	1,208.00
Secretary's Salary	1,000.00
Secretary's Expenses	150.00
Printing	750.00
Missionary Committee	340.00
Religious Education Committee	50.00
Rural Work Committee	50.00
Moral and Social Welfare Committee	75.00
Evangelistic Committee	50.00
Expenses of delegates from missionary churches	300.00
Contingencies	100.00
	$11,721.35

That these appropriations exceed the sum to be raised by assessment for the year by about $700.00. The committee therefore recommends that the amount needed to meet them be taken from last year's balance in the treasury.

The Committee on Moral and Social Welfare presented the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Whereas, Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, on the floor of the House of Representatives of our Commonwealth, speaking in favor of state legislation, permitting Sunday baseball throughout the state, has quoted, as supporting that position, the following clause from the report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare: "In one of our cities, the municipality subsidizes a league whose schedule is played on Sunday afternoons. No ticket selling and no collections are allowed, nor any rowdyism. This scheme is a handicap to Protestant church life, but in cities that are overwhelmingly Roman Catholic, it appears to present a reasonable solution of a hard problem." — and

Whereas, the clause quoted above was introduced into the report by way of information, instead of by way of recommendation;

Therefore, we hereby place ourselves as a committee on record as not having intended this section of our report as in any way to stand in favor of legislation permitting Sunday sports; and —

We hereby recommend a vigorous campaign on the part of the churches of our denomination to preserve the sanctity of the Lord's Day.

The Business Committee made the following recommendations, which were adopted:

That the following resolution, received by the committee, be referred to the committee named in the resolution, — In view of the rapidly increasing use of tobacco among all classes, including women, the Conference requests the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare to investigate the bearing of the use of the "weed" on health and morals, with particular reference to these two questions:

(a) Is there any objection to the use of tobacco among ministers, Sunday School superintendents, and teachers?

(b) Should the church take any stand on the question of the use of tobacco as it has on the use of beer?

As we come to the close of this most inspiring and helpful 117th meeting of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, we would hereby express our heartfelt appreciation of the hospitality of the Edwards Church and its pastor, Rev. Kenneth B. Welles, and the pastor and people of the First Church cooperating for their entertainment of the Conference. We would also extend to the various speakers our gratitude for the services rendered in contributing to the interest and success of this meeting.

That the Massachusetts Conference of Congregational Churches earnestly protests against the removal of the statutory ban on the manufacture and sale of wine and beer, as proposed by the President of the United States in his recent message to Congress. Such removal would tend to defeat the will of the people as expressed in the 18th amendment to the Constitution of the United States, encouraging the movement for nullification, and would tend to create confusion and contempt for law in the public mind. Resolved that copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President, and to the Massachusetts senators and representatives in Congress.

That this resolution, received by the committee, be adopted and a copy of it printed in The Congregationalist,—

Whereas, a plan looking toward church unity and including the reordination of Congregational ministers by the Episcopate of the Protestant Episcopal Church has been commended by prominent representatives of our churches, therefore

Resolved, that the Massachusetts Congregational Conference deplores this commendation and, while reaffirming its repeated utterances in the interest of unity and its readiness to make every consistent concession for such unity, yet hereby affirms its judgment that the acceptance of such reordination would not only imply the inadequacy of the time-honored ordination of our ministry but depreciate the liberty in which our churches had their birth and of which they have been the conspicuous champions.

The Committee on Credentials presented the following report, which was adopted:

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

The first meeting of the state body was held in Northampton in 1802. Evidently the clergy were favorably impressed, for they came back the next year for the second meeting. In 1832 and 1855 they were here again, and in the fall of 1866 the conference of the churches, distinct from the association of ministers, held one of its eight annual meetings in Northampton. Shortly thereafter the two bodies united, and once again, after 53 years, the Meadow City welcomes the state organization. Within the half century or so the number of our churches has increased 22 per cent and the membership 85 per cent. The average church then had 152 members but now has 230. Only one name in our active pastorate of today was on our state roll in 1866. John Whitehill, who this month has celebrated his fiftieth anniversary as pastor at Oldtown, was in the midst of his Hampden pastorate at that earlier date. Ten other men have reached the quarter-century mark in their present pastorates, while in 1866 there were 21 who had thus demonstrated the perseverance and the patience of the saints.

Our church roll shows a loss of three, there having been church mergers in Easthampton, Lowell, Somerville and South Weymouth, where in each case two of our churches became one. To offset the loss of units in part, the Cilician-Armenian Church of Boston now finds a place on the roll, making the number 604. Another merger just accomplished at Lowell belongs to next year's statistics.

The gathering and tabulating of the annual statistics was accomplished under difficulties. Some pastors and some clerks were absent in war work, and there were other factors collaborating to make this the slowest year of the 11 in which the present secretary has annually tried to break the speed record for the sake of an earlier Year-Book. There are still seven churches that have not reported this year. No report was expected from the moribund Fourth church of Haverhill. But there is some real life exhibited there this year. It has a missionary society that contributed $5, one each for five societies, raising it in this respect from the bottom of the list to a place above 55 others which gave from $4 down.

Counting the silent churches at their previous membership mark, the census shows an enrolment of 46,173 men and 92,888 women, the total of 139,061 being 1,045 above last year's mark. This gain seems small beside the figures for the four years preceding, but back of 1914 this year's gain is just the average annual gain for a half century. Additions on confession were 4,341, well below the previous four years, and it has been 14 years since so few letters were presented as 2,806.

The total, 7,147, is the smallest in five years. The removals were 2,435 by death, 2,141 by letter, and 1,526 by roll revision, a total of 6,102. All these figures except the deaths are below the average for a decade, but the deaths are the heaviest on record, 15 per cent above the maximum and nearly 25 per cent above the average for a decade.

For some years the number of churches reporting no additions on confession has approximated 150. This year it jumps to 207, a number rivaled only by 209 seven years ago. Only two associations, Middlesex Union and the Old Colony, have better figures of confession than last year. Naturally the total of adult baptisms also falls, the number being 1,798; but infant baptisms, 2,851, have only twice been exceeded. It is interesting but painful to note in connection with the membership figures that deaths in the whole denomination are also abnormally large, and that the national membership is smaller than a year ago. Massachusetts is not responsible, for we report a gain, but the dropping of 233 names in the merger at Somerville and of 131 in the Lowell union was more than enough to account for the denominational loss.

Only 39 churches report as many as 25 additions on confession and only four exceed 75. These four are North Chelmsford, 97; Holyoke, Grace, 90; Fitchburg Calvinistic, 82; and Quincy Park and Downs, 79. Four report as many as 100 total additions, Fitchburg Calvinistic, 112; Springfield First, 111; North Chelmsford, 110; and Holyoke, Grace, 100. Among the smaller churches a 40 per cent gain at Amherst Hope, and a 33 per cent gain at Ashburnham are notable. On the other hand Yarmouth with 70 members lost the pastor and eight others by death, and the Fitchburg German church buried nine of its 50 members, an 18 per cent mortality.

Sunday-school enrolment shows a drop of almost 10,000, standing at 120,721, the basis of counting being the same as last year. The loss is shared by all sections of the state, and a comparison of figures within any association shows here and there an increase in the midst of a general slump. Young people's figures likewise drop 15 per cent to 19,596, and the organizations for men and boys fall off in smaller ratio to 15,074 and 4,938. Yet the men continue to show a disproportionate gain in church membership.

Apportionment benevolence almost holds its own with last year, the total of $316,490 being only $2,636 smaller. In round numbers the American Board gained $11,000 and the Woman's Board lost $15,000. Of the home societies Education gained $500, Ministerial Relief $600, Home Missions $1,000, and the A. M. A. $2,300; while Church Building lost $150 and Sunday School $1,600. The Women's Federation handled $1,000 more than the year before. Other Congregational benevolence rose 20 per cent to $122,748; but undenominational gifts apparently fell off $280,000. That column of charity covers a multitude of — not sins but varieties of judgment in reporting benevolence. Last year it was extraordinarily large. Despite the drop, the total this year of $361,930 is large, and the grand total of $801,168 has been exceeded only twice, last year and 26 years ago.

There are 22 names on the death roll of ministers. Two of them date back into April of last year, not coming to the secretary's notice in time for inclusion in last year's necrology. These men had averaged more than 42 years in the ministry, ranging from 19 to 63. Only five were less than 30 years from their ordination and three were more than 60. Four dropped suddenly in the pastorate: Henry C. Alvord, 32 years at South Weymouth; George W. Andrews, 35 years at Dalton; Eugene E. Colburn, 9 years at Yarmouth, and Langley Sears, 2 years at Monson. Clarence F. Swift had just closed a 16-year pastorate at Fall River and was beginning in Denver, Col., when his work was halted. Dr. Andrews and Dr. Swift had been moderators of this Conference. John M. Greene, "father of Smith College," 61 years in the ministry, was pastor emeritus of the Eliot church, Lowell, and Martin S. Howard, 62 years in the ministry, had been a full half-century at Wilbraham, the last seven years as pastor emeritus. Orson P. Allen had been a missionary in Turkey since 1855; and Washington Choate had been home missionary secretary. Samuel H. Lee and Louis F. Giroux had given many years to the American International College at Springfield. Charles C. Carpenter was the biographer of all Andover alumni. S. Ingersoll Briant and George P. Byington, classmates at Burlington and Andover, had passed the half-century mark at Andover and in their deaths were not long divided. Robert H. Cochrane was the youngest in service, ill-health driving him from the pulpit at Marion a year before his death. Reading B. Johns had given 52 years to service among his own people, the Negroes. Andrew J. Eastman, Edgar B. French, Henry Hyde, Thomas MacBriar, Edward N. Pomeroy and George W. Wright had all served well in their appointed stations. We thank God for the longer or shorter fellowship we have enjoyed with these 22 brethren who have gone on into the higher service of the life beyond.

REPORT OF THE AUDITING COMMITTEE

131 State Street, Boston, Mass., May 12, 1919.

To the Massachusetts Congregational Conference:

I have examined the accounts of Ernest L. Miller, Treasurer of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, for the year ended May 1st, 1919, and found them correct.

RUSSELL C. GIBBS, Auditor.

REPORT OF THE CONGREGATIONAL BOARD OF PASTORAL SUPPLY

REV. ARTHUR J. COVELL, SECRETARY

BOSTON, MASS., April 1, 1919.

To the Congregational Conferences of the six New England states, the Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply presents its Third Annual Report. To the Massachusetts Conference, however, this is the twenty-fourth report, and next July marks the twenty-fifth year since the formal inauguration of the work of pastoral supply by the General Association of Massachusetts.

During the year the Board has suffered through death the loss of one of its most valued and efficient members. No one in eastern Connecticut has been of more service to our work than the Rev. Frank D. Sargent. When the Secretary, after the last Board meeting he attended, commented to him upon his quietness during the meeting, he reported that he was ill and that only his devotion to the work and personnel of the Board brought him to the meeting. This was typical of his devotion. To quote from the Minute adopted by the Board, " A generous, chivalrous soul — We loved and trusted him; we shall sadly miss him; we shall strive to be worthy of his fellowship in the 'other country.' "

Like other institutions we have felt the pressure of the strenuous times through which we have been passing. We have had an unprecedented demand from the churches for men and at the same time faced a hitherto unheard of dearth of ministers. The pestilence that has rivaled the World War in its fatalities has drawn heavily upon the ranks in both pulpits and pews. The churches in one or two New England states were entirely closed for a time, and closing in one or another section of New England has been continuous. Federations, both temporary and permanent, to meet the ministerial shortage have continued. We are now facing the increasing demand on the part of ministers in war service for pastoral settlement. We have been living in unprecedented conditions, during which the Board has had opportunity to demonstrate anew its vital relation to the best life of the churches.

The number of churches to which we have rendered service in response to requests for aid in pastoral settlement was 396, a number exceeded but once before. These churches were located in 23 states, 1 district, and 2 foreign countries. Of these churches, there were located in Maine, 43; in New Hampshire, 49; in Vermont, 38; in Massachusetts, 183; in Rhode Island, 8; in Connecticut, 30; in New York, 11; in Florida, 4; in Colorado, 3; in Michigan, 3; in Illinois, 3; in Iowa, 3; in Kansas, 3; in New Jersey, 2; in Pennsylvania, 2; and one each in the District of Columbia, Minnesota, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Wyoming, Canada and China.

In this enumeration, we have not included the furnishing of occasional or temporary supplies, nor included commendations for position other than for pastoral service.

So far as known, the total number of pastoral settlements in which the Board had an important part was 107. In this number there has been included stated supplies for not less than six months; but account has not been taken of arrangements for shorter terms, nor for a limited number of commendations for other forms of service.

Of the churches conferring with the Board about pastoral settlement during the year, 130 had less than one hundred members; 168 had each from one hundred to three hundred members; and 98 had more than three hundred each in membership. Ninety-seven of these churches paid less than $1000; 224 of them paid from $1000 to $2000; while 75 paid more than $2000. The value of the parsonage rental has been included. The average salary of the churches with which the Board has dealt is materially larger than in previous years. This is due partly to the quite general increase in salaries, partly to the fact that the smaller churches in large numbers have been obliged to adopt some emergency plan to meet their needs, and partly to the increasing freedom of the large churches in utilizing the office.

Opportunities for preaching were furnished during the year to 330 men, of whom 131 were candidates for settlement. The larger portion of these men had repeated opportunities. The number of occasional supplies was 887; this was 168 more than our previous maximum.

We have been busy with our own correspondence, and a constantly pressing problem of the office is how to meet the demands in this part of the work while doing justice to personal conferences. The number of letters sent from the office during the year was 7958.

The Treasurer's account, with the Auditor's Statement, will be found in the Appendix.

RECEIPTS

Office fees	$900.95
Preaching by the Secretary	730.37
Rebate on rent	70.14
Refunds	21.03
Individual gifts	10.00
Equals amount of checks sent to S. G. Morse, Treasurer	$1,732.49

EXPENSES

Postage	$368.58
Stationery	88.93
Telephone and telegraph	152.73
Advertising in The Congregationalist and the Congregational Year-Book	64.60
Traveling expenses of the Secretary	208.61
Traveling expenses of the Directors	67.03
Printing and binding	126.00
Secretary's salary	2,700.00
Assistant's salary	740.00

Extra office help	9.75
Rent and care of room	384.96
Extra office room	42.75
Office sundries	49.35
Office furnishings	71.50
Equals the amount of checks received from S. G. Morse, Treasurer	$5,522.04

The office expenses are a little more than $400 more than for the previous year; but it chances that the office receipts are more than $300 larger than for the year before. The amount received from the Secretary's preaching is the largest ever reported, and the office fees are nearly $225 more than ever before reported in one year. These increased fees may be called war profits, due to special conditions, and are not likely to be as large again. In the matter of expense, the stationery bill is nearly double that of the previous year, while there were material increases in the cost of postage, telephone and telegraph, and stenographic help.

The following are the receipts reported by the Treasurer from the constituent New England Conferences:

Connecticut	$1,163.05	Total amount due for 1919 and $500 on 1919. ($400 was credited on 1918 dues in last year's report.)
Maine	324.36	Total amount due for 1918.
Massachusetts	2,232.08	Total amount due to March 31, 1919. ($2,070.24 was Massachusetts' dues for the year, the balance received applying on the previous year.)
Vermont	346.16	Total amount due for 1918.
Rhode Island	149.59	Total amount due to March 31, 1919.
New Hampshire	301.47	$100 of this applied on the previous year's dues, leaving $100 still due for the year ending May, 1919.

It will be observed that there are, this year, no back dues for the year 1918, while Connecticut, with her usual promptness, has already advanced $500 on her dues for 1919. We have need of a good working balance in our treasury, since payments from the states are sometimes delayed. At one time during this past year we had but $6.19 in the treasury, but a reminder to several of the conference treasurers brought a quick response.

In order to keep clearly in mind the variations in methods of payment, it is well to quote a paragraph from last year's report:

"Maine, Connecticut and Vermont begin their year January 1, and compute the one and one-half cent per member from the Year-Book at hand at the beginning of the calendar year. Massachusetts begins her year January 1, but changes her basis of computation May 1, taking the figures of the new Year-Book for the balance of the year. Rhode Island's year begins April 1, and New Hampshire's begins May 1, these states using the figures of the Year-Book issued after January 1, each year."

The Secretary during the year has traveled on Board work approximately 6,300 miles. He has exercised some caution in his travels, both on account of the expense involved and on account of the need of his presence at the office.

We have done better than we anticipated in keeping down the usual expenses incident to the war, but these expenses are not over. It has been necessary to raise materially the pay for office help. We have been fortunate in making part-time arrangement with another office for stenographer; but this will terminate soon, through the change of plan of the Pilgrim Memorial Fund. It may be necessary to assume the full time of a stenographer. The pressure of office work may require that the Secretary take fewer Sunday appointments; but the opportunities for knowledge of men and conditions are such that the Secretary hesitates to curtail at this point more than may become necessary.

An interesting development of the year is the recommendation made by a Baptist Committee, having the matter in charge, that the Baptists establish a Board of Pastoral Supply along the general lines of ours. The recommendation is that such a board be established in a compact and limited area before attempting a national organization or a group of district boards. The purpose is, first, to establish and make vital one organism. Our Board has been mentioned in a book published by the Baptist Publishing Society as the best agency of the kind, and Baptist churches have in some instances sought our aid. The Secretary has been in conference through the year with Baptist officials.

In the practical work of the office we have our trying experiences, yet also we have our full measure of appreciation. A recent letter from the chairman of a church committee, after reporting certain improvements to the church property, reads thus: "We like to make this report, because of the kind interest you have taken in our welfare and the great assistance you have given us in securing a new pastor. We feel sure it would have been a very difficult matter for us to have found a satisfactory man at this time without your help. The trustees wish to thank you most heartily for your good counsel and unfailing patience during our long correspondence."

A minister, a year or so ago, made such an ideal settlement from his particular viewpoint that he insists on occasional money gifts, which with his consent are used to meet the office fees for certain supplies when the fee is small, or the expenses great, or the man hard pressed financially. In his report two years ago, the Secretary quoted the letter of a genial committeeman who was in search of a young minister "with the making of a Beecher or Storrs, without defect of any sort," anxious for a difficult place at a small salary. A few days ago that same deacon in a call at the office expressed his conviction that they secured through the Board exactly that man. We appreciate the enthusiasm of the deacon, but trust that he will not ask us to duplicate the former achievement.

The Secretary of the Board has been exhorted recently by one of our Home Missionary officials to write an article on parsonages and their importance in furthering the interests of the church. This particular official has four parsonages in a limited area unsuitable for a minister's family. In a large number of cases, perhaps in a majority, the maintenance of the parsonage is a matter of pride and honor on the part of the congregation. Ministers have sometimes remained in a small field because so much was done to make their abode attractive that the lure of the larger field was ineffective. It is to be admitted that ministers have sometimes made unwise demands upon prospective parishes. For instance, one man was about to be called to a church, when the question of his family needs was raised. He chanced to have six children and a servant. He thought it would be necessary to have a separate sleeping room for each one of the children, one for the maid, and one or more for guest rooms. Not seeing their way to furnish a house with nine or ten sleeping rooms, the call was not extended. It may be admitted that occasionally a minister's wife places an undue emphasis upon certain features of the parsonage. It is certainly very true that the cost of repairing a house just now is very great.

Yet the parsonage may be the real community center around which the best life of the parish develops. It is associated with the ministry of the men who have shaped the entire Christian life of many a man. Since the minister and his wife may not have the luxury which is the portion of the business and professional man, it is but fair that their abodes have not only entirely healthful surroundings and comfort, but a degree of charm as well. It frequently happens in country and village parishes that there is not a suitable place for a minister's home, unless the church has a parsonage. It sometimes happens that the parsonage that is owned is left to take care of itself, or the minister, out of a meagre salary, must bear the expense of repair and maintenance. One of the frequent causes of ministerial unrest is the condition of the parsonage, and many a church fails to secure the man who seems to be the one for the field because he cannot take his wife and young children into that home. It sometimes happens that a minister, when called, promises to accept if certain changes are made in the parsonage. The church thinks it impossible to meet these suggestions and no settlement is made; but somehow before another man is called the desired change comes about. "One sows and another reaps." How much better if the church had risen earlier to its opportunity!

More than once the Secretary has been asked to say something about the peculiarities of the ministers from the viewpoint of the churches. As a class probably ministers do not have as many peculiarities as the men of some other callings, and with our changing conditions these peculiarities are growing less marked each year. With his genial manner of approach, the socially minded minister is frequently mistaken for a traveling man. The peculiarities that come to the attention of the Board are peculiarities of the men rather than those that spring from the profession, and the minister cannot hope to escape from the eccentricities which invade all callings. Nevertheless, mention may be made of a few of these that come to us in connection with our work.

Ministers in search of a field frequently make a psychological mistake in efforts to impress a committee, and the opposite effect from that intended is produced. It is well for a committee to know of the esteem in which a man is held and of the special demand for him by other churches. But Congregational committees perversely conclude often that they will not enter into competition with those other churches reported as so eagerly seeking a man. Frankness and modesty properly blended will best serve the minister's purpose in that delicate period when he is ready for another field. There have been cases when a man was about to be called and fully expected to accept, when feeling sure of his position he made some needless demands that entirely changed the committee's course and the call was not extended. The chairman of the committee of a prominent church once made a significant statement to the Secretary, when he said, "When we receive a letter commending some man, we give it serious attention, for we esteem it an honorable thing for any good man to aspire to the pastorate of our church. When we receive on the following day a second letter of the same tenor, our first impression is deepened. When a third letter comes, a query arises in our minds. When six unsought letters come in a few days about the same man we absolutely refuse to consider him." Church committees are differently constituted, but the sentiment here expressed reflects the attitude of a goodly number.

Men are sometimes over-anxious for immediate results. A certain man once visited a certain field and felt sure the committee needed advice. He called them together, told them exactly what he thought to be the matter with the situation and did a real prophet's service; but he himself was not invited back to that pulpit. During war time a certain prominent New England church substituted a stanza or two of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee" for the "Gloria." A minister supplied a Sunday, and when told of the arrangement calmly announced without consulting anyone that they would sing the "Gloria" that Sunday instead, and there was wrath in the report from that church. A certain minister from the section of the country where cyclones are generated was once called to a staid old New England church. He immediately changed the order of the service, the relation of the various societies, and at the end of six weeks had changed everything possible, and proposed then a change in the name of the church. The worm will turn, and the minister was informed then that the present name of the church had stood for two hundred and fifty years before his arrival and would probably remain for a time after his departure. Dr. Jefferson once advised a young minister to make no change in the organization of his church for a year after entering upon a pastorate.

It is possible for a minister to be over-conscientious. This seemed to be the trouble with a certain good man who reported for a given period seven and a quarter funerals. We had heard of persons only partly alive, but had never heard of funeral services performed in such cases. The man explained that the quarter of a funeral meant a prayer at the grave.

A few ministers have over-emphasized the dramatic. One man's troubles developed as reported when he began throwing things about the room after the manner of a certain evangelist Another, to emphasize his conservative attitude on Biblical questions, declared that he stood upon the Bible, and suited the action to the word by standing upon the Bible. The man who illustrated the steps in the latest dances on Sunday evening did this in the home of the deacon, and not upon the pulpit platform.

A chapter might well be written upon the shortcomings of some of our churches in the matter of hospitality; but the churches also have their burdens. While ministers as a whole are choice guests, yet once we received from a church needing supply this laconic message: "Do not send us the Rev. A. B. Blank. Our hotel has burned down."

Time forbids that we should enter into the tragedies resulting from tan shoes in the pulpit, or from highly-colored neckties worn by the preacher.

The difficulties created by the war in securing an adequate supply of ministers have been but slightly lessened. The men who have served as Y. M. C. A. Secretaries and as Chaplains feel that their value has been enhanced and are seeking in the main more conspicuous fields than they held before. Then men from the smaller churches who went into shipbuilding and similar forms of war work are still for the most part serving in these occupations. The multiplicity of church federations is calling for a new type of minister. The times call for a great reenforcement of the claims of the Christian ministry upon our choice young men.

There are distinct signs of hope in the present attitude of the churches. Recently they have been less imperative in their demand for youth. Within a few weeks one committee man voiced the need of his church by saying that they wanted a minister "young enough to understand the young." A somewhat new, but an admirable, way of expressing their needs. An arbitrary age limit is an irrational thing; while an emphasis upon personality and spiritual qualities and ability to meet specific needs is always wise.

A large number of our churches, and perhaps a majority, realize the need of improving the salaries paid their ministers. There is an awakening conscience in the matter. The fees paid for Sunday supplies have in many cases been increased, and many churches have listened to the suggestion of the Secretary of this Board and have added carfare to the fee paid.

There have of late been increasing indications that our church committees are less inclined to take what might, in the minds of more experienced leaders, be considered unwise action. Sometimes the Secretary has aided a church to secure a pastor by cooperating with three different committees that have successively taken up the task. He has wondered at these ecclesiastical revolutions. A freakish member of a church committee may work great mischief, and practical acquaintance with committees begets sympathy for those who are striving to curb ill considered action, and are standing in a self-sacrificing way for the permanent good of the church. There is growing evidence of more sober judgment in the action of our church committee in seeking pastors. There has been also an honest effort, crowned with a good measure of success, to meet the adjustments called for in the near future. Many federations have been formed where federation seemed the wisest solution. An earnest effort has been shown to develop the right atmosphere for our returning soldiers. For the new time when some change of method may be needed, our churches have been seeking to find the way for more effective service.

In the emphasis upon the spiritually effective qualities of ministers rather than upon mere youth, in the desire to make some more adequate provision for the minister's material welfare, in willingness to do team work, both in learning the lessons of experience in seeking ministers, and in willingness to cooperate with others to meet the needs of the new day, there is the brightening prospect of a better day in our church life.

MASSACHUSETTS BOARD OF MINISTERIAL AID

The Massachusetts Board of Ministerial Aid was incorporated March 19, 1869. It consists of fifteen members. Vacancies are filled by the Board.

An endeavor is being made to bring the Board into closer fellowship with the General Conference of the Massachusetts churches. In the last few years this Board has come into a new relationship with the National Board of Ministerial Relief. Money sent by churches or individuals to New York or to Boston is applied to work throughout the state and nation. The Massachusetts Board reports annually to the National Board the approximate amount needed for the coming year. This amount is paid to the Massachusetts Board in quarterly installments.

In 1918 this Board had on its roll fifty-eight beneficiaries, nineteen men and thirty-nine women. Three have entered the life beyond. At the December meeting of the Executive Committee grants were made to fifty-two beneficiaries and since then three additional names have been added, and today three new applications are before the Executive Committee. The Massachusetts Board at its annual meeting placed at the disposal of the Executive Committee for the current fiscal year $11,000. It looks as if every penny would be needed and perhaps more. This makes it needful that the churches of Massachusetts give more liberally to this work.

In 1917 the receipts from Massachusetts churches for Ministerial Relief, both national and state, were $9,048, while the grants made in Massachusetts by both societies amounted to $11,689.58.

The National Society generously permitted us to join with them in an appeal for a Christmas gift for every beneficiary. From this source our Society received $1,325. This was divided by your Committee according to the needs of the beneficiaries in sums from $12.50 to $35.00. On January 2nd an additional allowance of $200 for the same use was received from Secretary Rice, and was distributed among those of our beneficiaries who most surely needed special aid. Three of our beneficiaries no longer need the aid of the Board. Of these two are widows with families. In one case the help given enabled the mother to educate her children. The boy, whose struggle for an education was heroic, is a lieutenant overseas and allows his mother $75 per month. The two sisters are prepared to help support the family.

This shows the real help the Board has been in enabling a mother to keep her family together. Another of our beneficiaries, a widow with eight children, is being helped to care for them. Two or more of the boys are in the navy and army.

The Executive Committee has sought to keep in close touch with the beneficiaries and has endeavored to make all feel that there is a warm personal interest felt for them. Whenever attention is called to a needy pastor or widow, at once we seek to know them personally and to get facts at first-hand. Only within a few months the Committee found the daughter of one of our leading professors of earlier days in a New England Theological Seminary in need. The promise of help from the Board was promptly given and a happy Christmas assured.

The treasurer's statement for the year ending December 31, 1918, is as follows:

Receipts:

Balance Jan. 1, 1918	$ 5.00
Donations	3,326.08
Income from Invested Funds	2,337.33
Cong. Board of Ministerial Relief	10,037.50
	$15,705.91

Disbursements:

Aid	$10,058.75
Expense, printing, postage, clerk hire	254.21
Cong. Board of Ministerial Relief	5,392.95
	$15,705.91

The invested funds of the Board amount to $65,314.98.

COMMITTEE ON MISSIONARY WORK

The gifts of the churches to the denominational societies as reported by the Societies for the year 1918 amounted to $316,490, a loss of $2,636 compared with the gifts for 1917.

In harmony with the action of the Secretaries and Superintendents at the mid-winter conference at St. Louis in January, 1918, the State Committee, in conference with the chairman of the local associations, adopted the sum of $435,000 as the amount to be apportioned among the associations of Massachusetts for year 1919. This is our part of the $2,000,000 goal expected to be reached in 1920, but, in view of the Every Member drive to be undertaken last December, it was deemed wise to anticipate the maximum by one year.

The annual conference of the local associations with the State Missionary Committee was held as usual and the important progress made this year consists in the filing with the State Committee by twenty-four of the local associations of the apportionments made to the separate churches. This enables us to publish on a sheet for purposes of comparison and use by Associational Committees the apportionment for 1919 of every church in the state with the exception of the one association not reporting. We also publish the total contributions raised by each church in 1918 for the nine Congregational objects. Churches taking an Every Member Canvass for 1919 are starred with an asterisk so far as reported. It is deemed wise that the apportionment of each church be published and distributed to each church. The apportionment made to each local association follows along the same general line as in previous years but with increases sufficient to make the total apportionment for 1919 equal $435,000. In some cases, however, the amount apportioned by the missionary apportionment committee of the local association is less than the amount assigned by the State Committee. In one case, Essex South, a larger amount is apportioned than the State Committee assigned. This latter action is much to be commended, as we must bear in mind that while a goal of $2,000,000 has been set that amount is not considered a maximum but only a minimum by those who thoughtfully consider the tremendous opportunity that confronts the Christian Church today.

Furthermore the $2,000,000 was set as a goal when the purchasing power of the dollar was sixty per cent greater than today.

To the associations which apportioned a smaller sum among their churches than was assigned the State Committee would offer the following suggestion: If the minimum goal is to be obtained must not each individual factor be informed of his share? The State Committee accepts for Massachusetts the amount apportioned to the State, $435,000. The question of whether Massachusetts will or can raise the sum could be debated, but if we apportion a lesser amount among the associations it is morally certain that the lesser sum would be the aim. Now each association could debate the same question as to its ability to raise the sum apportioned, and so on to the local church and then to the individual. In the light that has come to us in the recent drives for humanity have we not gained tremendously in our appreciation of the reserve power for good that is in our land? None of us in 1914 had visions that the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross would garner so richly in 1917 and 1918. And yet the great results were those of big apportionments with successful "Every Member" drives. In those churches starred upon the apportionment sheets as reporting the Every Member Canvass for 1919, the results are so pronounced where this method has been adopted for raising various budgets of either home expenses or benevolences, or for both, that the State Committee feel that until this method has been adopted by the great majority of our churches it would be almost a waste of effort for it to attempt a different apportionment to the associations.

For the purposes of study the committee has had an analysis made of the churches of a single association to check up with the amounts assigned to the individual churches of that association by its local missionary apportionment committee, as well as the apportionment made to the association by the State Missionary Committee.

The question has arisen in some churches concerning the disposition of the sums of money obtained in the Every Member Canvass beyond the amount apportioned. In some instances the over-subscription is considered undesignated, and instead of dividing this among the designated objects churches are voting it to various other objects or causes in apparent disregard of the fact that the generous response was the result of urgent pleas for definite Congregational work. The committee recommends to meet such a situation that in making the canvass it be provided that in case of over-subscription a certain percentage (at least sixty per cent) be pro rated among the stated Congregational Societies. We would urge the Churches to remember that the under-subscription is so great that it more than offsets the cases of over-subscription, and, so far as possible, only for the most convincing reasons should any part of this apparently undesignated money be diverted from the object named.

We ask that an appropriation for the committee be the same as in 1918, namely, $250.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MORAL AND SOCIAL WELFARE

With the cessation of numerous war time activities, there comes a release of energy, which is sorely needed that the campaign for social and moral welfare may be maintained at its normal efficiency. It has been perfectly evident that those who battle for moral betterment are also most apt to be militant in patriotic endeavor. It has been equally evident that their supply of strength is limited.

Incident to the war, there has been the birth of new forms of moral danger. On the other hand, unexpected and truly remarkable progress has been made toward the prevention of venereal disease. Work along this line at army camps and in factories will make its results felt for a generation to come. The glory of a clean, strong body has never before been so magnified in America. The Bureau of Public Health, Washington, D. C., distributes without charge valuable literature upon this subject.

It is perfectly clear that the work which is represented by this committee must be specially emphasized during the coming conference year. We offer the following suggestions.

MOVING PICTURES

That the moving picture theatre has proved to be a dangerous enemy of the saloon is declared by the liquor men themselves. But this has been accidental. It has not been through a working out of a strong moral purpose. Therefore it is easy to understand why it is that the moving picture business itself needs a cleansing. Its indirect reaction against the saloon has been an inevitable by-product, highly regarded by the reformer, but by the producer regarded largely for its box office possibilities. No one can estimate the harm done to children and young people by the premature or perverted stimulation of sex consciousness. Furthermore, when once the feelings are burned over by forest fire emotions, true sentiments can never match the growing years. A careless familiarity with scenes of violence, together with over-feeding upon the ridiculous, cannot but destroy sense of proportion, one of life's finest possessions.

The recognition and encouragement of good photoplays, with a strenuous propaganda against those which lower standards, should accompany that public censorship which we must demand. Occasionally the permanent drafting of a school hall for model entertainments proves effective in the effort to raise standards. Business is business; private enterprise must be given its chance. Another and a more imperative voice reminds us that morals are morals, and that children must be given their chance. The Massachusetts churches which have entered most heartily into the presentation of moving pictures seem rather dubious as to the advisability of our churches doing much with moving pictures, though some Catholic churches use commercial outfits in their parish houses, with licensed operators and run on something of a schedule.

The open-on-Sunday commercialized moving picture house is a serious handicap to church work, entailing severe spiritual loss. Commercialism runs all through this evil. "Sunday must not be commercialized; Sunday shall not be commercialized," are noble watchwords. The positive goal of the Christian life forces us to battle with this evil.

SUNDAY BASEBALL

Here again we plead for a Lord's Day, free from greed for gain Exercise by the many, rather than the watching of a few performers is the ideal. What watching is done on Sunday should be of amateur teams, playing without rowdyism, witnessed without rowdyism. Such decency is easier to obtain on Sunday than on other days. In one of our cities, the municipality subsidizes a league whose schedule is played on Sunday afternoons No ticket selling and no collections are allowed, nor any rowdyism. This scheme is a handicap to Protestant church life, but in cities that are overwhelmingly Roman Catholic, it appears to present a reasonable solution of a hard problem.

PROHIBITION

Prohibition is ratified, which means that our real task has begun. Efforts to reverse legislative action have failed. The temperance forces must now secure a satisfactory definition of an "intoxicant," and they must exalt regard for this latest amendment as part of the fundamental law of this land. By our efforts for ratification we have obligated ourselves to demand and to help make possible the enforcement of laws that shall be based upon this amendment. The outrageous disregard of the license laws warns us against a similar possible disregard of prohibitory statutes.

Now is the hour of hours to continue Christian pressure upon state and national legislators.

News of ratification was a pleasing report of progress, and it was absolutely nothing more than that. Insidious gas waves of propaganda to break down sentiment for the amendment roll and roll upon the people. Their origin and animus may readily be unsuspected. Therefore we must proclaim and illustrate the truths of scientific temperance and inform our state concerning the real truth in regard to prohibition.

"Ne'er think the victory won, nor lay thine armor down," is good gospel in this campaign. Within a year, each county association of churches should have on its program a prohibition period. Secretary Arthur Davis of the Anti-Saloon League will gladly aid in making this an attractive feature, and will also make suggestions for an exhibit illustrating the truths of scientific temperance. We are collecting a good deal of information in regard to substitutes for the saloon, and expect considerable results from commercial substitutes. In this connection we note with pleasure that our brother Rev. A. J. Dyer has become secretary of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society.

A CLERGYMAN LEGISLATOR

For some years a Congregational clergyman, Rev. Roland D. Sawyer, has been a member of the Massachusetts legislature. His attitude toward measures which we believe to have been for moral betterment has generally been one which we cannot but deplore. We question his judgment rather than his motives, and mention the matter simply to make plain our conviction that his stand is purely individualistic and not representative of the position taken by any appreciable number of the Congregational churches of Massachusetts.

THE LAWRENCE STRIKE

Industrial disease has been malignant at Lawrence. Since 1912 "the Lawrence strike" has had a sadly definite meaning, but now another industrial plague will compel one upon hearing those words to add a query as to which period of outbreaking disease is meant by that phrase. After careful listening to a report made to our committee by a trained investigator working under the direction of the Federal Council of Churches, our committee determined to secure the services of Dean Charles R. Brown, who succeeded admirably as an investigator of the earlier epidemic. Dean Brown is preparing a commentary upon this second Lawrence strike, which he plans to present at the annual meeting Upon accepting our invitation Dr. Brown declined to receive compensation. This committee asks for an appropriation of $75 to enable it to carry on its work during the coming year:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FEDERATION

The Massachusetts Federation of Churches, in which this committee has represented the Conference, has had a year of increased activity and responsibility, due to the steadily growing habit of cooperative action among the Christian forces of the Commonwealth.

Combinations of churches of different denominations for united worship and service have increased in number; in almost every case the results have been altogether satisfactory. In the federated relationship denominational loyalty has not been sacrificed. The elimination of needless duplication of effort in the same community is a great gain; one pastor serving the united churches has an unobstructed field of action and the massed personal and financial resources of the whole community for his support.

There has been increased cooperation in the wider areas of religious work. Within the Federation organization committees have acted in matters of social welfare, legislation, international relations, religious education, and other lines of service. The Committee on Evangelism has promoted concerted effort throughout the State, and has held three important conferences for pastors. It has been found that whatever any church may undertake, all the churches may undertake together, and with increased efficiency because of the massing of forces.

The year has been marked by special cooperative endeavors by the denominations, most notable of all being the Inter-Church World Movement, an undertaking of great significance for the future of Christianity.

The Committee would recommend that a similar committee of thirty be appointed for the next year to represent the Conference in the Massachusetts Federation of Churches.

In the matter of financial support for the Federation which should go with participation in its work, the Committee has an important recommendation to present. At the first, the very small costs of the Federation were met by special contributions of churches and individuals. In 1906 the first appropriation was made by this Conference at the rate of $300 a year, this being the total apportioned part for Congregationalists in the budget of the Federation at that time. With the inevitable increase of the budget of the Federation the appropriation of the Conference remained the same, making it necessary for your Committee to raise the remainder of the share apportioned for Congregationalists through solicitation. The Conference took a further step forward in meeting its obligation by the appropriation of $600 in 1916. The total budget of the Federation now is $4000. This is not at all commensurate with the importance of its work, but the proportionate share of Congregationalists in this modest budget as measured by the ratio of our churches to the total number represented in the Federation is $1214. To raise the amount necessary in addition to the appropriation of $600 to complete this quota has placed upon your Committee a heavy burden. With the multiplication of appeals made to individuals for contributions to good causes and in view of the responsibility assumed by the Conference in appointing its representatives to the Federation, your Committee of thirty by a large majority recommends that for the next year the full quota apportioned for our Conference, $1214, be appropriated and raised by the Conference.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RURAL CONDITIONS

"To democratize Christianity, and to Christianize democracy — this is the twofold duty facing Christians of today and tomorrow."

Your Committee would write these ringing words of McGiffert as a heading for its report, and would fain see them written in letters of fire on the heart of every rural pastor and worker in Massachusetts. The "good tidings," promised "to all the people," are meant to touch all of life on all its sides, at all times and in all places. The church without community vision and ideals, spending its thought and its substance on its own private ends, is destined to die and ought to die. Institutions as well as individuals need the warning, "he that saveth his own life shall lose it."

Your Committee has not had the time or the means to carry on any special investigation of rural conditions; but with the splendid work that has been done in this field by the Mass. Agricultural College and by other agencies, civic and religious, we have not seen the need of duplicating effort in this direction. Every rural pastor and leader should read and inwardly digest the M. A. C. bulletin, "Mobilizing the Rural Community" (Sept., 1918), which is full of suggestion and practical illustration, and contains an admirable bibliography. We also recommend a perusal of the University of Wisconsin's Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin on "The Country Church an Economic and Social Force," which among other good things contains a condensed life of John Frederick Oberlin. John F. Cowan's "Big Jobs for Little Churches" is big with help, showing from personal experience and investigation both the wrong way and the right way "to do it."

The chief factors in rural betterment are well known. Economic, educational and social forces must combine and fuse with the "religious," for these things are themselves to be made religious. The church has a ministry for the body politic as well as for the soul politic. Elisha did not feel it beneath a prophet to interest himself in fertile soil and pure water. Jesus fed men before he preached to them. He knew good seed from bad. He used his power to multiply men's resources for the body as well as for the soul.

Everywhere the Church is feeling the "challenge of the present crisis." Can the country church rise to her opportunity? She was never so necessary as now, provided she can enter the life of the new age in the spirit of service. Her very right to exist is commensurate with her seeking in the Master's spirit to bring health, happiness, hope, the larger life, to all the people without regard to race, color, creed (political or religious) or condition in life. It calls for uplook and outlook. It demands such warmth of comradeship in the battle of life as the men in the trenches knew and lived by in their struggle across the sea. To vitalize the new age requires a message and a mission for all the people — a quickened life, a wider horizon, a larger sympathy, an all-inclusive community plan and purpose. It will demand leaders of the right sort, with adequate pay for the support and education of a family.

The rural pastor and teacher must be rurally minded, by his own thought and interest leading his people to love, honor and glorify their surroundings. He must have the whole community in his head and heart, seeing it all as an object of redemption. Then the rural church may reach out and touch every problem. Then men will gladly look to her as the center and source of light and warmth and power. Then she will make democracy a reality. "To serve the present age" in the spirit of Christ is her divine mission.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

The committee on Religious Education and Young People's Work started the year with a definite program for young people's rallies in different sections of the state. It also had a definite policy to arrange addresses on religious education and young people's work before the various associations of the state. The ravages of the influenza epidemic, the death of one of the ablest members of the committee, and the withdrawal of three others for war service, have prevented the fulfillment of these plans. An address on religious education was arranged and delivered before the Suffolk South Association at Roslindale on November 6, 1918, and addresses have been made by a member of the committee before the following associations: Suffolk West, Norfolk, Barnstable, Pilgrim, Hampshire, Hampshire East, and Middlesex South.

The committee has concentrated a great deal of effort upon its part of the program for the state meeting at Northampton, May 19 to 21. It has arranged the program for the period between 3.30 and 5.30 on Monday afternoon, and also for the supper conference on the same evening. In the afternoon there will be presented the report of the committee on a program for young people in the local churches, with brief addresses by young people who are leaders in various parts of the state. The main address is to be given by Professor Luther A. Weigle, upon "A New Program for Young People's Work." At the supper conference there will be brief and informal addresses with possible suggestions and criticisms. The committee has made a thorough effort to secure a large representation of young people as delegates to this meeting.

One of the severest problems confronting the churches today is the provision of competent leadership for religious education and young people's work. The committee urges the churches to meet this need in the following ways:

1st. By securing large delegations to attend Northfield Summer School of Religious Education and other summer institutes.

2nd. By fostering attendance at community schools of religious education.

3rd. By promoting teacher-training classes and institutes in the local churches where community schools are not available. (See Pilgrim Standard.)

4th. Where possible, by engaging directors of religious education.

5th. By carefully considering the adoption of the Young People's Association or some adequate plan of expressional and recreational activity for all of the young people that can be reached. (See report of Special Committee.)

This work is the more important inasmuch as the educational and young people's program of the local church is fast outgrowing the limits of available time on Sunday. It seems inevitable that before long mid-week religious instruction will be inaugurated, possibly in connection with the public schools. The opportunity is likely to present itself before we have a trained leadership ready. The committee urges, therefore, the immediate and urgent importance of training leaders for these lines of work which must lay the foundation for the Christian civilization of the future. The only hope of the world is in the religious education and training of our children and young people.

The committee presents to the Conference the following resolution:

Whereas: A large part of the Missionary Education work of our various denominational boards has been put under the Missionary Educational Department of the Education Society;

Whereas: The Educational Society has taken over from the National Council support of the Social Service Department of the denomination;

Whereas: The work of Religious Education in the local churches is growing rapidly in importance;

Whereas: The National Council at Columbus definitely requested the Education Society to take over all the Religious Education work of the churches which had previously been done by the C. S. S. & P. S., and that the churches be asked to contribute 6½% of their total apportionment to the Education Society in view of this increased responsibility, and

Whereas: The Massachusetts Conference Committee on Missionary Work in October, 1918, voted to make the apportionment of the churches for 1919 to the Education Society 6%

Therefore: The Committee on Religious Education request the Massachusetts Conference to instruct its Committee on Missionary Work to make the apportionment to the Education Society for the year 1920 6½% of the total.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISTIC WORK

The Evangelistic Committee has this year found itself alined with the Tercentenary movement for the securing of a deeper Evangelistic note in our Congregational fellowship. Born in the cultural atmosphere of Corpus Christi, Cambridge, we have always striven and secured a ministry of whose intellectual attainments we have every reason to be proud. But it has sometimes been feared that in our zeal for a well educated ministry we have often surrendered the passion which characterized the forceful preaching of Wesley and Moody. "I seldom come out of the pulpit," said Baxter, "but my conscience smiteth me that I have been no more serious and fervent in such a case." "Is it not a fact," asks Dr. George Jackson "that the pulpit of today is suffering from lack of 'abandon'?" At seventy years of age Gladstone achieved one of the greatest triumphs of modern political history in his great Midlothian campaign because "he bore his hearers through long chains of strenuous periods, calling up by the marvellous transformation of his mien a strange succession of images, — as if he were now a keen hunter, now some eager bird of prey, now a charioteer of fiery steeds kept well in hand, and now and again we seemed to hear the pity or dark wrath of a prophet, with the mighty rushing wind, and the fire running along the ground." It was because his confession always remained true. "All I think and all I do is based upon Jesus Christ, the one hope of our poor wayward race. To bring men and women to a deeper consciousness of the Master is therefore the function of the preacher, and in the doing of this he will be keeping 'the soul of the world alive'."

In order to emphasize this, your Committee arranged a State series of Conferences on Evangelism under the splendid leadership of the men whose names appear opposite the appended list. The pastors who attended returned to their parishes with a consecrated determination to set in motion the plans formulated and are now engaged in further developing among the laymen of their churches this passion for Christ.

To write the Scribe of each association asking that the Evangelistic Committee be composed of the strongest available men and that Evangelism be given a prominent place on the program of the Spring Meetings.

RECOMMENDATIONS

I. To recommend to the Conference the advisability of continuing in some other way than at present carried out the life of this Committee, so that each year some member or members shall be retained in order to further the plans proposed. It recommends a Committee of six, two to be appointed each year for three years

II. That a working agreement be arranged with the Home Missionary Society whereby it may sustain and foster the work on its fields. The cooperation of the past year has proved the great value of having its officers at all meetings and securing their services in the furtherance of the work of Evangelism.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON REVISION OF RULES

The plan of holding the sessions of the Conference on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, instead of on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, recommended by this committee in 1917 and provisionally adopted by the Conference in 1918 and 1919, seems to have commended itself to the representatives of the churches. The committee therefore recommends that the change be made permanent. The suggested amendments to the Rules will be found in the appendix to this report.

This committee was instructed last year by the Conference to confer with a similar committee to be appointed by the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, the two committees to constitute a joint committee to consider possible methods of closer cooperation between the Conference and the M. H. M. S. The question of possible closer relations between these two organizations has been given careful consideration by this committee ever since its first appointment, in 1914. A joint meeting of this committee and the sub-committee of conference appointed by the Executive committee of the M. H. M. S. was held early in the fall of 1918. At this meeting careful study was given to the various relations existing between Conferences and Home Missionary Societies in other States. The joint committee came to the conclusion that it would be unwise to make any essential change in the relation now existing between the Conference and the M. H. M. S. The committee therefore recommends that no further action be taken by the Conference at the present time concerning its relation to the M. H. M. S. This recommendation is satisfactory to the Executive committee of the M. H. M. S., which has voted that, in the judgment of the committee, it would be unfavorable to the interests of the Home Missionary Society to unite the two organizations. The executive officers of the Society, however, are ready to render every possible assistance to the Churches and to the Conference, and will welcome any suggestions from the Conference.

It was voted by the Conference last year that the legal, administrative and denominational relations of the several societies and organizations interlocking with the State Conference and Home Missionary Society, such as the Board of Pastoral Supply, Board of Ministerial Aid and the Seaman's Friend Society be reported on by the committee on revision of rules.

(1) The Massachusetts Home Missionary Society was organized in 1799 as the Massachusetts Missionary Society. Its members were those who subscribed to its constitution and paid an annual fee of two dollars. Its object, as stated by its founders, was "to diffuse the gospel among the people of the newly settled and remote parts of our country, among the Indians of our country, and through more distant regions of the earth, as circumstances shall invite and the funds of the Society shall admit." Changed conditions within Massachusetts, instead of changing the program of this Society, produced a new organization. At the meeting of the General Association of Massachusetts in 1818 the members of the Association (ministers only — there were no delegates from churches at that time) constituted themselves, with such laymen as should be made life members by the donation of a certain sum of money, the Domestic Missionary Society of Massachusetts Proper, for ministry to the religious needs within the Commonwealth. This dual organization of home missionary work continued until 1827, when the two bodies were merged; and the object of the consolidated organization was restated to be "for the purpose of diffusing the knowledge of the gospel of Jesus Christ among the heathen and others in destitute places." Its members were those "paying two dollars annually to the Treasurer for the uses of the Society"; a single payment of thirty dollars constituted the donor a life member. In 1906 an amendment to the constitution of the Society provided that all the delegates to the Massachusetts Conference for any year should be members of the Society for that year. Of the three members of the Executive Committee chosen each year, one should be nominated by the Conference. Thus the Society, while maintaining its separate identity as a missionary organization, has come into intimate relation with the Conference of Churches. The present relation closely parallels the relation between the National Council and the several national societies. A suggested amendment to the Rules, recognizing the present custom of nominating members of the Executive committee of the M. H. M. S., will be found in the appendix.

(2) The Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply was established originally by the Massachusetts Conference as its direct agent for aiding in the work of pastoral settlement. The Board was directly under the control of the Conference, which elected the Directors. The Conference Treasurer was the Treasurer of the Board, and its bills were paid from the assessments levied upon the Churches. In 1915 a meeting of secretaries and representatives of various New England State organizations decided that New England was a natural unit for the work of pastoral supply and recommended to the Conference the organization of a New England Board, of which the Massachusetts Board should be the nucleus. These recommendations were adopted, and the present Board created, in which each New England State Conference has a proportional representation, and to the expenses of which each Conference makes a proportional contribution.

(3) The Board of Ministerial Aid is a self-perpetuating corporation composed of fifteen members, elected for life. It was organized in 1869 by the Conference and has in recent years expressed its desire to become more closely identified with the Conference. This committee was instructed last year by the Conference to confer with the Board of Ministerial Aid in order to perfect a plan for closer relationship between the two organizations. A joint meeting with a committee of conference appointed by the Board has been held and the matter given careful consideration. The plan proposed by the joint committee establishes essentially the same relationship which exists between the National Council and the National Board of Ministerial Relief. It is proposed that the Conference shall make nominations of persons to fill vacancies in the membership of the Board whenever such vacancies occur, that the Board shall be formally recognized in the Rules as the agent of the Conference and shall be officially represented in the membership of the Conference, and that it shall make an annual report to the Conference. Suggested amendments embodying this plan will be found in the appendix.

(4) The Boston Seaman's Friend Society regards itself as representative of the Congregational Churches of New England, although no mention of a denominational connection is made in the Society's charter. Its Board of Managers includes representatives of each of the New England State Conferences. For some years the society was related to the American Seaman's Friend Society, but this relation was terminated by mutual agreement in 1888, and at that time a Council of Congregational Churches of Boston and vicinity was called, which adopted a minute endorsing the Society and commending it to the Churches of our order for their support. At its meeting in 1916 the Conference adopted a resolution, "that the Conference accept the invitation to be permanently represented on the Board of Managers of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society and that the Conference nominate a member to serve one year." This provision has never been incorporated in the Rules. The committee recommends that the Society be recognized in the Rules as an agent of the Conference, that the Society shall be officially represented in the membership of the Conference, and that it shall make an annual report to the Conference. The suggested amendments will be found in the appendix.

The committee on revision of Rules has served the Conference for five years. During this period of time several important changes in the Rules of the Conference have been recommended and adopted. In the judgment of the committee, the work for which it was created has been done, and it therefore recommends that the committee be dismissed.

APPENDIX

The committee on revision of Rules recommends:

(1) That Art. V, Sect. 1, be amended by adding after the words "Massachusetts Home Missionary Society" the words, "one from the Board of Ministerial Aid, one from the Boston Seamen's Friend Society," so that the section shall read as follows:

The Conference shall annually nominate a person for membership in the Board of Managers of the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The Executive Committee found itself faced at the beginning of the year with a number of vacancies in the list of committees elected at the annual meeting. Rev. Edward D. Gaylord of Dorchester was substituted on the Executive Committee for Rev. J. S. Durkee, removing from the state. Rev. George W. Owen of Hyde Park was restored to the Committee on Religious Education, and Frank E. Rowe of Winchester was placed on the Committee on Missionary Work. The secretary (Mr. Bailey) was authorized to fill any vacancies occurring later in the year. Messrs. Grabill, Page and Gaylord were appointed as Finance Committee. The treasurer's bond was ordered renewed, and the renewal was duly made. It was ordered that Conference committees needing extra credit during the year should be referred to the Finance Committee, to whom was voted all necessary authority to be used with discretion.

Messrs. Page, Bailey and Hyde were named as a committee to confer with other denominations for large district rallies in the state in 1920. The secretary was instructed to print the usual number of Minutes, and with the treasurer was authorized to make a new printing contract.

FRANCIS J. MARSH, Secretary.

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, baptisms, Sunday schools and families; the statistics of the Young People's Societies and Men's organizations; the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Association, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year-Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; "Prof." means professor; "C. M.," church missionary; "T.," teacher; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record, containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, marriages and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1919. Admissions, removals and baptisms cover the year 1918. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1919, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Installed" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

All post-office addresses are to be found in the "List of Ministers." and NOT IN THE TABLES.

Note. — The "year" means what changes were comprised in the twelve months preceding January 1 of the year mentioned. The table was begun in 1866, all preceding years now given being compiled from past "Minutes," — the number of churches in some years varying from the "Minutes" as they were to what they should have been.

The changes in list of churches, ordinations, installations, etc., for the past year, condensed in the above table, are given in detail in their proper place.

* Prior to 1876 "acting pastors" are included in "others" in columns of deaths of ministers.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*).

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE. — If your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, if one Christian name is not given in full, if your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, if your post-office is wrong, or if before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or if your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

TREASURER'S report, 32.

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION OF CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERS

Dates from the earliest times of the colony. Annual business meeting in Boston at 5 P.M., on the last Wednesday in May. Addresses at 11 A.M., on the appointed day. At this service a collection is taken, which, with the income of the convention fund, is distributed to the needy widows and daughters of deceased Congregational ministers.

Every minister of a Congregational church in Massachusetts (whether Trinitarian or Unitarian) is ex officio a member of the convention.

There is a reporting committee of twenty-five, selected by counties throughout the state, by which recommendations are made to a central committee of seven, which decides on all applications for aid.

PERMANENT OFFICERS. — Rev. William E. Strong, Newtonville, scribe, and Rev. B. R. Bulkeley, Beverly, treasurer, to either of whom applications for aid may be addressed.

MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CHARITABLE SOCIETY

Incorporated in 1876. Organized to hold the funds of the convention. Composed of fifteen clergymen and fifteen laymen, elected from both branches of the Congregational body. Aids the needy widows and orphans of deceased Congregational clergymen who have had settlement in Massachusetts.

Applications for aid should be made to Rev. Edward Hale, Chestnut Hill, Mass.

DISTRIBUTION OF "MINUTES"

The "Minutes" are sent to the churches by direction of the Conference, with distribution of one copy to every minister, one to every church clerk, one to every Conference official or committee member, and one to each local Association official named within. As long as the edition lasts, other copies may be secured by Massachusetts Congregationalists without charge, and by others for twenty-five cents upon application to the Secretary, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass. It is suggested that every church preserve a copy of the "Minutes" with its other records.

EDITOR'S NOTE

Tempus fugit, but the Minutes have dragged. Excuses from Boston and Springfield might be offered, but we refrain. The 1921 volume is guaranteed to appear before the National Council meeting at Los Angeles, July 8. There is one obvious advantage in a late volume, that pastoral changes are reported this year up to October 1. With no desire to become a Methodist, the editor admires the system whereby practically all changes are simultaneous instead of being a continuous performance requiring unceasing watchfulness by state secretary and district scribes. Even so, there are undoubtedly some obsolete addresses every year.

On page 23 is a notice of two proposed amendments to the Rules. Section 2 of Article XI is no longer necessary, and the Conference should order its omission. To change Article V requires a three months' warning, which is hereby given to the several associations, conferences and churches connected with this body; that to give official standing in the annual meeting to those who have served on committees through the year it is proposed to add three words to section 1 of Article V, so that it shall read:

1. Each evangelical Congregational Church, Conference and Association in this Commonwealth may choose one delegate, and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers and committee members of this body, etc.

TUESDAY MORNING

The session opened at 9.00 with worship conducted by Rev. A. D. Leavitt, Brookline.

The minutes of Monday's sessions were read and approved.

It was voted that

Art. V, Sec. 1, be amended by adding after the words "Massachusetts Home Missionary Society" the words, "one from the Board of Ministerial Aid, one from the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, and one from the Board of Pastoral Supply," so that the section shall read as follows:

1. Each evangelical Congregational Church, Conference, and Association in this Commonwealth may choose one delegate, and these delegates, together with the pastor or pastors of each church (who shall be members ex officio), the officers of this body, two delegates from the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, one from the Board of Ministerial Aid, one from the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, one from Andover Theological Seminary, and one from the Board of Pastoral Supply, shall constitute the Conference.

The report of the Committee on Missionary Work was presented by its chairman, Rev. J. L. Cross, Fitchburg. The following recommendations were adopted:

That this Committee on Apportionment be authorized to seek the cooperation of the Boston representatives of the Missionary Boards, who may be invited by vote of the Committee to designate some person to assist this Committee in the gathering and analyzing of data and other necessary secretarial and statistical work.

That the State Conference shall by direct vote accept or decide the amount that the State should properly assume as its share of the total budget for the nine Societies. The recommendation as to what this amount should be may well come from said Committee on Apportionment.

It was further voted that a committee of five be appointed to consider the financial relation of the Conference and the Boston Seaman's Friend Society.

The report of the committee was accepted.

The report of the Committee on the Federation of Churches was presented by Rev. J. J. Walker, Boston. The report was accepted and the recommendation, that a sum equal to two dollars for each church in the Conference be appropriated for the support of the Federation, was referred to the Budget Committee.

The report of the Committee on Rural Conditions was presented by its chairman, Rev. W. M. Crane, Richmond. The report of the Committee was accepted.

The report of the Committee on Religious Education and Young People's Work was presented by its chairman, Rev. G. W. Owen, Hyde Park. The report was accepted.

The report of the Committee on Evangelistic Work was accepted as printed.

The report of the Executive Committee was presented by Secretary Bailey. The report was accepted and the following recommendations were adopted:

That the Conference secretary be always a delegate to the National Council, serving, as other state secretaries do, as chairman of the whole state delegation, and empowered, in conference with the delegation, to fill all vacancies at any Council meeting with substitute delegates.

That the Committee on Missionary Work be henceforth known as the Missionary and Apportionment Committee.

That the following committees be continued for the ensuing year: Missionary and Apportionment; on Federation with Other Churches; on Evangelism; on Rural Work; on Religious Education and Young People's Work; on Moral and Social Welfare.

That inasmuch as from time to time the Conference has placed most of these committees upon a basis of continuity with three-year terms, the executive committee will consider such basis as warrant for continuing the committees and in so far superseding the provision of Article X, Section 2, Clause d, of the Rules.

That the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare be instructed to continue its work on the basis of instructions in the Rules previous to the late revision, but that its power to represent the Conference before the Legislature be limited to support of principles and measures which the Conference itself has sanctioned. This will then read as follows:

> A Committee on Moral and Social Welfare to consist of nine members, three to be elected annually for terms of three years. This committee shall investigate and report annually upon moral and social questions which should legitimately be subjects of consideration by the churches, and shall communicate with the churches concerning those questions, and represent the Conference before the Legislature upon measures of moral and social welfare to support the expressed opinion of the Conference upon these measures.

The recommendation,

That some formal action eventuate from the Plymouth meeting defining principles which, in the deliberate opinion of the Conference should govern Christians of the present day in their use of the Lord's Day.

Was referred to the Business Committee.

Rev. H. F. Swartz of the Congregational World Movement was then introduced and presented that work.

An address was given by President Emeritus C. W. Eliot of Harvard University on the subject: Industrialism and Pilgrim Ideals.

The Committee on Ministers' Salaries reported through its chairman, Mr. Samuel Usher, Cambridge. The report was accepted and the following recommendations were adopted:

That the Conference urges each self-determining church to give immediate and serious consideration to their obligation to make the salary of their pastor adequate to present conditions, and that this request be publicly brought to the attention of the members of the church and congregation as soon after its receipt as possible.

That the Home Missionary Society secure for each pastor under its care a minimum salary of $1,200, and parsonage, or its equivalent; and that in all cases where the work to be performed and the opportunity for Christian service do not, in the judgment of the officers of the Society, justify this expenditure, that the work be either discontinued or combined with that of another Christian denomination, or transferred bodily to another Christian denomination, thereby establishing in the community the essential unity of believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, and a higher respect for the Christian Church.

The Committee on Nominations presented the list of nominees for officers and committees. The report was accepted, the committees being elected, the officers to be balloted for at a later session. Following is the list of committees:

That the Conference accept the invitation of the churches in Lawrence to hold the 1921 session in that city.

That the Massachusetts Congregational Conference goes on record as favoring such a state censorship of motion pictures as will elevate their moral standards, so that they will be helpful rather than harmful to the boys and girls who see them. And this matter is called to the attention of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare.

That, whereas Prohibition is now a part of the Constitution of the United States and is no longer a political question, but a question of respect for and the enforcement of law, a question of the authority of the whole people expressed in law and

Whereas the brewers and their attorneys are making every possible effort to circumvent and nullify the law by making beer and wine an ening wedge for the return of the saloon, and

Whereas, the said brewers and their attorneys claim that there is a reaction in the public mind against prohibition, therefore,

Resolved, by the Massachusetts Conference of Congregational Churches in One Hundred and Eighteenth Annual Session, at Plymouth, May 17–19, 1920, comprising a constituency of six hundred churches and more than one hundred and forty thousand members, that we hereby respectfully and earnestly petition each of the two political parties of the United States to put a plank in their respective platforms to be adopted at their approaching national conventions, declaring strongly for the maintenance and enforcement of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution and of the law enacted for its enforcement.

Second, that the Secretary of this Conference be and is hereby instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the chairman of the executive committees of the two great parties and to all Massachusetts delegates to both Conventions.

That the Massachusetts Conference of Congregational Churches, assembled at Plymouth, hereby records its deep satisfaction and joy in the ratification of the 18th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States providing for the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and for the Volstead code enacted to secure its enforcement; that we hail with gratitude the overflowing evidence for the remarkable results already experienced in the reduction of drunkenness, crime and poverty, wherever the law has been even measurably enforced; and that we should expose and oppose every organization like that of the "Constitutional Liberty League," whose aim is the rescindment of the 18th Amendment and the restoration of the saloon to its former power for evil; and that we urge every law-loving citizen to resist by personal influence and all wise endeavor the strenuous effort of the liquor interests for the law's defeat, and to sustain every measure for the law's faithful enforcement.

That we heartily commend the Governor's veto of the 2.75% beer and wine bill, a measure which he courageously stigmatized as both a deception of the public and a nullification of the Constitution, and we rejoice that this veto has been sustained by the Massachusetts State Senate; and we direct our Secretary to notify the Governor of this action.

That we recognize the splendid service of the Anti-Saloon League as a most efficient agent of our churches in securing the great prohibition victory, and in view of the strenuous effort now being made to entrench the liquor traffic in the Republic of China and elsewhere, we commend the Anti-Saloon League in the fight for world prohibition, requesting our churches to open their pulpits for the presentation of the League's work and need. We urge upon our churches the necessity of redoubled effort to continue the cultivation of intelligent total abstinence sentiment and obedience to law. In this connection we commend the educational work of the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society, and the work of the W. C. T. U. and other temperance societies.

Recognizing that Sunday affords all men unusual opportunity to grow toward God, that its dominant note should be Christian joy, and that its purposes are preeminently spiritual, We Believe: that on Sunday the worship of God, preferably in the fellowship of the Church, should take precedence over everything else, that it should be supplemented by individual Bible study, prayer and meditation, by the cultivation of home fellowship, and by the service of our fellow men in deeds of mercy and love. We Believe: that in the re-creation of the whole man, in spirit, mind and body, all unnecessary Sunday work and commercial enterprise should be avoided, and that the determining principle for rest and recreation on that day should be to upbuild the Christian character of the individual and of society. We Believe: that the observance of Sunday by Christian people involves more than civil law should require; that on that day Christians should cultivate all that is best in human life; that specifically what should be done must be determined by the individual conscience in harmony with the teachings of Christ, and should be settled not by personal preferences alone but with regard to the spiritual and social welfare of the whole community.

That the Massachusetts Congregational Conference hereby expresses its gratitude to Dr. C. W. Eliot, president emeritus of our oldest university, for his gracious attendance and inspiring address on "Industrialism and Pilgrim Ideals."

Voted: that in the celebration of the Lord's Service at the next meeting of the conference, the ritual prepared by the National Council be followed.

Resolved: That the Massachusetts Conference of Congregational

Churches assembled at Plymouth for its 118th Annual Meeting, May 17, 18, 19, 1920, hereby records its deep appreciation for the generous courtesy of the Church of the Pilgrimage and its gracious minister, Dr. Theodore E. Busfield; for the delightful spirit of friendly helpfulness shown by the sister churches; for the cordial hospitality of Plymouth homes; for the kindly welcome of the town of Plymouth, and the fine plans which made that welcome so available; for the manifestation of the Pilgrim traits among those who by their location as well as by their heritage are in a peculiar sense the guardians of the Pilgrim traditions.

Rev. H. F. Smith, West Medford, spoke in behalf of the bill before the Ways and Means Committee of the Senate in regard to the censorship of motion pictures. It was voted that Mr. Smith telegraph the chairman of that committee of the approval of that bill by the Conference.

Rev. N. M. Hall, Springfield, spoke in behalf of the Conference at the Isles of Shoals.

Rev. W. M. Crane, Richmond, presented the report of the special committee appointed to consider the financial relation of the churches and the Boston Seaman's Friend Society. The report was accepted and adopted.

Rev. A. S. Beale, Lowell, presented the report of the Budget Committee. The report was accepted and the following recommendations were adopted:

(1) That the Conference make an assessment of eleven cents per member on the churches.

(2) That the bond of $500 be left to fulfil the original purpose of providing against a vocation low tide in the treasury or sudden and unusual need.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

For the third time Plymouth entertains the state body. In 1839 this was not a formidable task, for only selected delegates from the ministerial associations attended; and while then, as now, driving was fashionable, there were equine limitations to the distance from which delegates could easily come. In 1902, delegates from 250 churches came for the centennial of this amended and enlarged organization, a record attendance at that time and rarely since surpassed. In the significant year of 1920, there was but one logical place for Massachusetts Congregationalists to meet, and here we are. Only 17 of our pastors are now in active service where they were when we met here 18 years ago. Our roll of churches numbers the same today as then, but the membership has grown by more than 26,000, a gain of 23 per cent. The roll remains this year the same as last, a merger at Lowell, where Kirk Street Church lost itself in Eliot Union, balancing a new Finnish church at Hubbardston. A merger lately made at Springfield belongs to next year's statistics.

Without annoying you unduly with the creaking of the ecclesiastical machine, it may be remarked that for divers reasons the collection of statistics becomes more difficult every year. Not until April could the Massachusetts figures go to the Year-Book. There are two churches which refused to report, eight others who neglected to, and several who said there was nothing to report. Assuming the membership of the silent churches to be the same as last year, the membership of the 604 conference churches, on January 1, was 140,266, of whom 46,706 were men and 93,560 women. This is a gain of 1,205 over last year, with the ratio of men disproportionately large. In the light of all the factors in the case this gain of 1,205 is more comforting than discouraging. H. K. Carroll says, "American Protestants gained only 50,000 in membership last year." If this be so, our Conference growth has been three or four times as large as the average for the nation.

Additions on confession are 445 more than the previous year and the gain by letters is 617. On the other hand the loss by letters is 472 larger, and by roll revision 766 more than the year before, but deaths are fewer by 336. Compared with the average of the ten years previous, additions are 61 larger and removals 847 larger. This is due to the coincidence of several slashing roll revisions. Ten churches have cut off more than 50 each, Springfield, Hope, leading with 311, a total of 1,075 for these ten churches, to say nothing of the rest of the state. Exact figures for all these items are 4,786 added on confession and 3,423 by letter, total 8,209; removed by death 2,099, letter 2,613, revision 2,292, total, 7,004.

Fifty-one churches received 25 or more on confession, but only one went very far beyond 50, Boylston of Jamaica Plain receiving 93. Five had total accessions of 100 or more, Boylston leading with 121, Boston, Park Street, 110, Springfield, 1st and South, 107 and 106, and Winchester, 1st, scoring an even 100. The number of churches reporting no additions on confession is 188, some fewer than last year but 20 per cent above the average; and in 117 churches death alone caused more losses than total additions could balance. Baptisms are slight in excess of last year, with 1,817 adults and 2,911 infants, the latter number exceeded only twice. Sunday-school membership as reported by the churches is 120,618, a loss of 103. The Year-Book editor adds 17 schools and 1,031 members reported by the Sunday School Extension Department, which would turn the loss into a gain of 928. Young people's societies show a decrease of 14 organizations and 564 members, the total being, 19,034. On the other hand the membership of both men's and boys' clubs has increased, the men by 2,200 and the boys by nearly 400; their totals are, 17,233 and 5,310. The men are still some 2,000 behind their high mark of three years ago, but the boys have scored a new record, and their increase nearly offsets the loss in young people's societies.

It was to be expected that figures of benevolence would show a decided increase if we were at all sensitive to the shrinkage of monetary values in missionary treasuries. The total of apportionment gifts is $393,184, a gain of $72,694, or 23 per cent. All the societies gained except the Sunday School Society, which is steadily losing. Perhaps its loss of $859 may be due to readjustment of work with the Education Society, whose receipts were $6,713 above last year, a gain of almost 40 per cent. For ten years apportionment benevolence has been reported through the society treasuries. Five of the societies, six including the Women's Home Federation, have not only gone over the top for the year but for the decade as well, beating all previous records by from 10 to 30 per cent. The Woman's Board is $15,000 above last year, but fails by $156 of equaling its record of two years ago; and Ministerial Relief is the largest except for three years ago. The specific totals are $133,707 for the American Board; Woman's Board, $73,872; Education, $23,984; Church Building, $23,749; Home Missions, $70,462; American Missionary Association, $46,096; Sunday School, $11,503; Ministerial Relief, $9,811; total, $393,184. The Women's Federation is credited with $34,463, divided among the home societies. Other Congregational gifts, $124,022, are slightly above last year's, but the miscellaneous gifts as reported show a falling off of $194,000, down to $168,676. This may be because the war drum throbs no longer and the pocket-books are furled. It should be noted that Pilgrim Fund gifts are not included in these reports. Massachusetts has oversubscribed its quota, going nearly or quite to a million and a half, but the payments are to be spread over five years and the office has been too busy to report in detail for 1919.

Our property valuation has jumped nearly a million and now stands at $21,214,161. Invested funds have gained $175,000, being now $4,199,184.

Debts have shrunk $118,000 and at $444,769 are the smallest I have ever reported. A happy feature this year is the salary increase. It is not so large as to be hilarious, but the tendency is good. For five years preceding the average salary has been $1,292, $1,321, $1,357, $1,381, and $1,514; this year it is $1,676. This is in addition to the parsonage which seven churches in every dozen report. Of the 51 churches not sharing in this salary summary, a number are pastorless and do not know what they will have to pay the next minister. About one-third of the 51 presumably pay salaries above, some far above, the average, and it is probable that $1,700 is not above the actual state average. Also not all the increases have been reported. Some clerks thought they must give the figures for 1919. Some increases have just been granted and cannot appear. They will help to make next year's report still better.

The necrology for the conference year shows the passing of 28 ministers, so far as the secretary is informed. They proved the healthfulness of the ministry by living to an average of 44 years of professional life, only five falling below 33 years in the ministry. Richard Stanley M. Emrich of Turkey was the youngest, less than 14 years from his ordination. The men who ranked first and second in seniority are both gone, Elihu Loomis, ordained in 1851, and Francis N. Peloubet, 1857. Four men were in the pastorate, William P. Alcott at Linebrook Church in Ipswich, Ernest C. Davis of Methuen, over a union church not affiliated with us, John C. Emery at Blackstone, and Norman McKinnon, once at Middleboro and just beginning a pastorate at Franklin. Four bore an emeritus relation to their churches, John F. Gleason of South Amherst, Benjamin F. Hamilton at Eliot, Roxbury, Henry S. Huntington at Milton, and T. Franklin Waters at Ipswich, South. Three rendered their last conspicuous service as secretaries, Frederick H. Means with the American Board, Isaac Pierson with the Tract Society, and Edward S. Tead with the Education Society. D. Melancthon James was pastor of this Plymouth church when we met here in 1902. Joel D. Miller and the author of " Peloubet's Notes " were editors. Two were conspicuous as educators, Horace Bumstead, ex-president of Atlanta University, and Joseph H. Sawyer, more than half a century at Williston Seminary. Clark Carter had been in Lawrence as pastor and then as city missionary almost 50 years. Besides these were Sidney A. Burnaby, Horace H. Leavitt, Augustus W. Mills, Edson J. Moore, Thomas F. Norris, George W. Osgood, Daniel W. Richardson, Henry T. Rose and Rufus B. Tobey, all retired but members of associations in the state, and with one possible exception all former pastors in the state. Courtesy calls also for the mention of another not recently on our roll, Eldridge Mix, who had served in Worcester and spent his last days there. In seniority he ranked next to Dr. Peloubet. To them all we tender this memorial tribute of happy memories and a fond farewell as they rest from their labors and their works do follow them.

REPORT OF THE AUDITING COMMITTEE

Newtonville, Mass., May 6, 1920.

To the Massachusetts Congregational Conference:

Gentlemen:

I have examined the cash account of Ernest L. Miller, Treasurer of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference, for the year beginning May 1, 1919, and ending April 30, 1920. This shows a balance of $3,585.14 brought forward, receipts of $11,956.13, disbursements of $11,308.32 and a balance on April 30, 1920, of $4,232.95. All disbursements are supported by proper vouchers, and the balance of $4,232.95 was on April 30, 1920, on deposit with the Beacon Trust Company of Boston, as attested by certificate from that bank in the files of the treasurer. No attempt has been made to verify the receipts from the local conferences.

The treasurer has in his possession a $500 bond of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts registered in the name of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL C. GIBBS, Auditor.

REPORT OF THE CONGREGATIONAL BOARD OF PASTORAL SUPPLY

REV. ARTHUR J. COVELL, SECRETARY

BOSTON, MASS., April 1, 1920.

The Congregational Board of Pastoral Supply presents its Fourth Annual Report to the Congregational Conferences of the six New England states. This is, however, the fifth report to the majority of these conferences, and is the twenty-fifth report to the Massachusetts Conference.

During the year, our work has not varied from other ye rs more than have the activities of our Congregational churches. Last summer, the problem of the war service minister was at the front. During the fall, however, settlements took place rapidly, and by Christmas the majority of these men were located. The usual time of lessening activity for the Board, the period from the middle of November to the middle of January, was a more busy time than usual; but the morale of the churches seeking supplies and candidates was seriously impaired from the last of January until the latter part of March on account of the week-end storms and the demoralization of transportation facilities. Week after week certain churches early in the week made appointments which they were obliged to cancel on Saturday, and finally closed the church, or took a local supply until more settled conditions.

The burden of the small churches has been increasingly upon the office, and many churches have been persuaded to increase their meager salaries, and not a few, after conferring with the Secretary, have asked their present ministers to withdraw their resignations and remain for a longer service. The need of more men for the ministry, although manifesting itself chiefly in dealing with the small churches, is sufficiently serious. The Board is able to use its influence toward grading up small salaries, advising some churches to unite with others in the support of a minister, or to federate, and thus give a minister not only a living wage, but also a field of effort worthy of his best energy.

A far more imperative need, however, is to create such an atmosphere in our churches and make such an appeal that choicest young men in greater numbers will hear the voice of God summoning them to the Christian pulpit. If the church is to continue to be the generating source making possible all best forms of life, then she must have adequate leadership for the new age upon which we have entered.

In response to requests for aid in pastoral settlement, we have rendered service to 364 churches. These churches were of course most largely in New England, but were found in twenty-four states, one district, one territory, and one foreign country. Of these churches, there were located in Maine, 39; in New Hampshire, 44; in Vermont, 40; in Massachusetts, 147; in Rhode Island, 6; in Connecticut, 40; in New York, 10; in Pennsylvania, 8; in Illinois, 4; in Ohio, 4; in Wisconsin, 3; in Colorado, 3; in Kentucky, 2; in Minnesota, 2; and one each in the District of Columbia, Florida, Hawaii, Indiana, Iowa, Newfoundland, New Jersey, North Carolina, Oregon, Tennessee and Washington.

As usual, we have omitted in the above enumeration, the furnishing of supplies, occasional or temporary, and of commendation for positions other than for pastoral service.

So far as information has come to us, the total number of pastoral settlements in which the Board had an important part was 125, a number equalled but once before and never exceeded. Since we have not included in this enumeration other positions that might have been included in our work, this represents only a portion of what we have been able to do for our churches. Probably the effective commendations for other positions, such as the Interchurch Movement, the Pilgrim Memorial Fund work, and the Congregational World Movement, have been materially larger than ever before, except perhaps in one year in war times when commendations were made for various forms of war service.

The size (and salaries) of the churches dealing with the Board varies somewhat from last year. Of these churches, 111 had less than one hundred members; 169 had from one hundred to three hundred members; while 84 had more than three hundred in membership. Of these churches, 87 paid less than $1,000; 204 paid from $1,000 to $2,000; while 73 paid more than $2,000. The value of parsonage rent has been included.

During the year, opportunities for preaching were furnished to 363 men, of whom 180 were candidates for settlement. This has been exceeded in one year only, and then but slightly. With most of these men, the opportunity was repeated. The number of occasional supplies was 703.

The number of letters sent out from the office this past year was 8,290.

The Treasurer's account, with the Auditor's statement, will be found in the Appendix.

The receipts of the office vary but little from those of the previous year, while the expenses are about $350 greater. The items of telephone and telegraph, printing, and extra help, show material increase, while a permanent addition to the office equipment in the form of a new typewriter accounts for nearly one-third of the added expense.

The Treasurer's Report from the constituent New England Conferences indicates the following:

Massachusetts.	Paid in full to March 31, 1920.
Connecticut.	Paid in full for 1919, and $500 or 1920.
Vermont.	Paid in full for 1919, and $174.42 for 1920.
New Hampshire.	Paid in full for year ending March 1920, and $3.03 in advance.
Maine.	Paid in full for 1919.
Rhode Island.	Paid in full to March 31, 1920.

So that we may be mindful of variations in methods of payment, it is well to repeat a paragraph from previous reports:

"Maine, Connecticut and Vermont begin their year January 1, and compute the one and one-half cent per member from the Year-Book at hand at the beginning of the calendar year. Massachusetts begins her year January 1, but changes her basis of computation May 1, taking the figures of the new Year-Book for the balance of the year. Rhode Island's year begins April 1, and New Hampshire's begins May 1, these states using the figures of the Year-Book issued after January 1, each year."

An interesting experience of the year was a request from a Baptist superintendent of one of our New England states, asking the Secretary to make commendations of ministers for fields under the supervision of the superintendent, not only for those federated with Congregational churches, but for purely Baptist churches. The Secretary was able to commend men who appealed to him, and he gave assurance that he knew of no more spiritually edifying spectacle than to see the Baptist deacons of a certain federated church passing the bread and wine at Communion Service to the Congregationalists. Thus is the spirit of oneness promoted. But not all federations are cemented by the attitude of church leaders, as, for example, the case of a minister of a federated church where different views of Baptism are entertained, who says he is accustomed to explain the Congregational view of Baptism, and then the Baptist view, and then to state his convictions.

No permanent solution of the way to meet the needs of the small church with limited resources has been revealed. These churches in need of spiritual leadership have shared to the full the world burdens of the time. Sometimes their needs can be met by federation; sometimes by uniting with other nearby churches in the support of a minister; often the pastor of a larger neighboring church takes upon himself this service, because of the special need, and his own church permits him to do so for the good of the cause; elderly and semi-retired ministers are summoned into service; laymen are called upon from time to time; men studying or engaged a part of the time in other service are utilized. While these may primarily be considered a home missionary problem, yet the Board is constantly striving to serve these churches, and while we have certain definite principles of action, yet Paul's experience in becoming all things to all men in order that by all means he might save some, takes on a new meaning. The majority of our small churches are, so far as the experience of the Board goes, striving in a sensible way to meet the new situation.

But hardships have not been limited to the churches. Our ministers have had their full share. Many capable men have been forced by economic necessity out of the ministry. With sorrow they have turned aside from their chosen life work, frequently with the purpose of returning later when conditions permit. They could not meet their expenses. The care of an expensive parsonage, or the education of the children, or the necessity of medical treatment for the wife compelled the change. After drawing upon a slender patrimony, or exhausting savings, and finding no way of supplementing earnings while continuing the work of the ministry, they have felt obliged to seek a livelihood elsewhere. And places were not lacking. A writer in the correspondence column of The Congregationalist recently suggested that men who could earn so much more in manual work might try it and see. The answer is that men are trying it in goodly numbers.

There are a tempting number of open doors. Men have been summoned for Y. M. C. A. work, industrial Y. M. C. A. service, efficiency work in connection with manufacturing institutions, and direct social service work. These all have their appeal to the men trained for religious leadership. In addition the Congregational World Movement, and the Interchurch Work, and the Armenian Relief Work have summoned men away from the pastorate. Then at the opposite extreme, the purely commercial and industrial fields have claimed a considerable number of men.

The questions raised in the office from this condition are not a few. On the one hand, the laborer is worthy of his hire; salaries paid to our ministers have been inadequate and still are. The same condition that faces the teaching profession, in a different degree perhaps, faces the ministry, and the efforts to alleviate this condition through the Pilgrim Memorial Fund and by direct action have been none too strenuous. On the other hand, the commercial motive is not properly a leading one in the ministry, and the fitness for the ministry of the one who is not ready to preach unless he can receive as much as is possible in some other profession, is open to question. Fortunately, however, the number of this latter class is limited. We may hope that conditions in the ear future will be more settled and hopeful.

Within the past year, the Board has completed its twenty-fifth year of service. On July 6th, 1919, it finished a quarter of a century's work. The statistical results for the period are impressive. These show a steady development in the work accomplished, with a marked expansion for the last five years. Including duplicates, the Board has in these twenty-five years served 5,333 churches, an average of 213 churches a year. With some of these churches the period of service was slight, but with others prolonged beyond months and into years. As showing the development in the confidence of the churches, the record for five-year periods is as follows: For the first five years of its life, the average number of churches served per year was 122; for the second five-year period, 172; for the third five-year period, 193; for the fourth five-year period, 205, and for the fifth five-year period, the average was 332 per year.

The number of settlements in which the Board has had an important part is likewise of interest, especially when we consider that sometimes the Board may cooperate continuously for two years with a church Committee, or with a succession of Committees of the same church, before settlement is made. The total number of settlements effected for twenty-five years is 1,766, or an average of 70 per year. Here again, the five-year periods reveal development in the Board's work, for each period. The average number of settlements for the first five years was 50; for the second five years, 61; for the third five years, 63; for the fourth five years, 65; for the last five-year period, 106; and for the last three years is materially more.

Organized primarily to meet more particularly the needs of the small churches, the larger churches have increasingly availed themselves of the Board's help.

The total number of candidates sent out for the twenty-five years has been 2,763, or an average of 110 per year for the twenty-five years. With most of these men the opportunity was several times repeated. The number of different men sent distinctly as candidates has averaged, for the last five years, 152 per year.

The total number of men sent out, including both candidates and supplies for twenty years (no record being kept for the first five-year period) has been 4,385, or an average of 225 per year. For the first five-year period recorded, the average was 192 per year, and for the last five years, 302 per year.

The number of occasional supplies for the last twenty-one years (no record being kept for the first four) is 9,222, or an average of 439 per year. These also show development for each period. For the second five-year period, the average was 361 per year; for the third, 372; for the fourth, 420; and for the fifth five-year period, 637 per year.

The correspondence has greatly increased. The largest number of letters sent out from the Board in any year for the first nineteen years was 3,200; for the last six years, the number has ranged from 4,000 to 8,400, and has approximated the higher number for the last three or four years.

It is of interest to turn back to the organization and early history of the Board. While its office first opened July 6, 1894, the preliminary work began more than two years earlier. On May 17, 1892, the Rev. B. F. Hamilton of Boston addressed the Massachusetts Association at its Annual Meeting at Springfield, on the subject of a "Ministerial Bureau," and a Committee was appointed, to report the following day. The Rev. Thomas Bicknell of Dorchester, Chairman of this Committee, presented his report with recommendations which reads in part: " Recognizing the sorely felt need of a trustworthy Bureau of Advice in the relations subsisting between pastorless churches and ministers . . . this General Association, in accordance with the overtures from the American Congregational Association, appointed a Committee of Five . . . said Committee to report at the next meeting of this Association."

At the State Meeting in May, 1893, the Committee reported in these words: " The number of pastorless churches, one hundred, and churchless pastors, three hundred, is large. Great waste results from present methods of transfer from pulpit to pulpit. . . . Committees of local churches are not promptly and authoritatively acquainted with the names of suitable pastors. The laity, habituated to method, energy, cooperation and dispatch, are astonished and ashamed that no general superintendent has been appointed to evoke order out of chaos. . . . The Committee unanimously recommend that this Bureau be established in Boston, at the Congregational House." By the adoption of this report, the Board was organized, but the work of the office did not begin until 1894.

A study of the record reveals the careful and thorough way in which the work was developed. In the early reports, from time to time, the working rules are set forth, and the Minutes of the Directors' Meetings show careful thought and free discussion at each point. Probably there was ample reason for such carefulness, since this was a pioneer work in Congregationalism. The Secretary, Dr. Rice, in the tenth Annual Report, after speaking of the steady purpose to bring the conduct of the Board under fixed rules, and to reduce the personal element to the lowest terms, gives a summary of the principles guiding the conduct of the office, and then says: " Any person with fitness for administering the affairs of the office must soon learn to desire to follow the guidance and to gain the shelter of these principles of action. He will come quickly to prize his obligations and to cherish his responsibilities. Out upon such a sea, swept by these winds of personal influence blowing from every corner of the sky, the mariner will fare but roughly in trying to sail before every breeze, and he will find rest and satisfaction only in laying a steady course, mindless of the winds. The very delicacy of the work of our office ought thus to promote its safety."

Very early in its life, we read in the records of a hearing given a minister who felt that he had not been given sufficient opportunities for candidating. The members of the Association with which this minister was connected were invited to the hearing, and all the records bearing upon the case were presented. The conclusion reached was to fully justify the Secretary in his course. This natural tendency to make the Board a scapegoat to explain why men did not always attain to their aspirations led Dr. Rice to say in one of his Annual Reports: " Not all the inscrutable ways of Providence are to be attributed to the maladministration of this Board."

Undoubtedly, the reason why the Board rooted itself so deeply into the life of the churches that it has had a developing career for a quarter of a century was due to the wisdom of Dr. Rice, its Secretary for nineteen years. His sympathy with ministers and churches, his rare judicial qualities of mind, his genuine insight into the springs of action, his patience to meet the trials of conducting the office, his knowledge of and fidelity to Congregational principles, his unfailing humor, all combined to guide the Board through the early tentative period, when a mistake of emphasis would have been fatal. Other similar efforts have failed. This has survived. There is no greater work in any institution than that of the pioneer who lays right foundations.

But the Board has been fortunate also in the men who have served as its other officials. Springing out of the deep need of the times, men of vigor and influence have been summoned to give of their best to its development. The Rev. B. F. Hamilton, D.D., served for three years as the first chairman of its Board of Directors. He was followed for seven years by the Rev. DeWitt S. Clark, D.D. Others serving as chairman while the Board continued as a Massachusetts institution were the Rev. W. H. Albright, D.D., the Rev. F. W. Merrick, D.D., the Rev. Chas. H. Williams, D.D., and Mr. Appleton P. Williams. The Rev. W. L. Phillips, D.D., of Connecticut, has served us since January, 1916, when the Board was reorganized as a New England Board.

Not only did the Board in its early years discover a Congregational way of meeting the needs of churches and ministers, but in later times has adjusted itself to new needs and conditions. After the retirement of the first Secretary, the Directors sought counsel of the churches and ministers of Massachusetts through the Scribes of the Associations of Churches and endeavored to formulate working plans in harmony with the expressed will of the churches. It was decided with unanimity that the Board should retain its separate existence, merging neither with the Home Missionary organization nor with the executive officers of the State Conference, but that it should magnify its specific work, that the Secretary should have the privilege of being more on the field, should endeavor to be in closer touch with the theological seminaries, should have, in order to make the work more democratic and in closer touch with the churches, the cooperation of advisors appointed by the different Associations of Churches, and should endeavor to develop the work with other states. The wisdom of these plans has been demonstrated in results attained.

In this period of readjustment, the Plan of Cooperation with Secretaries and Superintendents outside of New England was put into operation. Participating in this for a time were twenty-three individual states and a group of southern states under one superintendent. While valuable results for the records of the Board were secured, yet in view of the enlargement of the specific work of the Board, it did not seem wise to continue the plan.

The Board was hardly in operation before the question of extending its activities began to be agitated. It has always been more than a State Board, although the official responsibility and control rested with one state for more than twenty-one years. As early as 1895, a proposal was made to extend the work to Connecticut. A plan was formulated and the Massachusetts Conference gave assent, but the matter seems to have lapsed. Communications from Vermont and Michigan relative to extending the work into those states were received in 1900. England has not asked to be officially connected with the Board, but an organization was formed in the Congregational churches of England some years ago, modelled after the plan of this Board. Quite early, New Hampshire had been in negotiations with the Board. A letter from an official of the Maine Conference in 1912 began the negotiations which finally culminated in the formation of the present Board, including the New England States. And it has been demonstrated that New England is a natural unit for such work. A smaller unit would have limitations, and a unit much larger would of necessity prevent the Secretary from close personal relations with individual churches and ministers. The plan has seemingly worked well. While limitations could be specified, yet surprisingly few serious ones have developed. The following voluntary testimony from one of the prominent advocates of the forming of a New England Board, and representing the sentiment of one of our Northern New England States, was received some time ago:

"All the men with whom I speak are very hearty in commendation of the work you are doing in the Board of Pastoral Supply. Practically all the doubters of some years ago are now hearty supporters. I find practically no dissent. There is no suggestion now that it costs this state too much to do her part in supporting the Board."

In several of the states, the Annual Meeting of the Directors and Advisors of that state has been of marked value. These meetings make it possible to consider the specific needs of each state.

The Board has been a helpful feature in securing more effective service in our churches. We cannot say just how different these twenty-five years would have been without its work, but we are sure they would have been different. Because of its work, there have been fewer pastorless churches, fewer churchless ministers, shorter periods intervening between pastorates, fewer adventurers in the ministry, emphasis upon the substantial qualities in ministers, limitation of candidating in quality and type, protection of the reputations of men as well as safeguarding the welfare of churches, the furnishing of a clearing-house of reliable information about churches and ministers, an assured way of reaching the ends of the more highly organized bodies through the Congregational method of cooperation, a degree of standardizing in the matter of supply fees and salaries through a knowledge of what other churches are doing, cooperation with all other legitimate agencies for promoting the welfare of our Congregational churches and ministers — these are some of the definitely assured results of our work. But after all the results cannot be definitely tabulated. They appear in the life of the churches. They are like that leaven which the woman hid in the meal until all had become leavened. For in so far as this agency aids the churches to find the man divinely ordained for the particular task at a particular time, and in so far as it aids men to find the fields into which they can put their highest enthusiasm, its work is of great value.

Just now, in these new reconstruction times, with the tremendous emphasis upon materialism, a task than which there is none more important is to secure leadership for the churches, sufficient in quantity and adequate in idealism. In indirect ways, the Board may have its part in this work. About fifteen years ago, the Secretary of the Board of Pastoral Supply spoke words on the requirement of the times which have special value for us today.. We commend to you his message:

"The attractiveness of life is in its opportunity for effective action. In the ministry there is range and scope for effort and for hope as wide as any age need offer. The ideals of life in our generation are to be cleared and rescued and set in the light. The standards of esteem and repute among men are to be placed where they belong, upon usefulness and upon character, and they are not to be suffered to rest anywhere else. The Christian Church is to bring this to pass. And the leadership in the Christian Church is with the Christian ministry. Sacrifice may be required. But the capacity for sacrifice with intelligence and cheerfulness to useful ends, is the great social and public requirement of our times. The solution of the industrial and economic problems that press upon us have to be found at last through the full controlling of the individual life by the forces of the Christian Faith. If the mark of this calling could be kept in sight there are young men we may be sure who would be pressing toward it."

THE BOARD OF MINISTERIAL AID

In behalf of the Board of Ministerial Aid the Executive Committee presents the following report to the Conference:

At the beginning of 1919 grants were made to fifty-two beneficiaries, of whom thirty-five were women, seventeen were men. Of these four were in the forties, four in the fifties, eight in the sixties, twenty-two in the seventies, twelve in the eighties, and two in the nineties. To these five women and four men were added during the year, making the total number of beneficiaries sixty-one. Six of these, five men and one woman, died before the end of the year, one in the nineties, three in the eighties, one in the seventies, and one in the fifties.

For 1919 the Board put at the disposal of the Executive Committee the sum of $11,000; the total expenditure was $10,210.30. For the current year an appropriation of $12,000 has been made. At present aid is being given to sixty-two beneficiaries.

The names of the friends who are our care are known only to the Treasurer of this Board, the members of its Executive Committee, and the Secretary of the National Board of Ministerial Relief. It is the policy of the Board that the names of those aided be kept confidential. In all our relations with these friends care is taken to avoid anything that is perfunctory or official. The chairman seeks in his correspondence to emphasize the brotherly fellowship. The form of application for aid reads: "This is not a charity, but is rather in the nature of meeting a just claim from those who have given their lives to the ministry of the Gospel and the service of our churches." The questions asked are intended simply to make evident the need of the applicant. The letters from the friends who receive our aid indicate the feeling of all recipients as to the kindly treatment which we give.

With the help of the National Board it was possible to make a large Christmas gift to every one on our list. A member of our Board gave an additional $100. A lady who had been a beneficiary in years past, whose children have now grown up and are doing well, sent us a thank-offering of $10. Another friend, a widow whom we have been aiding with a trifle — $50 — sent a thank-offering of $5. With these gifts added to the fund received from the National Board we were able to gladden four people not on our list of beneficiaries — four opportunities to give help in time of special need.

The agreement between the Congregational Board of Ministerial Relief and the Board of Ministerial Aid is working satisfactorily. The secretary of the National Board, Rev. William A. Rice, D.D., does everything that can be done to be helpful to our cause in Massachusetts.

It is hoped that our annual report to the Conference will awaken in our churches a deeper interest in the work of ministerial relief. The large and widespread interest in the Pilgrim Memorial Fund must not make us overlook the present or prospective needs of those men and their families who cannot share in its benefits. Men past fifty already — men who with their families have given their best to the service of the Kingdom — must be assured that when their hour of need comes there will be back of them the help of our great fellowship. The Pilgrim Memorial Fund is in the nature of an annuity fund in whose benefits ministers may participate by paying yearly premiums. The older men are wondering what can be done for them; there will be larger calls upon the resources of the Board of Ministerial Aid in the immediate future than in the past, especially because the amount once regarded as adequate no longer can be so considered in view of the changed conditions of living.

The grants we make are not in the nature of an annuity or pension; they are simply the sympathetic help given by brethren to men and women who have lived sacrificial lives for God and the world. We must be able to make these grants adequate in amount, whether for the years of advancing age of veterans in the service, or for temporary aid in the emergencies which overtake men, where aid may not be needed continuously.

The Board of Ministerial Aid is a corporation consisting of fifteen members, a majority of whom must be laymen. The death of Mr. Arthur C. Farley, a member of the Board since 1890 and for many years its secretary, created a vacancy in the membership of the Board, for which we ask the Conference to present a nominee, a layman.

It is a great privilege to be members of a Board which quietly, unostentatiously is doing the work of sharing the needs of our fellow workers. Saint Paul has a beautiful word in Romans 12 — " communicating to the necessities of the saints." The chairman likes the Greek better: " partners — sharers — in the needs of the saints." For this grace of sharing we are grateful.

F. E. EMRICH,

REPORT OF THE BOSTON SEAMAN'S FRIEND SOCIETY

For ninety-two years the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, as a Congregational agency, has ministered to the recreational and spiritual needs of seamen. At its Bethel every provision has been made for Jack's comfort and welfare. No institution of its character is better or more favorably known among seafaring men than this work inaugurated by and maintained by the New England Congregational churches.

The action taken at Northampton a year ago whereby this Society was made a constituent part of the Conference, with voting power, was most gratifying both to the Society and to its friends.

The National Council at its session at Grand Rapids last October placed its stamp of approval upon this sailor cause by the following vote:

> "That the National Council of Congregational Churches, in session at Grand Rapids, Michigan, October 21–29, does most heartily endorse the work which our New England Congregational Churches have maintained for many years for seamen, through the Boston Seaman's Friend Society, and urges the churches of our order to so increase their gifts to this sole Congregational agency for merchant sailors and Navy men as to enable this Society to adequately meet the increased work and responsibilities which the war has brought; and, also, to make it possible to extend its efforts to other needed points."

Such recognition by the National Council of the need for, and the importance of, the work which this Society is doing ought to be gratifying to the churches of Massachusetts and other New England states, and bring to this organization a readier hearing in the churches and a more liberal response to its appeals.

The past year has been a very active one for this Society. Upwards of 50,000 merchant sailors and navy men have enjoyed the many privileges which the Society provides for them. The Naval Dormitory, which was equipped during the war period and served so splendidly the needs of thousands of enlisted men, has now been made available for the men of the merchant marine, much to their benefit and delight. At no time in the history of the Society has there been a greater opportunity for service of a most humane and Christian character than is ours today. The revival of American shipping will make possible a greater service to the Yankee sailor than the Society has known for a half century. We look to the churches of this Conference for their unstinted support.

Corresponding Secretary.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON MISSIONARY WORK

The Committee on Missionary Work is able to report progress toward the fulfillment by our churches of our share of the Tercentenary Goal of $2,000,000 for Congregational benevolences. The total quota of $435,000 for Massachusetts has been apportioned by the Committee to the local Associations. The gifts of the churches as reported by the Societies for the year 1919 amounted to $392,540, a gain of $76,050 as compared to the gifts for 1918.

The annual conference of the local Association chairmen of the Apportionment Committee with the State Missionary Committee was held as usual, and after thorough discussion the recommendation of the Committee apportioning the same amount as last year, and on the same basis of apportionment, was accepted and endorsed in the following unanimous vote of the Association chairmen present:

First: That we adopt for 1920 the same apportionments assigned each Association for 1919.

Second: That each associational chairman on apportionment use every means within his power to interest and enthuse the local churches of his Association to meet the allotment given to each church.

Third: That the State Committee on Missionary Work publish in 1920 a similar display sheet showing the apportionments of the local Associations and the individual churches.

The matter of a re-apportionment on a more accurate mathematical basis was discussed, but the Committee felt, in view of the impossibility of finding such a basis until more data arising out of the impetus given to benevolent giving in our churches by the simultaneous canvass last December and the Inter-Church World Movement, is available, that it would be unwise to change the present basis, which is, on the whole, working well. The suggestion made in last year's report concerning the unrealized possibilities of giving in our churches, as revealed by the various Welfare Drives during the war, seems to have been justified by the splendid response of the churches to the appeal of the Pilgrim Memorial Fund and by the encouraging signs of interest in the Congregational World Movement.

In view of the manifest interest in the Apportionment display sheets last year and at the request of the associational chairmen, the State Committee is issuing a new one for 1920 which will be distributed to the churches through the Pastors or Clerks.

These apportionment sheets are intended for display in order that each member of each local Church may know the comparative part his Church takes in the State work. In order to make this chart of the greatest value it is essential that every Association send in its report as soon as possible after it is asked for by the Secretary of the State Committee. In 1919 all but one of the twenty-five local Associations reported either to the State Committee or the National Council. An examination of the 1919 chart will show that in some Associations the amount assigned by the Association Committee to the churches is less than that asked for by the State Committee. Two Associations, Essex South and Worcester Central, apportioned a larger amount than that asked for, a spirit of generosity and cooperation which we would commend to all our Associations.

By a unanimous vote of the Committee it is recommended that the following percentages be recommended as standards of distribution among the nine Congregational Boards of the benevolent funds collected for the year 1920:

A.B.C.F.M.	33 %
W.B.M.	15 %
C.H.M.S.	14 %
W.H.M.A.	12 %
A.M.A.	11 %
C.C.B.S.	$5\frac{3}{4}$%
C.E.S.	$6\frac{1}{2}$%
C.S.S.E.S.	$1\frac{1}{4}$%
M.R.	$1\frac{1}{2}$%
	——100%

Notice that a change has been made in the C.E.S. and the C.S.S.E.S. This is on account of the recommendation made by the State Conference at the meeting in Northampton advising an increase of $\frac{1}{2}$% to the C.E.S. In this connection it seems to your Committee that the time is nearly at hand when the State percentages for the nine Boards be the same in every instance as those adopted by the National Council. The changing attitude of the Western Congregationalists toward the foreign work is removing the necessity of increasing the apportionment of the Eastern Churches to the American Board and Woman's Board in order to keep the proper balance of receipts.

At a specially-called meeting of the Committee in Boston on March 10th, at which the emergency needs of the nine Congregational Boards were presented, it was voted:

1. That we, as a Committee, approve of the request of the Congregational World Commission for a special Emergency Fund in 1920 of $3,000,000 in addition to the $2,000,000 already asked for this year from the Denomination, of which $435,000 is to be raised by the Churches of this State.

2. That the Massachusetts proportional part of this $3,000,000 Emergency Fund is $652,500, and that it should be paid by the Churches of this State.

3. That the Committee recommends that the churches raise this fund by increasing the amount already assigned to them as their 1920 Apportionment by 175%.

It is the feeling of the Committee that the whole question of the relationship of the Committee on Missionary Work to the State Conference should be carefully considered and revised. This Committee is no longer a Standing Committee of the Conference under the rules adopted in 1916. At present it is functioning largely as a Committee on Apportionment for the nine objects supported by the Congregational denomination. It acts for the Conference on the question of accepting the amount apportioned to the churches of Massachusetts, confers with the chairmen of the Associational Committee on Apportionment, and then divides among the local associations the amount which it accepts as the proper quota for the state. The quota of each Association is then supposed to be apportioned by the Association Committee to the local churches, but the amount apportioned may or may not be the amount recommended by the State Committee for that Association, some Associational chairmen recommending less, some more.

In view of the very great importance for promptness in getting the proper apportionments to the local churches and the need, if we are to make a real effort to raise the amount apportioned to us as a State, of having at least our total minimum quota apportioned among the individual churches; and looking forward to the increasing seriousness of the work assigned to this Committee if it is to function at all as an efficient, cooperating agency in helping the churches of our State to meet the great challenges of our Congregational Forward Movement, we earnestly recommend the consideration by this Conference, and the adoption, if you so choose, of the following recommendations:

1. That this Committee of the State Conference at present existing under the name of "Committee on Missionary Work" be renamed the "State Committee on Apportionment" and that it consist of nine members, not over four of which shall be clergymen and at least two shall be women.

2. That this Committee on Apportionment be authorized to seek the cooperation of the Boston representatives of the Missionary Boards, who may be invited by vote of the Committee to designate some person to assist this Committee in the gathering and analyzing of data and other necessary secretarial and statistical work.

3. That the State Conference shall by direct vote accept or decide the amount that the State should properly assume as its share of the total budget for the nine Societies. The recommendation as to what this amount should be may well come from said Committee on Apportionment, but the action adopting it for the churches of the State should be the direct action of the State Conference.

4. The adoption, as the standard of distribution of benevolent funds not otherwise designated by the donors for Massachusetts, of the scale of percentages recommended by our National Council through its Commission on Missions.

5. That the apportionment of each local church be made directly to those churches by the State Committee on Apportionment. This seems to your Committee to be highly desirable in view of the largeness of the undertakings of our denomination necessitating an apportionment of $1,150,000 to the churches of the State in 1920, and larger sums in the succeeding years under the plans of the Congregational World Movement.

In closing our report we desire as a Committee to express our appreciation of the fine spirit of loyalty and cooperation on the part of our churches in meeting the tasks assigned them by this Committee and for their earnest support of our missionary and benevolent interests in Massachusetts. We desire also to record our thanks to the Associational chairmen, who, in the face of obvious difficulties and discouragements, have responded loyally to our appeal and helped us by their advice, suggestions, and prompt return of reports from their respective Associations. Whatever we have been able to do would not have been possible without their generous and courageous assistance. We feel sure that the larger courage and greater cooperation which the larger tasks that await us will demand will be forthcoming and equal to the emergency, which for us in this day spells opportunity and achievement.

We ask that the appropriation for the Committee be the same as in 1919, namely, $250.

THE REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON FEDERATION OF CHURCHES AND COOPERATION WITH OTHER DENOMINATIONS

Your Committee has represented the Conference in the corporate membership of the Massachusetts Federation of Churches. In this Federation fifteen denominations are leagued for united service for the religious welfare of the Commonwealth.

We rejoice in the progress in cooperative action which has marked the recent years. One hopeful result of the Federation is the number of federated churches now in Massachusetts. Previous to 1911 only one such church existed, the Christian Union Church of North Truro, formed in 1887, and having as its component parts the Congregational church and the Methodist church in that village.

The following Congregational churches are now in federated relationship with other churches:

Ashland	with	Baptist and Methodist
Ayer	"	Methodist
Barnstable, Hyannis	"	Universalist
Belchertown	"	Methodist
Bernardston	"	Methodist
Charlemont	"	Baptist and Methodist
Chester, Second	"	Methodist
Conway	"	Baptist and Methodist
Hampden	"	Baptist and Methodist
Hardwick	"	Universalist
Hudson	"	Baptist
Huntington, Second	"	Baptist
Lanesboro	"	Baptist and Methodist
Lowell, High St.	"	Unitarian
Millbury, Second	"	Methodist
New Marlboro, Southfield	"	Baptist
Norfolk	"	Baptist
Pepperell	"	Unitarian
Sandwich	"	Methodist and Unitarian
Shutesbury	"	Baptist
Somerset	"	Baptist
Southwick	"	Methodist
Sterling	"	Baptist
Truro	"	Methodist
Truro North	"	Methodist
Wilbraham	"	Methodist

There are only three federated churches in the Commonwealth in which a Congregational church is not one of the component parts. In such federation each church continues its relation with its own denomination, and is expected to maintain its contributions for the denominational missionary enterprises.

That these denominational ties may be preserved and strengthened, it is the purpose of your Committee and of similar committees of other denominations to visit the federated churches from time to time. Most pastors give special care to the preservation of denominational loyalty. The influence of the Federation in promoting this unification of Christian work in the various communities is due especially to the indefatigable service of its executive secretary, the Rev. E. Tallmadge Root, who by correspondence, visitation of the fields where such combinations are desirable, and consultation with the leaders in church and community life promotes good-will and guides in the process of federation.

The Federation has produced not only a state of mind favorable to the larger plans of the Interchurch World Movement, but much of the apparatus for the working of the Movement in Massachusetts. This in turn by the magnitude of its program for the survey of the religious and social conditions of the Commonwealth, made possible by the resources at its command and by its stress upon the imperative necessity of the cooperation of all the churches in serving the needs of the Commonwealth, is opening the way for much larger undertakings by the Federation in the coming years. The Federation will conserve and make permanent what the Interchurch World Movement just now promotes.

We recommend:

First: That a similar committee of thirty be appointed for the next year to represent this Conference in the voting membership of the Federation and to promote the cooperation of Christian forces in the Commonwealth.

Second: That a sum equal to two dollars ($2) for each church in the Conference be appropriated for the support of the Federation.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RURAL CONDITIONS

This year the Inter-church Idea is in the air. It means great things for every church; it means most for the country church. Isolation is ever a deadly peril for the rural community, and when the Inter-church Idea once catches fire, there can be no more isolation. The rural surveys are going to put a new emphasis on the "region round about" the great centers — their needs and their opportunities.

From many directions we are hearing the warning that if the depletion of the agricultural communities keeps on, the nation's entire food supply will be endangered. A similar warning needs to be sounded to the church at large regarding her supply of moral and spiritual energy; for it is upon the rural regions that she has chiefly drawn for reinforcement here. To quote from the February number of "Rural Manhood," "A city population without country recruits would in three or four generations be in the last stages of [spiritual] degeneration and indifference. Men of strong religious faith in city churches proved on inquiry to be either born and reared in the country, or to be from parents of such origin. Few city boys prepare for the gospel ministry. Its ranks are recruited from country youth."

That being so, the urban churches have an obligation to their rural neighbors financially, intellectually, socially. The country churches are constantly giving to them their best workers. Are city pastors and leaders doing all they might to repay the debt? In the western counties of our State there have come grievous changes in the life of the community by the abandonment of many small industries that gave employment to a goodly population, thus involving the loss of substantial families that loved the church and contributed largely to its life and activities. Such a loss cannot be made good by the incoming of families that have no connection with American church life, or of summer residents who buy up the best farms and occupy them but a few weeks in the entire year. The Home Missionary Society is laboring heroically to overcome these handicaps, and the churches are standing loyally behind the society. But the rural pastors and leaders would welcome a wider fellowship with their neighbors from both town and country.

We would impress upon every rural pastor the duty of cooperating with the Interchurch World Movement in every possible way. Let him bring his church to study the details of the program and heartily give itself to make application of them in its own field. Let him cooperate with neighboring pastors by pulpit circuits, union meetings, and "Get-together" days. The war has shown what the women's societies can accomplish by cooperative effort. Let the machinery thus developed be utilized for a broad program of civic betterment. Sympathetic leaders in Church and Grange can do much to bring together the active forces of the whole community.

Finally, let the rural pastor realize that the key to the situation is in his hand as spiritual leader. It is for him to make full use of the increasing number of valuable helps along social, economic, and educational lines, with the one great purpose of developing his own and his church's spiritual resources, without which all effort will be unavailing. Every rural church needs to hear this challenge of Pres. Henry Churchill King, "Now that the war is over, the church should return to its historic functions of Christian nurture, evangelism, and religious education, with new sanctions, and a sure knowledge that its ministry to the inner life and to the building of character is its greatest contribution to social welfare."

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RELIGIOUS EDUCATION AND YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK

At the Northampton meeting Suggested Plans for Young People's Work were given, later published by our Education Society in pamphlet form. Eleven pastors volunteered to attempt one or the other form of young people's organization in their churches. A questionnaire sent to these eleven brought responses from seven. Of these three have been prevented from carrying out the plan. Two of these three hope to start in the near future.

Of the other four, one influenced his own and the Baptist Endeavor Society to disband, and form a union Y. P. S. C. E., which developed increased interest, as all of these young people were together in school, and as there was more talent to choose from for meetings and socials. The question of increased spiritual growth is problematical. In another case the Y. P. S. C. E. has been reorganized with an increase in membership, attendance, and in additions to the church. In another case the Christian Endeavor societies are included in the general organization of the Church school under supervision of the Religious Education Council. In another church there have been organized a Girls' Club for those above fifteen doing missionary and social welfare work, and a Senior society for high-school ages taking up Modern Bible Study. These are not regular Endeavor societies, but independent organizations arising from local needs.

Neither the Young People's Department nor the Federation have been given a thorough experiment as yet. It will take time to develop them in the churches. Who will take forward steps in the coming year?

Another effort of the committee has been to have religious education and young people's work presented at every district association in the state. Out of seventeen associations replying to our questionnaire, twelve have had the subject presented. In one association a prominent place was given to the subject both afternoon and evening. In some cases spirited discussions have followed the addresses. The questionnaire revealed the fact, also, that several of our associations have educational committees with whom in the future the state committee should evidently cooperate. We hope that the other associations who have not recently presented the subject will do so in the coming year. Some have already asked for speakers or suggestions for future programs.

It is to be regretted that Sunday school superintendents and active young people in our churches are not more in evidence at the state conferences and the district association meetings. Your committee urges that the local churches give attention to this matter when appointing their delegates.

Your committee recommends to the district associations that each one appoint a committee on Religious Education and Young People's Work. Such a committee in the Franklin Association has as its aim, the establishment of pastors' training classes in all of the churches.

We recommend to the local churches that they bring the young people into conference, and get their viewpoint before making plans; that they send their teachers and leaders to community schools of religious education, or form training classes where these are not available; that they send as large delegations as possible to summer schools: that churches of considerable size consider carefully the hiring of a director of religious education to give full time to these lines of work. We recommend also cooperation in taking the Interchurch Survey on religious education, and in giving publicity to its findings.

The Interchurch estimate shows that 20,000,000 under twenty-five years of age in the United States are without any religious instruction; that we average $20 per pupil for state education and 48 cents per pupil for religious education; that our Protestant people receive less than one-tenth of the religious instruction that Jews and Catholics do. The Tercentenary celebration has absorbed considerable interest. We wish it had commanded more, and yet along with the backward look we must look forward if there is to be a Pilgrim Church in the future. Is there any other hope for the continuance of the principles of Christian civilization except the religious teaching and training of the young?

For the Plymouth meeting the committee has arranged an illustrated address by Dr. Sidney A. Weston on "The National Emergency in Religious Education," at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. An after-supper conference will take up the problems of the churches. Bring your questions.

For the Committee,

GEORGE W. OWEN, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISTIC WORK

Your Committee during the past year has found its work alined with the denominational and inter-denominational movements that have stressed magnificently the need of Evangelism. These agencies have distributed their literature far and wide, so that the main task has been to cooperate. The results are well known. Our Lenten season has taken upon itself a new meaning which will not pass away.

The most important Conference held by the Committee followed closely the Secretarial Conference at Chicago and was held at Boston. The meeting was held prior to a general Conference for ministers relative to matters of Evangelism in the churches. Plans were outlined for the holding of retreats, and through the courtesy of the officers of the Home Missionary Society, these were carried out. The Committee is greatly indebted to Revs. J. J. Walker and John Kilbon.

The work of the Committee during the coming year will be increased as a result of the Inter-Church World Movement. To accomplish all that is needed there is required in campaigns conducted by brethren of the Conference ministering in rural fields the help of ministers of the city churches. The brethren feel, and rightly so, that the churches might loan their pastors for a week or ten days in the conducting of such services for the stimulation of spiritual interest and the advancement of evangelism. Appeals have come from many quarters during the past year. Such visits would afford a revelation of Christian fellowship, a brotherly and inspirational visit, and a renewed consecration on the part of both visitor and visited. The time appears ripe for the formation of a Brotherhood of Preachers who will hold themselves ready to respond to such calls so far as their church duties will permit.

For the Committee,

J. BURFORD PARRY, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

At the first meeting of the committee appointments were made to fill several vacancies in other committees, as some persons elected to office declined to serve. They are included in the official list in the Minutes. The treasurer's bond was renewed for $3,000. The secretary and treasurer were appointed a committee on printing contract, and they have arranged with the Pilgrim Press for the 1920 printing. It was voted to print 1,800 copies of the 1919 Minutes. Messrs. Packard, Chidley and Babb were appointed Finance Committee. The matter previously referred to the executive committee, of conferring with other denominational bodies in the state with a view to arranging for simultaneous county meetings in 1920, was passed on with power to a special committee of Rev. E. T. Root, Rev. J. J. Walker and Rev. A. P. Pratt. This committee has reported back that for various reasons, especially because of the Interchurch World Movement meetings, such gatherings as the resolution called for seem inadvisable and impracticable. It was voted to instruct the secretary to fill any vacancies occurring later, including delegates to the National Council after the alternate list should be exhausted.

A request was received in the winter for six Massachusetts members on the Committee of One Hundred on the Congregational World Movement. Rev. J. L. Kilbon, Rev. H. J. Chidley, Rev. A. V. Bliss and Rolfe Cobleigh were appointed, and Mr. Kilbon and the secretary were empowered to name two other laymen. They report progress. Another request came for six members of the Massachusetts Executive Committee of the Interchurch World Movement. By postal vote Rev. J. J. Walker, Rev. F. W. Hodgdon, Rev. E. H. Byington and Rev. F. H. Page were appointed, also several laymen who found it impossible to serve.

A joint meeting of the executive committee of the Conference and the Home Missionary Society was held January 12, to discuss closer relations and other matters of mutual interest. It was voted that the Conference secretary be invited to sit with the executive committee of the Society and the Society's secretary or his substitute be invited to sit with the executive committee of the Conference as honorary members. It was voted that the matter of legislation concerning the property of defunct Congregational churches, as recommended by the National Council, be referred to the Conference. The Council assessment on Massachusetts was ordered back for readjustment. The question of minimum salaries for Massachusetts pastors was referred to the special Conference committee on salary increase, with the recommendation of careful consideration of a proposition to make the minimum $1,000 and parsonage. Inasmuch as the National Council sees fit to address many communications to the churches of the Conference through the Home Missionary office, entailing expense upon the Society for handling them, it was voted that such expenses be charged to the Conference treasury.

Upon petition of a number of members of our churches the committee met on March 29 and took action on several points touching observance of the Lord's Day and the status of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare, and on other matters. The committee voted that a special meeting be held at Plymouth immediately after the meeting of the Home Missionary Society Tuesday afternoon for discussion of the report of the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare and the use of a part of the Lord's Day for sports and secular pursuits. This is endorsed by the program committee. On petition from the National Council office a committee on Massachusetts exhibits at the coming International Council was appointed, consisting of Rev. J. L. Kilbon, Rev. T. C. Richards and Dea. C. E. Swett.

The executive committee makes the following recommendations:

1 That the Conference secretary be always a delegate to the National Council, serving, as other state secretaries do, as chairman of the whole state delegation, and empowered, in conference with the delegation, to fill all vacancies at any Council meeting with substitute delegates.

2 That the Committee on Missionary Work be henceforth known as the Missionary and Apportionment Committee.

3 That the following committees be continued for the ensuing year: Missionary and Apportionment; on Federation with Other Churches; on Evangelism; on Rural Work; on Religious Education and Young People's Work; on Moral and Social Welfare.

4 That inasmuch as from time to time the Conference has placed most of these committees upon a basis of continuity with three-year terms, the executive committee will consider such basis as warrant for continuing the committees and in so far superseding the provision of Article X, Section 2, Clause d, of the Rules.

5 That the Committee on Moral and Social Welfare be instructed to continue its work on the basis of instructions in the Rules previous to the late revision, but that its power to represent the Conference before the Legislature be limited to support of principles and measures which the Conference itself has sanctioned. This will then read as follows:

> A Committee on Moral and Social Welfare to consist of nine members, three to be elected annually for terms of three years. This committee shall investigate and report annually upon moral and social questions which should legitimately be subjects of consideration by the churches, and shall communicate with the churches concerning those questions, and represent the Conference before the Legislature upon measures of moral and social welfare to support the expressed opinion of the Conference upon those measures.

6. That some formal action eventuate from the Plymouth meeting defining principles which, in the deliberate opinion of the Conference, should govern Christians of the present day in their use of the Lord's Day.

For the Committee,

HENRY LINCOLN BAILEY,
Conference Secretary,

In the absence of FRANCIS J. MARSH, Secretary of the Committee.

STATISTICAL TABLES

EXPLANATORY

The tables which follow comprise:

1. The statistics of the churches, giving the ministers, church membership, additions, removals, baptisms, Sunday schools and families; the statistics of the Young People's Societies and Men's organizations; the amount of benevolences and expenses. These tables, in accordance with the vote of the Association, in 1887, are made to conform to those in the Year-Book; but names in the pastoral column are changed according to the latest information before going to press.

2. The Associations of the churches, with the names of officers and the times of meeting.

3. The Ministerial Standing, giving the date of ordination of each minister, the date of membership, the residence and his "employment." "P. C." means pastor by council; "P.," pastor otherwise; "W. C." means without church; "Prof." means professor; "C. M.," church missionary; "T.," teacher; other abbreviations are self-evident. "W. C.," however, includes many who have retired from active service, and some who are in business.

4. The Ministerial Record, containing lists of ordinations, installations, dismissals, marriages and deaths.

The tables of the first part contain the names of all the Congregational churches in Massachusetts, the towns and cities being arranged alphabetically; churches in each town according to age.

Church members and families are reported as numbered January 1, 1920. Admissions, removals and baptisms cover the year 1919. "Absent" are not additional to "males," "females" and "total," but included in them. "Sunday school" includes total membership of officers, teachers and scholars, January 1, 1920, or when the school is in operation (if not at that date), covering "branch schools," "mission schools" and "home departments," so far as maintained by the reporting church.

The months and days in the dates of the organization of churches are omitted. They will be found in the publications of 1873, those of churches since organized being given in the "Minutes" of each year. Also the months and days in the dates of ordination and installation of ministers are omitted. The former may be found in the lists of the local Associations which follow the tables

"Ordained" denotes the date on which the person was originally set apart to the ministry by the "laying-on of hands." "Installed" denotes the date of the beginning of his present pastorate.

In accordance with the recommendation of the National Council, in the Statistical Tables pastors installed are marked "i."; pastors recognized by a council called for that purpose are marked "r."; pastors duly called by their churches, but not installed or recognized by council, are not marked.

Blanks in any column of figures are never equivalent to "none," but mean "no report"; but blanks in the column of ministers do mean that the church has no pastor or acting pastor, and the blank is left for the convenience of those who note changes.

All post-office addresses are to be found in the "List of Ministers," and NOT IN THE TABLES.

Note. — The "year" means what changes were comprised in the twelve months preceding January 1 of the year mentioned. The table was begun in 1866, all preceding years now given being compiled from past "Minutes," — the number of churches in some years varying from the "Minutes" as they were to what they should have been.

The changes in list of churches, ordinations, installations, etc., for the past year, condensed in the above table, are given in detail in their proper place.

* Prior to 1876 "acting pastors" are included in "others" in columns of deaths of ministers

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF MINISTERS

This list gives the names of pastors, or acting pastors, and of all Congregational ministers who are members of the Associations or Conferences that guard ministerial standing.

Ministers who are not reported as having ministerial standing in this state, and who have not been installed by council, are designated by a star (*). This does not mean that the man has no ministerial standing.

The first column of figures gives the page on which names may be found of all in pastoral service. A blank in the first column signifies that the person is not reported as being in pastoral service in this state.

The second column of figures gives the page on which ministerial standing is recorded.

The post-office addresses as given below often differ from the places named in the tables, and are supposed to be correct in this list.

An alphabetical list of licentiates follows this list.

SPECIAL NOTICE. — If your name is not correctly printed in the preceding tables, if one Christian name is not given in full, if your ordination is not correct or is not in its proper place, if your post-office is wrong, or if before you receive the next Year-Book your post-office is changed, or if your name is omitted from this list, the needed change or correction should be reported at once to the Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass., Secretary of the Massachusetts Congregational Conference.

TREASURER'S report, 30.

MASSACHUSETTS CONVENTION OF CONGREGATIONAL MINISTERS

Dates from the earliest times of the colony. Annual Business meeting in Boston at 5 P.M., on the last Wednesday in May. Addresses at 11 A.M., on the appointed day. At this service a collection is taken, which, with the income of the convention fund, is distributed to the needy widows and daughters of deceased Congregational ministers.

Every minister of a Congregational church in Massachusetts (whether Trinitarian or Unitarian) is ex officio a member of the convention.

There is a reporting committee of twenty-five, selected by counties throughout the state, by which recommendations are made to a central committee of seven, which decides on all applications for aid.

PERMANENT OFFICERS. — Rev. William E. Strong, Newtonville, scribe, and Rev. B. R. Bulkeley, Beverly, treasurer, to either of whom applications for aid may be addressed.

MASSACHUSETTS CONGREGATIONAL CHARITABLE SOCIETY

Incorporated in 1876. Organized to hold the funds of the convention. Composed of fifteen clergymen and fifteen laymen, elected from both branches of the Congregational body. Aids the needy widows and orphans of deceased Congregational clergymen who have had settlement in Massachusetts.

DISTRIBUTION OF "MINUTES"

The "Minutes" are sent to the churches by direction of the Conference, with distribution of one copy to every minister, one to every church clerk, one to every Conference official or committee member, and one to each local Association official named within. As long as the edition lasts, other copies may be secured by Massachusetts Congregationalists without charge, and by others for twenty-five cents upon application to the Secretary, Rev. Henry Lincoln Bailey, Longmeadow, Mass. It is suggested that every church preserve a copy of the "Minutes" with its other records.
